PLAYOFF SEMIFINAL

ROSE BOWL GAME presented by Northwestern Mutual

SEC Champion Bulldogs In "The Granddaddy of Them All"

Georgia will be making just its second appearance in the Rose Bowl, also known as "The Granddaddy of Them All" as the oldest bowl game. It was first played in 1902 and has been played continuously since 1916. The Rose Bowl and Sugar Bowl serve as the College Football Playoff (CFP) semifinals this season. The winners of the semifinals advance to the CFP National Championship Game on Monday, Jan. 8, at Mercedes-Benz Stadium in Atlanta. Georgia won the 2017 SEC title in Mercedes-Benz Stadium on Dec. 2.

The Bulldogs are making their 53rd overall and 21st consecutive appearance in a bowl game. Georgia's bowl record is 30-19-3. Currently, 30 bowl wins and 21 straight bowl outings rank third nationally. Last season, Georgia registered a 31-23 win over TCU in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl. This season marks Georgia's first appearance in the CFP.

In Georgia's only previous appearance in the Rose Bowl, the Bulldogs defeated UCLA, 9-0, on Jan. 1, 1943 to win a national championship with a final mark of 11-1.

Only Three Bulldog Squads With A Dozen Victories

There have been only three teams in Georgia history to register at least 12 wins in a season. Vince Dooley's 1980 national champions went 12-0, capped by a 17-10 win over Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl. Mark Richt's 2002 SEC Championship squad finished with a school record 13-1 mark after defeating Florida State in the Sugar Bowl. This season, Kirby Smart's SEC Championship squad enters the Rose Bowl with a 12-1 record.

How The SEC Was Won

The Bulldogs earned a spot in the CFP by going 12-1 and winning the SEC in year two of the Kirby Smart era. The Bulldogs beat every team on their schedule after winning a rematch 28-7 against then No. 4 Auburn in the SEC Championship Game in Atlanta on Dec. 2 at Mercedes-Benz Stadium. It was the Bulldogs 13th SEC title in school history and that tally trails only Alabama (26) for most since the league formed in 1933.

Georgia's 31-member senior class has a record of 40-12. The Bulldogs outscored their SEC Eastern Division opponents 247-72 or by an average 41-12 this season. For the first time since the league split into divisions in 1992, the Bulldogs went a perfect 6-0 versus the SEC East. Against the Western Division, Georgia beat No. 17 Miss. State 31-3 in Athens, fell to No. 10 Auburn 40-17 on the road and then won the rematch in Atlanta.

Points To Ponder

In 10 of Georgia's 12 victories this season, the margin of victory has been at least 21 points. The two exceptions came in a 20-19 road win over then No. 24 Notre Dame and a 24-10 home victory over South Carolina. Georgia ranks third nationally in scoring defense while Oklahoma is fourth nationally in scoring offense. The Bulldog defense posted second half shutouts in road wins over Georgia Tech and versus No. 4 Auburn in the SEC title game. The Bulldogs have not had a turnover in their past two games. In its only loss of the year coming at then No. 10 Auburn, Georgia was held to 17 points and 230 yards of total offense. In the rematch for the SEC crown, Georgia scored 28 points and had 421 yards of total offense. Also, the Bulldog defense allowed just 259 yards on 63 plays after the Tigers tallied 488 yards on 71 plays in the first meeting.

Bulldogs Face Sooners For The First Time

The 2018 Rose Bowl will mark Georgia's first meeting with Big 12 Champion Oklahoma. The Sooners enter the CFP as the No. 2 seed with a 12-1 record. Led by first-year head coach Lincoln Riley, the Sooners have won eight in a row and 18 of their past 19 games going back to last year. OU won its third straight Big 12 title with a 41-17 victory of No. 11 TCU on Dec. 2. This will be the Sooners second-ever Rose Bowl. They defeated Washington State 34-14 in 2003. OU will be making its 19th straight bowl appearance.

The lone blemish on the Sooners ledger this season came on Oct. 7 against Iowa State (38-31). OU has a road win over No. 2 Ohio State (31-16), claimed a road shootout over No. 11 Okla. State (62-52) and a pair of wins over nationally-ranked TCU.

Head Coach Kirby Smart

2017 SEC Coach of the Year
(Coaches, Associated Press)

When Georgia looked for a new head football coach after the 2015 season, the arrows pointed to Kirby Smart, longtime Alabama defensive coordinator and former UGA player and assistant. Now in his second season, the 2017 Associated Press and league coaches SEC Coach of the Year has not disappointed.

In his first year leading the Bulldogs, Georgia extended its school record to 20 consecutive bowl appearances and posted five fourth-quarter comebacks including wins over No. 8 Auburn and No. 22 North Carolina. He led UGA to an 8-5 final record, which included a victory over TCU in the Liberty Bowl.

This year, Smart has directed Georgia to a 12-1 record, an SEC title and the Rose Bowl for a CFP semifinal. It's Georgia's first appearance in the CFP and first SEC title since 2005.

He has also made an immediate impact in recruiting, posting the nation's third-ranked class in 2017 following his first class in 2016 generally considered among the top ten. In addition to coaching, Smart oversees the Kirby Smart Family Foundation, which is focused on being champions in the community by supporting and giving back to needy children and families.

Smart officially came home to Georgia on Dec. 6, 2015. But he still had unfinished business at Alabama, which was chasing a national title. He juggled two jobs for a month until January 11, 2016, when the Tide won its fourth national championship in a seven-year span. Twelve hours later, he was at work in Athens.

Quick Facts

*2017 Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year finalist, leading UGA to a current 12-1 record and the CFP.
*The Bulldogs' No. 2 AP ranking in 2017 was the team's top AP ranking since week three of the 2008 season when Georgia was No. 2.
*In 2017, Georgia posted its first 9-0 start since 1982. The Bulldogs were ranked No. 1 for the first time in school history in the College Football Playoff Rankings and stayed there for two weeks.
*Bulldogs captured the SEC Eastern Division by going 7-1 in 2017, including a perfect 6-0 in the division for the first time since the league split into divisions in 1992.
*Six fourth-quarter comebacks, including wins over #8 AU (2016), #22 UNC in Atlanta (2016), @ #24 Notre Dame (2017)
*Led UGA to its first win over a ranked team in a season opener away from Sanford Stadium in school history, posting a 33-24 win over #22 UNC during the 2016 Chick-Fil-A Kickoff Classic

Piling Up The Points

*Georgia is averaging 34.9 points/game this season.

*The Bulldogs rank fourth nationally in Red Zone Offense, going 48-for-50, including 35 touchdowns.

*QB Jake Fromm, the 2017 SEC Freshman of the Year, is 11-1 as a starter including going 16-for-22 for 183 yards and 2 TDs in the SEC Championship Game win over No. 2 Auburn.

*Georgia leads the SEC and ranks seventh nationally in Third Down Conversions at 47 percent.

*Fromm took over for sophomore Jacob Eason after he went down with a knee injury in the first quarter of the season opener versus Appalachian State. Fromm is a three-time recipient of SEC Freshman of the Week honors. He earned the accolade in victories over #17 MSU, versus Missouri and at Georgia Tech. In the era of RPOs, Fromm has three rushing scores to go with his passing stats.

*Fromm is only the seventh true freshman Bulldog quarterback to start a game, including just the second to do it on the road in his first start. Fromm joined Eric Zeier (1991)as the only true freshmen to have their first career start on the road.

*Fromm's first career start came at #24 Notre Dame. Trailing 19-17 with 6:47 left in the contest, he directed a 9-play, 63-yard drive to set up the go-ahead field goal. He was 3-for-4 for 45 yards during the drive.

Chubb, Michel Highlight Bulldog Rushing Attack

*Georgia has compiled a school record 3,426 rushing yards this season, breaking the old mark of 3,352 set in 2014.

*All-SEC senior Nick Chubb ranks second in SEC history for career rushing yards with 4,599 and 42 TDs, trailing only Bulldog legend Herschel Walker. He joins Walker as the only Bulldogs to have three different 1,000-yard seasons. Chubb is fourth among active rushing leaders in NCAA FBS.

*While Chubb (1,175 yards) went over 1,000 yards for the year against Kentucky, senior Sony Michel needs 52 yards for his second 1,000-yard season. The Bulldogs have never had two 1,000-yard rushers in the same year.

*Michel is third in school history with 3,359 rushing yards.

*Chubb and Michel are the first Bulldog teammates to each have 1,000-yard rushing seasons in their career.

A Look At The Line

*Georgia stands 11th nationally in Rushing Offense at 263.5 ypg while Oklahoma is allowing only 144.2 ypg.

*Georgia has 36 rushing touchdowns this year, and the school record is 39 set by the 1971 squad that went 11-1.

*Georgia has started the same combination at LT, C and RT in 2017 in All-SEC senior Isaiah Wynn (LT), who has been invited to the Senior Bowl, junior Lamont Gaillard (C) and freshman Andrew Thomas (RT). The unit was named a semifinalist for the Joe Moore Award, given to the nation's best offensive line. Thomas became the first true freshman to start on the offensive line for the Bulldogs since John Theus in 2012. Junior LG Kendall Baker has started 12 straight games. Redshirt freshman Ben Cleveland has made the last three starts at RG and redshirt freshman Solomon Kindley has five career starts at RG.

*The Bulldogs racked up 238 yards versus No. 2 Auburn in the SEC Championship Game and the Tigers were ranked third in the league in Rushing Defense (125.9 yards/game).

*In the win over Missouri, Georgia had 370 rushing yards to go with the second-most total yards (696) in UGA history.

*Georgia had a season-high 423 rushing yards on 54 carries (7.8 avg.) against Vandy, the sixth most in UGA history.

An Array Of Targets

*Sixteen Bulldogs have caught a pass this season, including eight different players in the win over South Carolina.

*Senior Javon Wims leads the team lead with 38 receptions for 631 yards and six touchdowns.

*Junior Terry Godwin also has six TDs along with 540 yards on 29 catches. Twelve of his catches have been for 20+ yards. He made an acrobatic one-handed grab for a five-yard TD at No. 24 Notre Dame, which was No. 1 on ESPN SportsCenter's "Top-10 List."

*Sophomore Mecole Hardman converted to WR from DB after 2016 and is showing his versatility. He tallied 203 all-purpose yards at #10 Auburn. He had his best game of his career against Missouri, accounting for two catches for 71 yards, including a 59-yard touchdown. He scored his first rushing touchdown, a 35-yard scamper, and added 66 return yards on three kickoffs.

Also of note, Hardman leads the SEC in Kickoff Returns (27.3) and is third in the league in Punt Returns (10.8) with the league's most PR yards (216). He made the 2017 AP All-SEC 2nd team as an All-Purpose selection.

Defense Setting The Tone

*In Scoring Defense, Georgia ranks third nationally (13.2 ppg) and features Butkus Award winner and SEC Defensive Player of the Year Roquan Smith. The school record for Scoring Defense in a 12+ game season is 14.5 by the 2003 squad.

*After beating #2 Auburn 28-7 in the SEC Championship Game, the Bulldogs face another high-powered offense in #2 Oklahoma, who ranks ranks fourth nationally at 44. 9 ppg.

*After #10 Auburn upset top-ranked Georgia 40-17 on Nov. 11, the Bulldogs have allowed just a combined seven points in the second half of their last three games.

* The Bulldogs have 10 picks on the year after none in their first three games.

*The defense had a stretch of holding opponents without a touchdown for 31 straight drives. This was the longest streak of its kind since 2006.

*The Bulldogs had a shutout of Florida until just under three minutes left in the contest. Georgia won 42-7.

*The Bulldogs blanked the Volunteers 41-0 in Knoxville, which snapped the nation's fourth-longest active scoring streak and sixth-longest streak in college football history. The Vols had scored in 289 games in a row dating back to 1994.

LBs Anchor Bulldog Defense

*Junior ILB Roquan Smith, the Butkus Award winner and a Nagurski Trophy and Bednarik Award finalist, will be UGA's tackle leader for the second year in a row. He has 113 tackles and has been named the SEC Defensive Player of the Year.

*Smith was the SECCG MVP after matching his career high with 13 stops in the win over #2 Auburn and having two fumble recoveries and a sack. He led the team in tackles (95) in 2016. This marked the first time a sophomore led UGA in tackles since 2008 (Rennie Curran, 115).

*Senior OLBs Lorenzo Carter, a Butkus Award semifinalist and an AP All-SEC 2nd Team pick, matched his career high with a team-high nine tackles against Florida and was Georgia's second-leading tackler in the SECCG with six stops and a forced fumble. He and Davin Bellamy wreaked havoc at #24 Notre Dame, as the defense forced their first two turnovers of the year. Carter now has 13.5 career sacks.

Take A Look At The Guys Up Front

*The anchor is senior nose John Atkins, who has 32 stops for the frontline. Junior Trenton Thompson missed the wins over Missouri and Vanderbilt due to a MCL sprain and has 33 stops on the year, including three TFLs. Sophomore DL Tyler Clark and Julian Rochester played a part in the Bulldogs having a season-high five sacks in the win over the Gators.

*In Georgia's 20-19 road win at #24 Notre Dame, the Irish totaled only 55 yards on the ground, the least recorded by the Irish since 2011.

*UGA held the Vols to 142 yards in total offense, the lowest ever in the Kirby Smart era and notched the first SEC shutout since 2014 (34-0, Missouri).

Tackles, And Now A Touchdown For Reed

*Redshirt sophomore J.R. Reed, a 2017 AP All-SEC 2nd team selection, ranks second on the team with 69 tackles and two INTs. He had a career-best 11 tackle game at #10 Auburn.

*He started in the 42-7 demolition of Florida, making nine tackles and scooped up a fumble and returned it three yards for a TD. He was named SEC Co-Defensive Player of the Week.

*Reed enjoyed a big night in the 31-3 win over #17 MSU with 10 tackles and three pass breakups. He followed that up with his first career INT (followed by a 34-yard ret.) and fumble recovery to go with three tackles in the road shutout of UT.

Sanders Sets One Record, Creeping Up On Another

*Senior safety Dominick Sanders, a Thorpe Award semifinalist, set the Bulldog record for career interception return yardage after picking off his 14th career pass and returning it 18 yards versus Missouri this year.

*After snagging his 15th career interception a game later during the rout of Florida, Sanders emerged as the NCAA active career leader and is third on the UGA all-time list.

*Sanders ranks third in school history for non-kickers with 51 starts (tops for defenders) and has started the last 31 games.

INTERCEPTIONS (RET. YDS) - CAREER

16 (293) - Baccari Rambo, 2009-12
2. 15 (*342) - DOMINICK SANDERS 2014 - Present
*UGA record, fifth in SEC history

Nizialek Headlines Punting Game

*Graduate transfer Cameron Nizialek (NYE-zuh-lek) arrived in Athens during the preseason, earned the starting punting job and was a Ray Guy Award semifinalist.

* Nizialek has posted a 44.5 average on 49 punts, including placing 22 inside the 20. Opponents have had just 11 punt returns for 59 yards.

*Georgia is seventh nationally in Net Punting at 42.1. The Bulldogs are lingering around the school's Net Punting record (42.6, Collin Barber, 2013).

*Nizialek spent his first three seasons at Columbia University where he finished with a degree in Economics. In his career with the Lions, Nizialek averaged 41.3 yards on 149 punts in three seasons. He averaged 44.8 on his punts in 2016.

Busy Season For Blankenship

*With one of the SEC's best offenses scoring 34.9 points/game, redshirt sophomore PK Rodrigo Blankenship has been busy, booming 82 kickoffs, 55 PATs and 15 field goals.

*He was a Groza Award semifinalist.

*This year, 60 of his kickoffs have been touchbacks, which is a new school record. The old mark was by Kevin Butler (51 in 1981). Blankenship has had a streak of 18 consecutive touchbacks. Last year, he totaled 21 touchbacks for the year.

*He tallied 17 points in the win over Missouri on Oct. 14, booting four field goals and five PATs, which ranked second on the school's all-time list.

*Blankenship earned the starting job before the 2017 opener and received the news before the Notre Dame game in week two that he had been awarded a scholarship. He hit the game-winning 30-yard FG at the 3:34 mark in the fourth quarter on the road in the 20-19 victory over the #24 Irish.

Bulldogs Lead As NFL Captains

*Six former Georgia players have been named team captains for their respective squads this year: C David Andrews, New England Patriots; LB Thomas Davis, Carolina Panthers; RB Todd Gurley, L.A. Rams; LB Justin Houston, Kansas City Chiefs; S Reshad Jones, Miami Dolphins; LB Alec Ogletree, L.A. Rams

A Family Tradition

*The snapping responsibility for the Bulldogs has been shared by senior Trent Frix and junior Nick Moore. Frix is snapping on field goals and extra points. He is the younger brother of former snapper Ty Frix (2009-12) and the son of former snapper Mitch Frix (1981-82). The eldest Frix was the holder for Hall of Fame kicker Kevin Butler (1981-84) who is currently working with kickers as a student assistant.

Recognition Abounds For Bulldogs' Aaron Davis

* Senior DB Aaron Davis has been named to the 2017 Allstate AFCA Good Works Team. Davis is one of 11 players from the NCAA FBS selected based on their commitment to community service.

* A Finance graduate and native of Locust Grove, Ga., is one of four players from the SEC on the FBS 2017 Allstate AFCA Good Works Team. Georgia leads the nation in Allstate AFCA Good Works Team honorees with 18 since 1992, including four straight and six in the last seven years. Current Bulldog TE Jeb Blazevich was awarded the honor in 2016. This year, Davis has started all 13 games and is fourth on the team with 40 tackles and an interception.

* Davis was one of 10 semifinalists for the Burlsworth Trophy, which honors college football's most outstanding player who began his career as a walk-on.

* He was included on the 2017 SEC Community Service Team.

Dogs Duo On CoSIDA Academic All-District Team

Aaron Davis was voted to the CoSIDA Academic All-District Team squad for the third consecutive year while redshirt sophomore PK Rodrigo Blankenship was included on the team for the first time.

*Davis, a native of Locust Grove, Ga., has a 3.45 GPA and after graduating with a Finance degree, is now working on a degree in Computer Science. Blankenship, a native of Marietta, Ga., owns a 3.75 GPA in his Digital and Broadcast Journalism major.

15 Georgia 31, Appalachian State 10

Sept. 2, 2017 • Sanford Stadium - Athens, Ga.

ATHENS - A solid debut from true freshman quarterback Jake Fromm and a stout defensive effort led the 15th-ranked Georgia Bulldogs to a 31-10 season-opening victory in front of 92,746 at Sanford Stadium.

Fromm finished with an efficient 10-of-15 passing for 143 yards and one touchdown. He was aided by senior running backs Nick Chubb and Sony Michel, who combined for 183 yards and three scores.

The Georgia defense was equally impressive in its 2017 debut. The Bulldogs held the Mountaineers to just 94 yards in the second half and 284 total on the day. Junior defensive tackle Trenton Thompson and junior linebacker Roquan Smith led Georgia in tackles with six a piece, while J.R. Reed followed with five tackles, a sack and a forced fumble.

Following an injury to starting quarterback Jacob Eason on the third possession of the game, Fromm took the reins of the Bulldog offense. The rookie led Georgia on a 4-play, 39-yard drive on its next possession, which was capped by Chubb's 1-yard touchdown run.

Fromm and senior wide receiver Javon Wims then connected on a heave to the end zone, resulting in a 34-yard touchdown pass to put the Bulldogs up 14-0 early in the second quarter.

In the second half, Georgia scored on its first two offensive possessions – one from a 23-yard field goal from Rodrigo Blankenship, followed by an 8-play, 66-yard drive that resulted in Chubb's second touchdown run of the game.

Appalachian State added two late scores with under six minutes remaining in the game, but Georgia improved to 94-27-3 all-time in season-opening games with the 31-10 victory. The Bulldogs have now won 18 of their last 21 openers and are 2-0 in opening games under Smart.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"That was a long time coming for our kids. They've worked really hard. We have a lot of respect for Appalachian State. Our team played really hard in the second half. Our kids were persistent. We talked about chopping wood and keeping it going...The punting flipped the field. Cameron (Nizialek) did a great job. The coverage did a great job. Rodrigo (Blankenship) kicked it in the end zone and was a weapon."

Sony Michel breaks free of an Appalachian State defender in the first quarter of Georgia's season-opening win. Michel finished with 87 yards and 1 TD.

Worth Noting…

• The veteran Bulldog defense held the Mountaineers scoreless and without a trip to the Red Zone in the first three quarters. The last time Georgia held an oppoent without a point in the first half was at South Carolina in 2016, resulting in a 28-14 win.

• With Nick Chubb's two touchdowns, he now has 31 career rushing touchdowns, which is sixth on the school's all-time list.

• Following a first quarter injury to startng QB Jacob Eason, Jake Fromm got his first collegiate action at the 6:30 mark in the opening period. He completed his first career pass, an 8-yarder to sophomore tight end Isaac Nauta. Fromm's 34-yard connection to Javon Wims in the second quarter marked Fromm's first touchdown pass of his career and Wim's second. The first for Wims came in the Liberty Bowl in 2016 on a 4-yard score from Eason.

• After making the switch from defense to offense in the offseason, sophomore Mecole Hardman grabbed his first career pass, an 8-yarder.

• Georgia featured a new punter against the Mountaineers, graduate transfer Cameron Nizialek from Columbia University with a degree in economics. He punted five times for an average of 43.8 (long of 53). He also handled holding duties for the Bulldogs on field goals and PATs.

#15 Georgia 20, #24 Notre Dame 19

Sept. 9, 2017 • Notre Dame Stadium - South Bend, Ind.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. - A stifling defensive effort and an established ground attack by the 15th-ranked Georgia Bulldogs paved the path for a 20-19 victory over No. 24 Notre Dame in front of a crowd of 77,622 at Notre Dame Stadium.

With less than two minutes remaining, the Fighting Irish had an opportunity to put together a potential game-wining drive. However, the Bulldogs forced their second turnover to put the game away. On 1st-and-10 from the ND 36-yard line, senior outside linebacker Davin Bellamy sacked Irish quarterback Brandon Wimbush, whose fumble was then recovered by Lorenzo Carter. With Notre Dame unable to stop the clock, Georgia secured the victory by kneeling on three consecutive snaps.

Defensively, the Bulldogs held the Fighting Irish to 266 total yards (211 passing, 55 rushing) and limited ND to 3-for-17 on third down conversions. In his first career start, true freshman Jake Fromm went 16-for-29 for 144 yards and one touchdown. Georgia amassed 326 total yards of offense with 141 coming through the air and 185 yards on the ground.

After the Fighting Irish notched the first touchdown in the second quarter to go ahead 10-3, Georgia fought back with a 12-play, 62-yard subsuequent drive. From five yards out, Fromm floated the ball up to the back-corner pylon for Terry Godwin, who reeled in a spectacular one-handed catch.

The Bulldogs took their first lead of the game, 17-16, at the 4:34 mark in the third quarter when Sony Michel punched it in from six yards out on the ground. The drive featured a 40-yard scamper from freshman D'Andre Swift and two personal foul penalties by Notre Dame.

The seesaw battle continued as the Fighting Irish went up 19-17 at 11:08 in the fourth quarter, but Rodrigo Blankenship booted a 30-yard field goal to regain the lead with 3:34 left to play in the contest. Blankenship's third field goal decided the game.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"I didn't say anything to them (defense), Coach Tucker handled that. He had those guys playing hard. They played hard for him. They love him, and they played relentless. We've got to clean things up. We've got a good football team, but you talk about sloppy. Penalties, penalties, turnovers, turnovers. Can't do that. I'm just so happy for these fans. We brought 40,000-some fans up here, and these guys are awesome."

Terry Godwin's second-quarter TD catch -- originally ruled an incompletion but reversed after an official review -- remains one of the 2017 season's individual highlights.

Worth Noting…

• Georgia erased four deficits on the game, falling behind 3-0, 10-3 and 13-10, which increased to 16-10 in the second haf, and lastly 19-17 in the final quarter. In head coach Kirby Smart's first season, Georgia rallied back for five victories when they trailed in the fourth quarter, beating No. 22 North Carolina in Atlanta, on the road against Missouri and Kentucky, home versus Auburn and against TCU in the Liberty Bowl (Memphis, Tenn.). Notre Dame marked the sixth time in the Smart era the Bulldogs have a fourth-quarter comeback.

• With the 20-19 win, Georgia is now 2-0 all-time against Notre Dame. The only other meeting came in the 1981 Sugar Bowl in New Orleans, a 17-10 Georgia win. The Bulldogs are scheduled to play host to Notre Dame in Sanford Stadium on Sept. 21, 2019.

• Jake Fromm became only the seventh true freshman Bulldog quarterback to start a game, including just the second to do it on the road in his first career start as No. 15 Georgia beat #24 Notre Dame 20-19.

• In week one, Notre Dame tallied 422 yards on the ground in the win over Temple but tonight were held to just 55.

• Senior fullback Christian Payne notched his first career carries with two for 11 yards. Coming into the game, Payne had 12 career catches for 119 yards and one TD plus four tackles on special teams.

• A trio of Bulldogs made their first career starts in junior Kendall Baker, true freshman Jake Fromm, and true freshman Richard LeCounte.

#13 Georgia 42, Samford 14

Sept. 16, 2017 • Sanford Stadium - Athens, Ga.

ATHENS - Senior running back Nick Chubb rushed for 131 yards and two scores, freshman quarterback Jake Fromm hit 8-of-13 passes for 165 through the air and the 13th-ranked Bulldogs from Athens moved to 3-0 with a 42-14 victory against Samford.

In front of a capacity crowd of 92,746 at Sanford Stadium, the Georgia defense was also impressive as it continued its strong start to the 2017 season. The Bulldogs, paced once again by Roquan Smith's six tackles and Lorenzo Carter's two sacks, held Samford to 249 yards of total offense.

Georgia scored on its second offensive possession of the game thanks to a 10-play, 87-yard drive that included just two pass plays — one coming on a 5-yard touchdown reception by Mecole Hardman. That TD was the first of Hardman's young career.

Up 7-0, the Georgia defense forced another three-and-out. The Bulldogs took advantage and scored in just 27 seconds. The two-play drive consisted of a 47-yard completion to Riley Ridley, followed by a 32-yard touchdown run from Chubb.

Fromm and Terry Godwin then connected on a 51-yard score — the longest of Godwin's career — to put the Bulldogs from Athens up 21-0 with 10:32 left in the first half. Georgia withstood a Samford surge the rest of the second quarter to take a 21-7 lead going into the locker room. Samford's only score came on a 10-play, 75-yard drive that resulted in a 9-yard TD pass from Devlin Hodges to TaDarryl Marshall.

The Bulldogs from Birmingham started the second half with the ball, looking to get back in the game. Instead, Hodges fumbled, Georgia recovered and then Chubb went 14 yards over left tackle on the next offensive possession to put UGA up 28-7.

On Samford's ensuing drive, Smith busted through the offensive front and made a big 4th down stop to set the Georgia offense up at the Samford 45-yard line. The Bulldogs capitalized as Godwin reeled in two consecutive grabs - a 32-yarder and a 9-yard TD - to put the home team ahead 35-7.

Georgia added its last score from D'Andre Swift on a nifty spin move and 11-yard dash as the Bulldogs went on to defeat Samford 42-14.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"We've made some improvements in some areas, but we've got more improving to do. It's frustrating with some of the decision making and the lost yardage plays. If we continue to improve, we can be a good football team... It's a good group to be around. They do what we ask them to do. They are continuing to grow."

Jake Fromm prepares to throw during Georgia's game vs. Samford. Fromm threw for 165 yards and three touchdowns in his second consecutive start.

• Senior TB Nick Chubb tallied 13 carries for 108 yards and a touchdown in the first half and for the game finished with 16 carries for 131 yards (8.2 avg) and 2 TDs. This was Chubb's 19th career time with 100 or more yards, which ranks second in school history (Herschel Walker, 28). Chubb scored on a 32-yard run at the 1:45 mark in the first quarter after freshman QB Jake Fromm opened a hole with a block on linebacker Dorsett Johnson. Chubb then went in from 14 yards in the third quarter. Chubb now has 33 career rushing touchdowns, which ties Garrison Hearst for fourth on the school's all-time list. This marks the 11th time in Chubb's career that he has had two rushing touchdowns in the same game.

• The Georgia offense tallied 42 points vs. Samford, marking the first time the team has notched 40 or more points in the Kirby Smart era and the highest point total under Smart since a 35-point outing vs. Louisiana last season.

• Georgia stalled Samford's final drive of the half as redshirt sophomore J.R. Reed blocked a 36-yard field goal. This is the first blocked field goal for the Bulldogs since Ray Drew blocked one versus Georgia Tech in 2014.

• The Georgia defense held Samford to 22 net rushing yards on 23 attempts, the lowest opponent rushing total under Kirby Smart and fewest yards allowed by Georgia since the Bulldogs held Missouri to 21 yards on 22 attempts in 2015. The Bulldogs currently rank second in the Southeastern Conference in rushing defense with 213 rushing yards allowed in the first three contests.

#11 Georgia 31, #17 Mississippi State 3

Sept. 22, 2017 • Sanford Stadium - Athens, Ga.

ATHENS - The 11th-ranked Georgia Bulldogs were impressive in nearly every phase of the game, as they took down No. 17 Mississippi State, 31-3, in front of a capacity crowd of 92,746 at Sanford Stadium.

It took just 10 seconds for Georgia to get on the board on its first offensive play. Nick Chubb took a handoff from Jake Fromm and tossed the ball back to Fromm, who found Terry Godwin open down the middle for a 59-yard score.

On its next possession, Georgia put the ball in the end zone once again. This time Chubb ran it in from seven yards out, capping off an 8-play, 78-yard drive. The maroon Bulldogs added a field goal in the second quarter and the two teams went to the half with Georgia leading 14-3.

The second half started much like the first for the host Bulldogs. This time, Chubb took a direct snap 28 yards on UGA's first possession to give the his team a 21-3 lead.

As was the case most of the night, Georgia's defense came up with a big play as Deandre Baker picked off a Nick Fitzgerald pass to set the Bulldogs up in State territory. Georgia converted on a 3rd-and-1 as Fromm hit sophomore tight end Isaac Nauta across the middle on a play-action pass for 41 yards and a score.

Not to be outdone, Dominick Sanders picked off a pass on MSU's next possession to set up a 49-yard field goal by Rodrigo Blankenship. The Marietta native connected from that distance to give Georgia the final 31-3 advantage.

Georgia freshman quarterback Jake Fromm hit 9-of-12 passes for 201 yards and two touchdowns, while a balanced running attack fesatured a quartet of Bulldogs that included Chubb with 81 yards, D'Andre Swift with 69, Sony Michel with 32 and Brian Herrien with 21.

Defensively, redshirt sophomore defensive back J.R. Reed led Georgia with 10 tackles, while both Baker and Sanders recorded intercpetions – Georgia's first two of the year. On special teams, Blankenship continued his torrid pace on kickoffs with six touchbacks, and he added a 49-yard field goal.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"We came out and played with a lot of toughness. Our mantra all week was discipline, discipline, discipline. I thought we executed pretty well. We finally had a couple of turnovers. It's been a long time coming. I can't say enough about our defensive staff. They have worked really hard with the defensive group."

After snagging Georgia's first interception of the year on a Nick Fitzgerald pass, defensive back Deandre Baker sprinted down the field on a return of 22 yards.

• Mississippi State came into the game averaging 47.7 points/game (No. 1 in SEC/No. 9 nationally) and 493 yards/game and was held to just 3 points and 280 yards of total offense, the first time in the Dan Mullen era they've been held under 300 yards. In the first half, Georgia limited MSU to only 133 yards and a field goal. Also, the game ended with a stop by the UGA defense at the 2.

• Dominick Sanders now has 13 interceptions in his career, tying him for the top spot on the NCAA active list and with head coach Kirby Smart and three others for fifth in the school record books. Sanders returned the pick 15 yards. He now stands No. 2 on the school's all-time list with 311 return yards behind Hall of Famer Jake Scott (315).

• For the first time in the series, both teams entered the game ranked in the top 25. Georgia leads the all-time series 18-6 including 10 in a row in Athens. Saturday marked the biggest margin of victory over MSU since a 47-0 shutout here in 1997.

• Nick Chubb took a direct snap on a 3rd-and-1 situation during Georgia's first possession of the third quarter and ran 28 yards for his second touchdown of the game. Chubb now has 39 career touchdowns, which is third in UGA history, and is fourth with 35 career rushing touchdowns.

• Redshirt sophomore PK Rodrigo Blankenship extended his streak to 14 straight touchbacks on kickoffs dating back to his final kick of the Notre Dame victory. Opponents have just 99 kickoff return yards on five returns through a total of 22 kickoffs this season. In addition to four extra points, Blankenship also matched his longest field goal with a 49 yarder at the end of the third quarter to put Georgia up 31-3.

#7 Georgia 41, Tennessee 0

Sept. 30, 2017 • Neyland Stadium - Knoxville, Tenn.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. - The seventh-ranked Georgia Bulldogs dominated the Tennessee Volunteers 41-0 at Neyland Stadium, recording their 800th win in school history in front of a sellout crowd of 102,455 and a national CBS audience.

The Georgia defense headlined the contest, holding the Volunteers scoreless with 142 total yards and just over 25 minutes on the field. The group forced four turnovers, including first career interceptions for junior J.R. Reed and sophomore Tyrique McGhee.

It took one play to end Tennessee's first offensive possession of the game with an interception from McGhee, positioning Blankenship for a 38-yard field goal and the 3-0 Georgia lead.

Midway through the first quarter, sophomore Mecole Hardman's 19-yard punt return began Georgia's 7-play, 54-yard scoring drive. Back-to-back first-down completions from Jake Fromm to both junior Terry Godwin and senior Javon Wims placed the Bulldogs in the red zone. After consecutive Georgia timeouts, Fromm connected with an airborne Wims in the end zone for the 10-0 lead.

In the second quarter, Georgia began an 87-yard march down the field on 11 plays. Chubb collected 42 yards in three carries to put Georgia in Tennessee territory. The offense converted on a pair of 3rd-and-7s, capped by Fromm's first career rushing touchdown from nine yards out.

The next Tennessee possession, Deandre Baker broke up the junior quarterback Quinten Dormandy's pass to freshman wide receiver Josh Palmer, deflecting the ball into the hands of Reed, who returned the interception to Tennessee's 26-yard line. Five plays later, Fromm ran four yards into the end zone to seal the 24-0 first half.

In the second half, Georgia tacked on a touchdown apiece in each quarter. A blocked punt from junior inside linebacker D'Andre Walker paved the way for a 6-play, 55-yard offensive drive. Fromm completed a 19-yard pass to Godwin, and senior tailback Sony Michel provided a 21-yard rushing touchdown on the next play for the 31-0 edge.

Tailbacks Brian Herrien and D'Andre Swift continued Georgia's rushing attack in the fourth quarter, using six plays for 26 yards for a one-yard Herrien touchdown. With 5:34 remaining in the game, kicker David Marvin sealed the 41-0 final on a 19-yard field goal.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"Coach (Mel) Tucker does a tremendous job with that defense. They play hard for Coach Tucker. During halftime, I didn't need to go over there and see the defensive players. They had it under control. They were doing the adjustments. They were doing a really nice job, so give credit where credit's due. The kids play hard. They bought in to playing with toughness and practicing that way."

Lorenzo Carter (7), Tyrique McGhee (26) and J.R. Reed combine to stop UT running back John Kelly in the third quarter of Georgia's first shutout in three years. The Bulldog defense dealt Tennessee its first shutout in 23 years, a span of 289 consecutive games.

• With the 41-0 win, Georgia notched its 800th all-time victory in this its 124th season and snapped the Vols scoring streak at 289 consecutive games, a mark that was the fourth longest active streak in the nation and the sixth longest streak in college football history. UT's scoring streak dated back to 1994 against Florida, a 31-0 loss. The Bulldogs rank 11th nationally in all-time victories. Georgia tightens the all-time series record to 23-22-2 in favor of UT as it dates back to 1899. It was Georgia's second largest margin of victory in the series and biggest in Knoxville. The only greater margin of victory was 44-0 in 1981 in Athens.

• Georgia posted a shutout for the first time since 2014 (34-0 win over Mizzou in Columbia) and ended UT's streak of scoring in 289 consecutive games (dates back to 1994). The Vols finished with just 142 yards of total offense. Coming in, the Vols were averaging 30.2 points a game and tailback John Kelly was averaging an SEC-best 158 yards a game.

• Sophomore DB Tyrique McGhee notched the first INT of his career on the first play from scrimmage, while junior J.R. Reed got his first as a Bulldog.

• Georgia tallied 294 rushing yards highlighted by senior Nick Chubb, as he finished with 109 yards. It marked his 20th career game of at least 100+ rushing yards, trailing only Herschel Walker (28) in school history. Chubb's career rushing total is 3,904 and that ranks second in school history behind Walker too.

• Sophomore WR Riley Ridley made his first career start. Dyshon Sims got the start at right guard (6th of his career) after Solomon Kindley injured an ankle vs. Mississippi State. Kindley came in on the third series of the game. Sophomore QB Jacob Eason returned to action in the fourth quarter having been out since the first quarter vs. Appalachian State.

#5 Georgia 45, Vanderbilt 14

Oct. 7, 2017 • Vanderbilt Stadium - Nashville, Tenn.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. - The fifth-ranked Georgia Bulldogs used a prolific ground attack and a limiting defense to sink the Vanderbilt Commodores 45-14 at Vanderbilt Stadium.

The Bulldogs marched 83 yards to score on their first possession, needing just seven plays, all on the ground. Nick Chubb gained 69 of those yards, including the final 33 on scoring run with 7:53 left in the first quarter.

Georgia's second TD drive started after a short Vandy punt that was downed on the VU 45-yard line. On a 3rd-and-goal, Jake Fromm connected with D'Andre Swift out of the backfield for a 5-yard touchdown pass for a two-score cushion.

Georgia's longest drive of the first half lasted 8:12 and ended with a 14-yard scamper by Chubb that made it 21-0. Earlier in the drive on a 3rd-and-14, Fromm found Terry Godwin for a 23-yard gain that put Georgia on Vandy's side of the field.

Vanderbilt broke Georgia's defensive streak of scoreless quarters at seven when the Commodores punched in a rushing touchdown in the final minute of the first half to make it 21-7.

It took just four plays for Georgia to strike in its first possession of the second half. After a 20-yard gain by Michel, Fromm threw a dart to Godwin for a 47-yard touchdown, giving Georgia a 28-7 lead.

The Georgia defense forced a three-and-out of the Commodores on the next possession, giving the offense the ball again. The Bulldogs bested their last scoring drive by scoring on the third play this time. Michel burst through the middle and bolted 50 yards for a touchdown, which put him over the 100-yard rushing mark. The drive was all Michel as he carried it three times for 64 yards.

Redshirt sophomore place kicker Rodrigo Blankenship booted five touchbacks and added a 27-yard field goal in the 3rd quarter.

Georgia finished its scoring display in the fourth quarter with a 15-yard run by sophomore back Elijah Holyfield, who finished with 51 yards on seven carries.

The Bulldogs improved to 6-0 on the season for the first time since 2005 and moved to 3-0 in the conference. Vanderbilt dropped to 3-3 on the season and remains winless in the conference at 0-3.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"I was really proud of the offensive line today. They had a little bit of a chip on their shoulders from last year, because they didn't feel like they played their best game against that team. Obviously, they don't have some of the same guys back, but they have some of them – it was the same defensive lineman. We think our offensive line played physical and our backs ran hard. Jim (Chaney) called a good game and the offense did a nice job today."

Senior Nick Chubb breaks away for one of his two TDs against Vanderbilt. Chubb collected 138 of Georgia's then-season-high 423 rushing yards.

Worth Noting…

• Georgia amassed a season-high 423 rushing yards as senior running backs Nick Chubb and Sony Michel led the way with 138 and 150 yards, respectively. The 100-yard rushing game marked Chubb's 21st of his career and his two touchdowns moved him ahead of Todd Gurley and Lars Tate for career rushing touchdowns with 37.

• Defensively, junior inside linebacker Roquan Smith was the team's leading tackler for the fourth time this season as he collected seven total stops and added a pass breakup.

• When Vanderbilt scored the touchdown with 28 seconds left in the first half, it ended a streak by the Bulldog defense of 31 consecutive drives without giving up a TD. That stretch was the longest since 2006 when the Bulldogs defense also had a streak of 31 drives. Vanderbilt's TD was the first allowed by Georgia since the fourth quarter of the Samford game.

• Georgia went 4-for-4 (3 TDs, 1 FG) inside the Red Zone to remain perfect on the year now at 23-for-23 including 17 TDs and six field goals. Georgia is tied for first nationally in that category.

• This is the first time since the 2012 season that the Bulldogs have posted a six-game winning streak during a season. Georgia now leads the all-time series with the Commodores 56-20-2 dating back to 1893.

• Junior Juwan Taylor (ILB) made his first career start while sophomore Julian Rochester (DL) made his first of the year and seventh of his career. Redshirt freshman Solomon Kindley (RG) returned his starting role, it was his third of the year. Taylor becomes the 12th first-time starter this year.

#4 Georgia 53, Missouri 28

Oct. 14, 2017 • Sanford Stadium - Athens, Ga.

ATHENS - A 696-yard explosion by the Georgia offense lifted the 4th-ranked and undefeated Bulldogs past Missouri in front of a capacity crowd of 92,746 at Sanford Stadium.

Freshman quarterback Jake Fromm finished with a career-high 326 yards through the air with two touchdowns passing and one on the ground. The Bulldog rookie hit 18-of-26 passes and led a balanced Georgia attack that included the quartet of D'Andre Swift (94 yards), Sony Michel (86 yards), Nick Chubb (70 yards) and Elijah Holyfield (48 yards).

Georgia struck first on its opening offensive possession. The Bulldogs marched 91 yards on seven plays, capped off by a Mecole Hardman 35-yard end-around that put the home team on the board first.

After a Missouri punt, the Tiger defense came up with a big play with Georgia backed up in its own territory. Cale Garrett picked off a Fromm pass at the Bulldogs' 26-yard line, and his return to the Georgia 5 gave his team an easy path to tie the score at 7-7 two plays later.

The back-and-forth pace continued on Georgia's next drive. This time, Riley Ridley reeled in a 19-yard pass while he was falling out of bounds to put the Bulldogs back ahead 14-7. Missouri quarterback Drew Lock then connected on a 63-yard bomb with Emanuel Hall down the right sideline to again tie the score.

Michel had the answer for the Bulldogs on the next possession, racing 36-yards down field to give his team a 21-14 advantage early in the second quarter. Hall was not finished for the Tigers, however. The receiver used another 63-yard TD reception to tie it at 21-21.

Georgia scored the final 13 points of the first half thanks to two Rodrigo Blankenship field goals and a Fromm TD rush.

With a 34-21 lead, the Bulldogs' scoring continued in the second half. Blankenship connected on two more field goals — one coming after Missouri muffed a punt to set Georgia up deep in Tiger territory. Michel put the Bulldogs up 47-21 in the third quarter with a 16-yard TD run.

Georgia added another late score with a 59-yard pass from Fromm to Hardman in the fourth quarter, and the Bulldogs held on to stay undefeated.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"They have to embrace work if they want to be champions. We'll find out about this team this week. Some call it an off week, some call it a bye week, we call it a work week. The seniors carry that load. They drive that message home. It's their team and the young guys need to listen."

Mecole Hardman breaks free on a 59-yard touchdown catch & run during fourth-quarter action against Missouri. Hardman finished with 12 all-purpose yards and two scores.

Worth Noting…

• The Bulldogs' 7-0 record marks the team's best start since 2005 as Georgia improves to 6-1 all-time against Missouri.
• The 696 yards is the second-highest single game yardage total by a Georgia team in school history (record is 712 vs. Fla. Atlantic in 2012). Georgia tallied 31 points and 407 total yards on 45 plays in the opening half. This already was more yards than the Bulldogs registered in their wins over App State, #24 Notre Dame, #17 Mississippi State and Tennessee. The 53 points was the most by theBulldogs since a 55-9 win over Charleston Southern in 2014 and most in an SEC contest since a 63-31 win over Kentucky in 2014.
• The Bulldogs were 3-for-3 in the Red Zone in the first half and 6-for-6 in the game, staying a perfect 29-for-29 this season.
• Senior S Dominick Sanders snagged the 14th interception of his career in the second quarter and returned it 18 yards. Sanders now holds the school record for career INT return yardage with 329, passing Jake Scott who had 315 on a school record 16 picks. Sanders is tied on the NCAA active career list with his 14 picks.

#3 Georgia 42, Florida 7

Oct. 28, 2017 • EverBank Field - Jacksonville, Fla.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. - The third-ranked Georgia Bulldogs overwhelmed the Florida Gators 42-7 at EverBank Field on Saturday, improving to 8-0 for just the eighth time in school history.

In the first quarter, the Bulldog defense held Florida to three-and-out on its first possession, setting up a four-play, 53-yard march into the Gator end zone a minute and a half into the game. Jake Fromm completed his first pass to D'Andre Swift for 39 yards, and Chubb combined for 14 yards on three carries, featuring a six-yard rushing touchdown.

On Florida's second drive, senior safety Dominick Sanders snagged his 15th career interception from a tipped Feleipe Franks pass to place Georgia on the Florida 29-yard line. Two plays later, an airborne senior wide receiver Javon Wims extended above Florida cornerback Marco Wilson to secure a 17-yard touchdown pass from Fromm for the 14-0 advantage.

On the first play of Georgia's third offensive possession, Sony Michel exploded for a 74-yard touchdown run, sealing a 21-0 Georgia margin that carried into the half.

In the third quarter, Georgia returned to the end zone with 6:43 remaining in the frame, as Michel finalized a five-yard, 76-yard drive with a 45-yard rushing touchdown. Fromm led the Bulldogs down the field with a 13-yard rush and an 18-yard connection to Swift.

Less than a minute later, Georgia defensive backs Tyrique McGhee and J.R. Reed, enveloped Franks on the Florida three-yard line, forcing a fumble that Reed scooped up for a three-yard touchdown return. After another defensive stop, Georgia closed the third quarter leading 35-0.

In the fourth period the Georgia defense held Florida to a three-play, 23-second drive, allowing the Bulldog offensive streak to continue. Following runs from sophomore tailback Brian Herrien and sophomore running back Elijah Holyfield, Fromm found Swift for a 27-yard pass, and Holyfield capped the 42-0 score with a 39-yard rushing touchdown.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"I thought we came out with a good demeanor and a good attitude. Had a great work week last week, and I thought the kids came out with a good focus. Their focus was on the task at hand, which was playing the best they could play, and not getting distracted by streaks or letting the past affect the present."

Sony Michel, with touchdown runs of 74 and 45 yards, needed just six carries to amass 137 rushing yards against the Gators.

Worth Noting…

• With the victory, Georgia improved to 8-0 for the first time since 2002. The Bulldogs also tabbed their fifth conference win, while Florida dropped to 3-4 on the season, and 3-3 in the SEC. The Bulldogs' 35-point advantage marks the most extensive margin of victory over the Gators since 1982.

• Georgia led 21-0 at the half, and it scored all 21 points in the first quarter and that was the most in the first quarter this year, and the most against the Gators in a first quarter going back to at least 1970. The previous high was 14 against Missouri, Miss. State and Samford. In the Red Zone, Georgia finished 2-for-2 as the Bulldogs are tied for the national lead, going a perfect 31-for-31 on the year.

• At the half, Florida had no points. It marked the first time in the series since 1988 that the Gators were shutout at the half.

• Michel's 74-yarder was the longest rushing TD by a Bulldog since Chubb went 83 yards against Alabama in 2015. Michel's 45-yarder made it 28-0 with 6:43 left in the third quarter. Michel has 3,637 all-purpose yards in his career which ranks seventh all-time.

• The Gators were 8-for-11 in fourth down conversions, and Georgia stopped them on a 4th-and-2 at the UGA4. It was the first Red Zone stop of the Gators this season as they were 15-for-15 at that point.

• Coming into the game, UF was tied for third nationally in allowing only four rushing TDs, Georgia had four today.

#1 Georgia 24, South Carolina 10

Nov. 4, 2017 • Sanford Stadium - Athens, Ga.

ATHENS - Tailback Nick Chubb rushed for over 100 yards and freshman quarterback Jake Fromm hit 16-of-22 passes for 196 yards and two touchdowns to lead the No. 1 Georgia Bulldogs (CFP rankings) past South Carolina, 24-10, at Sanford Stadium.

Georgia improved to 9-0 this season and a perfect 6-0 against Southeastern Conference opponents. This marks the first time since 1982 that the Bulldogs have gone 9-0 and the seventh time in school history. The Gamecocks fell to 6-3 overall, 4-3 in the SEC.

The Bulldogs' defense, ranked third nationally in scoring defense, continued its impressive run and held South Carolina to just 43 yards rushing and 270 total on the day. Junior linebacker Roquan Smith led Georgia with nine tackles, while J.R. Reed and Malkom Parrish each recorded interceptions.

Georgia started the game with an onside kick, which South Carolina recovered at the 50-yard line. The Gamecocks could not take advantage as the Georgia defense held and USC missed a 46-yard field goal wide right.

After a fumble by Terry Godwin on Georgia's first offensive possession, the Bulldogs finally got on the board late in the first quarter. With Fromm lined up wide right and Sony Michel behind center, Michel took the snap and ran it in from eight yards out to put his team up 7-0 with 2:21 left in the opening quarter.

South Carolina had the answer on its first possession of the second quarter as Jake Bentley hit Bryan Edwards to cap off a 10-play, 75-yard drive and even the score at 7-7.

The Bulldogs answered on the next possession when Fromm connected with a tip-toeing Javon Wims on the sideline to put the home team up 14-7.

A 14-7 lead at the half ballooned to 21-7 thanks to a Fromm to Mecole Hardman 20-yard TD pass on the Bulldogs' first possession of the third quarter.

Both teams swapped field goals late in the game and the Bulldogs held on for the 24-10 win.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"The team has done a good job," head coach Kirby Smart said. "We'll have to continue to do that. The noise will get louder and the teams will get better and everyone will give us their best shot. It's about how we prepare, so we've got to focus on that first. It makes the game easier on Saturday if we make it difficult on them during the week."

Roquan Smith sacked Gamecock QB Jake Bentley 1.5 times and had a team-high nine tackles overall in leading the Georgia defense.

Worth Noting…

• This marks the first time since 1982 that the Bulldogs are 9-0 and the seventh time in school history. The Bulldogs have a 50-18-2 advantage in the series history over USC.

• Georgia came in third nationally in scoring defense, allowing just 11.9 points a game. Today, the Bulldogs held USC to 10 points.

• Coming into Saturday's matchup, Georgia had posted only four drives that measured 10 or more plays in its 38 touchdown drives. Today, the Bulldogs' first three scoring drives were all 10 or more plays and went 69, 75 and 75 yards. Georgia also had a season-long 15-play scoring drive that resulted in a 20-yard field goal by redshirt sophomore PK Rodrigo Blankenship. Seven different Bulldogs carried the ball and eight Georgia players caught passes.

• The Bulldogs have now outscored their opponents 97-17 in the first quarter this year.

• Opponents have forced 11 turnovers and turned them into 31 points while the Bulldogs have forced 14 turnovers and registered 48 points.

• Senior WR Terry Godwin caught his second pass of the game but fumbled on the USC 4 yard line in the first quarter. This broke the Bulldogs streak of a perfect 31 straight Red Zone conversions, which led the nation. The Gamecocks were forced to punt three plays later.

#10 Auburn 40, #1 Georgia 17

Nov. 11, 2017 • Jordan-Hare Stadium - Auburn, Ala.

AUBURN, Ala. - The No. 1 Georgia Bulldogs had their 9-game win streak snapped with a 40-17 loss to 10th-ranked Auburn Tigers in front of a crowd of 87,451 at Jordan-Hare Stadium and a CBS national audience.

The Bulldogs fell to 9-1 overall, 6-1 in the Southeastern Conference. Auburn (8-2, 6-1) used a heavy dose of Kerryon Johnson and a stifling defense to earn the victory. Johnson tallied 167 rushing yards, marking the first time a Georgia opponent had surpassed the 100-yard mark in a nation-best last 12 games.

Offensively, the Bulldogs finished with 230 yards of total offense, including 184 yards in the air. Freshman quarterback Jake Fromm went 13-of-28 for 184 yards and a touchdown, while senior wide receiver Javon Wims had a team-high 96 yards on three catches. The Auburn defense kept the Georgia rushing attack at bay as senior running back Nick Chubb had a team-high 27 yards.

In the game's opening possession, Georgia orchestrated an eight-play, 70-yard drive, capped by a direct snap to Chubb for a one-yard touchdown rush. In the drive, Fromm went 3-of-3 passing for 56 yards including a 28-yard pass to Wims on a 3rd down.

Auburn took its first lead 9-7 at the 12:08 mark of the second quarter on three consecutive Daniel Carlson field goals. Later in the quarter, the Tigers hit on a 42-yard Darius Slayton touchdown catch to go up 16-7, which stood until halftime.

Two third-quarter Auburn touchdowns strengthened the Tiger lead to 30-7, before the Bulldogs responded. Redshirt sophomore Rodrigo Blankenship booted a 47-yard field goal to make it 30-10 at the 5:23 mark in the third quarter.

After Auburn notched a field goal and another touchdown, Georgia put up a touchdown in the final minutes of the game. Sophomore wideout Riley Ridley caught a 14-yard pass from Fromm to end a 14-play, 74-yard drive and tally a final score of 40-17.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"They were more physical than us, on both sides. I always say in coaching, 'It's not as bad as it seems, and it's never as good as it seems.' We will watch the tape and there will be some plays that we missed, as well as some opportunities that we missed. At the end of the day, you have to credit Auburn. They came out and played more physical than we did tonight."

Solomon Kindley (66) celebrates as Nick Chubb (27) scores a one-yard touchdown run in the first quarter vs. Auburn. On Georgia's next possession, Chubb passed Auburn's Bo Jackson as fourth-leading all-time rusher in SEC history.

• Georgia now sees its all-time series lead with Auburn trimmed to 57-56-8. Today was the fourth time that the teams met when both were ranked in the top 10, and the Tigers have won each time (1971, 1983 & 2004). This was the first time that the Bulldogs were ranked higher in these top 10 matchups.

• In the first quarter on a six-yard run, Nick Chubb moved up to fourth in SEC history in career rushing yards, passing Auburn's Bo Jackson (4,303 yards). Chubb's current total is 4,318 yards, which is 239 yards away from Kevin Faulk's career total of 4,557 rushing yards at LSU for the No. 3 spot.

• Sophomore Mecole Hardman finished with 203 all-purpose yards, including 142 on kickoff returns, 43 on punt returns plus, 7 on the ground and 11 receiving. In the first half alone, he had 162 return yards. Coming into the game, he had 288 return yards (178 KOR, 110 PR) for the year.

• Senior SS Dominick Sanders made his team-leading 48th career start including his 28th consecutive start.

• True freshman tailback D'Andre Swift made his first career start while sophomore TE Charlie Woerner made his first start of the year and third of his career. Swift is the 14th first-time starter this year, including five true freshmen this season.

#7 Georgia 42, Kentucky 13

Nov. 18, 2017 • Sanford Stadium - Athens, Ga.

ATHENS, Ga. - Senior running backs Nick Chubb and Sony Michel combined for 238 yards and five touchdowns to lead the seventh-ranked Georgia Bulldogs to a 42-13 win against Kentucky in the 2017 home finale at Sanford Stadium.

The Southeastern Conference Eastern Division champion Bulldogs improved to 10-1 overall and 7-1 in the SEC. This squad also became the first Georgia team to go undefeated in a season against the rest of the SEC East with a perfect 6-0 mark.

With Saturday's win on Senior Day, the current Georgia senior class improved to 38-12 in their careers, including an unblemished record at home this season.

Freshman quarterback Jake Fromm threw an interception on Georgia's first possession of the game, setting the Wildcats up deep in Bulldog territory. Kentucky capitalized on the opportunity with a 37-yard field goal from Austin MacGinnis.

The Bulldogs could get nothing going on their next offensive series, until Kentucky roughed punter Cameron Nizialek to give Georgia a fresh set of downs at its own 34-yard line. Fromm marched his team down the field on a 12-play, 75 yard drive, capped by an eight-yard touchdown rush by Chubb.

Blake Bone hauled in a 45-yard pass on UK's next possession to set up another field goal - this time a 35-yarder form MacGinnis to put the score at 7-6 in the Bulldogs' favor at the end of the first quarter.

Georgia's offense started clicking in the second quarter as the Bulldogs put together two scoring drives to take a 21-6 lead at the half. One score came through the air and the other on the ground when Javon Wims caught a 27-yard TD pass from Fromm and Michel bounced outside for a 37-yard TD rush.

Chubb was not done. The Bulldog senior surged over left tackle to start the fourth quarter and raced 55 yards down the field to put him over 1,000 yards for the season as Georgia went up 35-13.

Michel added another touchdown early in the fourth quarter and the Bulldogs left Sanford Stadium with a 42-13 victory.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"What a great way for these seniors to go out – winning the SEC East by going undefeated against the East," head coach Kirby Smart said. "Our seniors have given us tremendous leadership, and I'm happy and proud of them. Our seniors have set the standard and our young players have bought in. It helps to have such great leadership."

D'Andre Walker forced a Stephen Johnson fumble on this third-quarter sack during Georgia's win over Kentucky.

Worth Noting…

• Along with going undefeated in the SEC East, Georgia also became the first team to go undefeated in Sanford Stadium (6-0) in a season since 2012.

• Chubb became only the second Bulldog running back in history (Herschel Walker) to rush for 1,000 or more yards in three different seasons after finishing with 15 carries for 151 yards, including scoring runs of eight and a season-long 55 yards. His two touchdowns give him 45 TDs in his career (team-leading 12th of the year), moving him to second behind Herschel Walker (52). Chubb has now scored two touchdowns in a game 14 times and gone over the 100-yard mark 23 times in his career. At this point in the season, Chubb has rushed for 1,045 yards.

• Sony Michel finished with 87 yards on 12 carries with three scores. He stands tied for fifth on Georgia's all-time all-purpose yards with 3,834 yards. Michel's first scoring run came at the end of a 12-play, 75-yard drive that lasted 6:21, which is Georgia's longest TD drive of the year.

• The Georgia defense held Kentucky to just six points on two field goals and 140 yards (53 on the ground) in the first half and UK added only a touchdown in the second half and finished with 262 yards of total offense. UK came in averaging 27.9 points/game and 361 yards of total offense. The Wildcats were 3-for-12 (25%) on third downs.

#7 Georgia 38, Georgia Tech 7

Nov. 25, 2017 • Bobby Dodd Stadium - Atlanta, Ga.

ATHENS, Ga. - The seventh-ranked Georgia Bulldogs overmatched the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets 38-7 in the battle for the Governor's Cup Trophy at Bobby Dodd Stadium.

After forcing a Yellow Jacket punt on the game's opening possession, the Bulldogs assembled a 12-play, 61-yard touchdown drive. Nick Chubb scored from one yard out, while Sony Michel compiled 25 yards on the drive including a critical 3rd down pickup where he shed two tackles.

Georgia Tech put together a 12-play, 56-yard drive that started in the first quarter and spilled into the second quarter, but boiled over with a failed fourth-down attempt. The Bulldogs turned it into a touchdown quickly with six-straight run plays for 44 yards and then a 21-yard pass from Jake Fromm to Javon Wims for the score.

The Yellow Jackets got on the scoreboard in the final minute of the first half on a 10-yard touchdown pass from TaQuan Marshall to Ricky Jeune. The Bulldogs offense moved efficiently with 42 seconds left setting up a Rodrigo Blankenship 37-yard field goal to head into the half with a 17-7 lead.

At the half, Fromm was 8-for-10 for 91 yards, while Wims had four catches for 61 yards and his team-leading 6th receiving touchdown of the year. Michel tallied 67 yards on the ground on eight carries to move up to third all-time in rushing yards behind Chubb.

Georgia scored on three of its five possessions in the second half to seal the victory. The only non-score drives consisted of a punt and the final possession in which Georgia controlled the ball for 7:19 leaving GT the ball with only seven seconds left.

Michel tallied the first touchdown on a four-yard run after a 39-yard catch by sophomore receiver Mecole Hardman set it up. In the subsequent drive, Georgia marched down the field 67 yards, all but five yards on the ground. D'Andre Swift highlighted the last two plays with a 31-yard run on a 3rd-and-9 and an over-the-top 2-yard score.

The final score came on three plays as Fromm connected with junior college transfer receiver Ahkil Crumpton for a 78-yard touchdown strike, Georgia's longest of the season.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"They've got a good football team. It's a very hard offense to prepare for. Our kids took the challenge head-on and did a good job preparing for it. Thought we controlled the ball offensively in the second half. Our kids have played really hard. They've gotten better throughout the year. They've bought into what we're trying to do as a program. We're really excited about where we are, and we've got a challenge next week."

Natrez Patrick (6) and Roquan Smith led a defensive effort that limited Georgia Tech to nearly half of its per-game rushing output.

• With today's 38-7 victory, seventh-ranked Georgia completes the regular season with a 11-1 record, marking the 10th team in school history to win at least 11 games in a season and the first since 2012. The seniors improves their record to 39-12. Also, Georgia has reclaimed the Governor's Cup Trophy and extended its advantage in the series to 66-39-5. Georgia's 38 points was the most against Tech since 2013 (41-34 OT win).

• The Bulldogs came in ranked fourth nationally in Soring Defense, allowing only 14.4 points a game and holding Tech's option attack to just seven points and 226 total yards (188 rushing). Tech was averaging 30.2 points/game and 319.3 rushing yards a game.

• Georgia tallied 38 points and 471 yards of total offense (247-rushing, 224-passing) on 60 plays. The Bulldogs came in today averaging 35.3 points a game including leading the nation in Red Zone Offense, going 40-for-41 with 30 touchdowns. Against Tech, Georgia went 4-for-4 in the Red Zone (3 TDs, 1 FG).

• Senior Sony Michel tallied 85 rushing yards on 13 attempts to move up to third place in school history for career rushing yards with 3,314, trailing only Herschel Walker (5,259) and Chubb (4,522). Michel had a four-yard TD to make it 24-7 with 9:08 left in the third to cap a six play, 77-yard drive.

• With his first touchback on the opening kickoff, redshirt sophomore Rodrigo Blankenship set a school record for touchbacks in a season as that was his 52nd, passing the mark of Hall of Famer Kevin Butler who had 51 during the 1981 season. Blankenship had six kickoffs with four touchbacks against Tech.

2017 SEC Championship Game

Dec. 2, 2017 • Mercedes-Benz Stadium - Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA - The sixth-ranked Georgia Bulldogs claimed their 13th SEC Championship in program history with a 28-7 victory over the second-ranked Auburn Tigers at Mercedez-Benz Stadium in front of a national CBS audience and capacity crowd of 76,534.

Georgia claims the 2017 SEC title in the second year of the Kirby Smart era, improving to 12-1 on the season and 8-1 in the conference. Auburn fell to 10-3, and 7-2 in the SEC. Georgia's 13 SEC titles is tied for second most in league history as Alabama has 26 and Tennessee also has 13.

The Georgia defense held Auburn scoreless after just one touchdown in the Tigers' opening drive. Auburn was blanked for the remainder of the game, with Roquan Smith, the SEC Championship MVP, collecting a career-high 13 stops (10 solo) with one sack, two tackles for lost yardage and two fumble recoveries.

The Tigers raced out to a 7-0 lead in the first quarter. With 13:04 remaining in the second quarter, Davin Bellamy disrupted the Auburn offense on the 16-yard line, forcing the ball out of Jarrett Stidham's hands. Smith recovered the fumble and set up a 7-play, 83-yard Georgia scoring drive.

Poised on the Auburn 2-yard line, Jake Fromm faked a pitch and connected with Isaac Nauta in the end zone to tie the game at seven. Rodrigo Blakenship chipped in a 27-yard field goal to give the Bulldogs their first lead at 10-7 heading into halftime.

In the third quarter, the Georgia defense interrupted a second Auburn drive in the red zone, as DaQuan Hawkins-Muckle extended to block a Daniel Carlson 31-yard field goal. The Bulldogs drove 62 yards on the ensuing drive, capped off by a Blakenship 35-yard field goal to make it 13-7.

Lorenzo Carter snuffed Auburn's next drive at its own 47 yard-line, knocking the ball out of Kerryon Johnson's grasp. Smith picked it up and returned it to Auburn's 39-yard line. It took four plays for Georgia's second touchdown of the night: a Fromm-to- Terry Godwin connection for six as well as the ensuing two-point play.

With 10 minutes left, D'Andre Swift exploded for a 64-yard carry, the longest Georgia rush in an SEC championship game, to seal the 28-7 win.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"The seniors mean everything to this program. The leadership that he (Nick Chubb) and Sony Michel and the rest of these seniors have provided for us is impeccable. I mean this is an awesome win for our program, our university and a lot of people in the state of Georgia."

SEC Championship Game MVP Roquan Smith leads the celebration of Georgia's 13th all-time league title.

Worth Noting…

• Georgia claimed its 13th SEC title in school history with a 28-7 win over No. 2 Auburn. The 13 SEC titles ranks tied for second most in league history as Alabama has 26 and UT also has 13.

• With the win, Georgia extends its edge in the series to 58-56-8 in the Deep South's oldest rivalry in this the 122nd all-time meeting. This was Georgia's first win when both teams are ranked top 10. In the first meeting this year, Georgia was held to 17 points, 230 yards of total offense including 46 rushing yards, all season-lows. Today, Georgia scored 28 points and had 421 yards of total offense.

• Senior Nick Chubb had 77 rushing yards on 13 carries while senior Sony Michel had 45 yards on seven carries. Chubb moved up to second in SEC history with 4,599 yards, trailing only Herschel Walker (5,259). Chubb and Michel already rank No. 2 and 3 in school history for rushing yards. Michel has 3,359 for his career.

• Junior DT DaQuan Hawkins-Muckle blocked a Tiger 31-yard field goal attempt with 8:13 left in the third quarter and Georgia leading 10-7. It was the third by a Bulldog in an SEC Championship game, joining Sean Jones (2003 vs. LSU) and Cornelius Washington (2012 vs. Alabama). There have only been four in the history of the game.

• Senior strong safety Dominick Sanders made his 51st career start which ranks third in school history for non-kickers, trailing only QBs David Greene (52 from 2001-04) and Aaron Murray (52 from 2010-13).

• On offense, sophomore Elijah Holfyfield and freshman Trey Blount made their first career starts while junior Jayson Stanley made his first of the year and sixth of his career.

Kirby Smart

Head Football Coach

2017 SEC Coach of the Year
(Coaches, Associated Press)

When Georgia looked for a new head football coach after the 2015 season, the arrows all pointed to Kirby Smart, longtime University of Alabama defensive coordinator and former Bulldog player and assistant coach. And after two years, he has not disappointed.

In his first season leading the Bulldogs, Georgia extended its school record to 20 straight bowl appearances and posted four fourth-quarter comebacks, including wins over No. 8 Auburn and No. 22 North Carolina. He led the Bulldogs to an 8-5 final record, which included a victory over TCU in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl.

His impact, along with a stellar group of seniors, made his second season a special one with an 11-1 regular season record, a victory in the 2017 Southeastern Conference championship game, and Georgia's first appearance in the College Football Playoffs. In the SEC championship game, the 'Dawgs avenged it's only regular season loss with a 28-7 victory over Auburn. It was the first conference title since 2005 for the Red and Black. With the win, Smart became the youngest coach to win the title in an SEC Championship Game appearance. Smart was named 2017 SEC Coach of the Year by the SEC Coaches and the Regional Coach of the Year by the AFCA.

Smart has also made an immediate impact in recruiting circles by posting the nation's third-ranked class in 2017, following his first class in 2016 that was generally considered among the top ten. In addition to his coaching duties, Smart oversees the Kirby Smart Family Foundation, which is focused on being champions in the community by supporting and giving back to needy children and families facing adversity.

Smart officially came home to Georgia on Dec. 6, 2015. But he still had unfinished business at Alabama, which was still chasing a national title. He juggled two jobs for a month until January 11, 2016, when the Crimson Tide won its fourth national championship in a 7-year span. Twelve hours later, he was at work in Athens, where he remains one of nine head coaches at schools from Power 5 conferences that are coaching at their alma mater.

Smart had served on the Alabama staff the previous nine years, the past seven as defensive coordinator. During his tenure at Alabama, the Crimson Tide won three BCS National Championships, one College Football Playoff national title, three Southeastern Conference crowns, six SEC western division titles, and was ranked in the nation's final top ten rankings the last eight years in a row.

A former standout defensive back and scholar-athlete at Georgia, Smart was one of the nation's most respected defensive coordinators. During his time at Alabama, he coached players at three different positions, in addition to his coordinating duties. He was recognized as the 2012 AFCA Assistant Coach of the Year and the 2009 Broyles Award winner as college football's top assistant coach. He was also a finalist for the 2015 Broyles Award.

Prior to joining the Alabama staff in 2007, Smart spent the 2006 season as safeties coach with the NFL's Miami Dolphins. He served six years on the collegiate level as the running backs coach at Georgia (2005), defensive backs coach at LSU (2004), graduate assistant at Florida State (2002-03), defensive coordinator/linebackers coach (2001) and defensive backs coach (2000) at Valdosta State, and administrative assistant at UGA (1999).

Smart was the running backs coach on Georgia's 2005 SEC Championship team. His Bulldogs' unit averaged 162.2 rushing yards per game, third in the SEC. He coached Thomas Brown, Danny Ware, and Kregg Lumpkin—all of whom had NFL careers. In 2004 at LSU, he tutored two NFL draft picks: Corey Webster (2nd round, New York Giants) and Travis Daniels (4th round, Miami Dolphins).

As a player, Smart was a four-year letterman at defensive back for Georgia, where he was a first team All-SEC pick as a senior. He finished his career with 13 interceptions, a mark that still ranks fifth in UGA annals, and led the Bulldogs with six interceptions in 1997, five in '98. He led the SEC in interceptions during his final season. Smart also scored two points as a collegian. He was the first player in UGA history -- and one of just two Bulldogs since the rule was introduced in 1988 -- to return a blocked PAT kick for two points, having brought one back 88 yards against New Mexico State in his freshman year of 1995.

The 2015 Alabama defense ranked first nationally in rushing defense (75.7 ypg), third in total defense (276.3 ypg), and third in scoring defense (15.1).His 2014 Alabama defense ranked (72.2 ypg), passing fourth nationally against the run (102.4 ypg). The Crimson Tide ranked sixth nationally in scoring defense (18.4 ppg), while ranking 12th nationally in total defense (328.4 ypg). He helped junior safety Landon Collins earn unanimous first-team All-America honors while being selected as a finalist for the Nagurski Trophy, Thorpe Award and Lott Trophy.

Smart crafted another elite Alabama defense in 2013 after losing six more players to the NFL. The Crimson Tide ranked fourth nationally in scoring defense (13.9 ppg) while ranking fifth in total defense (286.5 ypg), seventh in rushing defense (106.2 ypg) and 11th in pass defense (180.3 ypg). Alabama was fourth nationally in red zone defense and fourth in fewest first downs allowed. He helped mold defensive leader C.J. Mosley into the nation's best linebacker and winner of the Butkus Award.

Smart retooled the Alabama defense in 2012, molding a unit that lost six starters to the NFL after the 2011 season. The Tide led the nation in total defense (250.0 ypg), scoring defense (10.9 ppg) and rush defense (76.4 ypg) while ranking seventh in pass defense (174.3 ypg) and pass efficiency defense (103.72). The Tide defense featured two first team All-Americans in cornerback Dee Milliner and linebacker Mosley. Milliner was a finalist for the Thorpe Award, presented to the nation's top defensive back. Mosley was a finalist for the Butkus Award.

The 2011 defense led the nation in all five major categories including total defense (183.6 ypg), scoring defense (8.2 ppg), rushing defense defense (111.5 ypg) and pass efficiency defense (83.69 rating). Dont'a Hightower (a finalist for the Lombardi Award, Lott Trophy, Butkus Award and Bednarik Award) led the team in total tackles with 85 and was selected in the first round of the 2012 NFL Draft by the New England Patriots.

Smart's rebuilding job in 2010 was impressive, as the Tide remained one of the nation's elite defensive units while replacing nearly the entire defense (nine starters). Alabama led the SEC and ranked third nationally in scoring defense (13.5 ppg) and fifth nationally in total defense (286.4 ypg).

The 2009 season was a special one for Smart, as he not only helped lead Alabama to the national championship but also took home the Broyles Award as the top assistant coach in the country. The UA defense again was regarded as one of the nation's top units, leading the SEC and ranking second nationally in scoring defense (11.7 ppg), pass efficiency defense (87.7), rush defense (78.1 ypg) and total defense (244.1 ypg).

In the 2010 BCS National Championship game against Texas, the Tide recorded four interceptions and scored a defensive touchdown. Three players on Smart's defense earned first-team All-America honors – linebacker Rolando McClain, cornerback Javier Arenas and nose guard Terrence Cody. McClain captured the Butkus Award and Cody was a finalist for several national awards.

A four-time member of the SEC Academic Honor Roll, Smart received his BBA degree in Finance from UGA in 1998 and his M.S. in Physical Education from Florida State in 2003. The Bainbridge, Ga., native is married to the former Mary Beth Lycett of McDonough, Ga., a 4-year letterwinner, and 2-year starter, on the Georgia women's basketball team from 2000-2003. The couple met long after their undergraduate days at UGA, when Lycett -- then working in the UGAAA business office -- helped arrange Smart's trip to interview for the Bulldogs' running backs coaching job in 2005. They are now the proud parents of twins Weston and Julia (Feb. 8, 2008) and son Andrew (May 25, 2012).

Smart is one of four Bulldogs with 13 career interceptions, fourth-most in UGA history. He was a first-team All-SEC choice as a senior in 1998, when he led the league with five interceptions. Smart had six in his junior season of 1997.

Jim Chaney

Offensive Coordinator — Quarterbacks

Jim Chaney was named offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at UGA on Dec. 12, 2015, after serving one year in a similar position at the University of Pittsburgh.

In his second season at Georgia, the Bulldog offense has ranked among the leaders nationally in several categories, including a national-best Red Zone production rate. Additionally, he has tutored a true freshman starting quarterback for the second straight season.

A 33-year coaching veteran in the Southeastern Conference, Big Ten, ACC, and the NFL, Chaney served the 2015 season at Pitt after a two-year tenure at Arkansas (2013-14). He has also served as offensive coordinator at Tennessee (2009-12), Purdue (1997-2005), and Cal State Fullerton (1988-92).

Chaney also spent three years in the NFL with the St. Louis Rams (2006-08) working with the offensive line for two seasons and the tight ends for one. Steven Jackson was a 1,000-yard rusher in each of Chaney's three seasons in St. Louis. At Purdue, he coached quarterback Drew Brees, who later led the New Orleans Saints to a Super Bowl title in 2010. Brees led the nation in total offense in 2000 (358.1 yards per game) and was selected the winner of the prestigious Maxwell Award as the college player of the year.

Chaney was an instrumental figure in Arkansas achieving its first winning campaign since 2011 during the 2014 season. The Razorbacks averaged 406 yards and 31.9 points per game, capping the season with a 31-7 rout of Texas in the Texas Bowl. Chaney's offense produced two 1,000-yard rushers and a 2,000-yard passer.

In 2013, Chaney's offense featured underclassmen starters at five positions. Despite that youth, Arkansas averaged 5.28 yards per rush--the fourth highest season average in school history. Center Travis Swanson was a first team All-American, while running back Alex Collins was a 1,000-yard rusher and the SEC Freshman of the Year.

The Volunteers in 2012 ranked among the nation's most productive offenses, finishing 15th in passing yards, 18th in total offense and 22nd in scoring. That same year, UT quarterback Tyler Bray threw for 3,612 yards and 34 touchdowns, both career bests. Chaney also served as Tennessee's interim head coach for the 2012 season finale, a 37-17 win over Kentucky.

Chaney is a 1985 graduate of Central Missouri State. He and his wife Lisa have two daughters, Elizabeth and Sara.

Mel Tucker

Defensive Coordinator — Defensive Backs

Mel Tucker, assistant head coach and defensive backs coach at the University of Alabama and former NFL defensive coordinator, was named UGA defensive coordinator and secondary coach on January 12, 2016.

In his first year at UGA, Tucker guided a Bulldog defense that ranked among the nation's top 20 units in the following categories: total defense, passing defense, turnovers gained, and first down defense. The 2017 season has brought more of the same. Georgia has ranked among the top 10 nationally, and higher in some categories, in total defense, scoring defense, rushing defense and passing yards allowed.

Tucker joined the Crimson Tide staff in January, 2015, after serving seven years as an NFL defensive coordinator: two with the Chicago Bears (2013-14), four with the Jacksonville Jaguars (2009-12), and one with the Cleveland Browns (2008). The Jags ranked sixth in the league in total defense in 2011, allowing just 313.0 yards per game. Tucker was Jacksonville's interim head coach for the final five games of that season. He earned the additional title of assistant head coach with the Jaguars in 2012.

Tucker was also on the Browns staff from 2005-07 as defensive backs coach before taking over as defensive coordinator in 2008. In that season, the Browns were second in the NFL with 23 interceptions and ranked 16th in scoring defense (21.9 points per game).

Tucker joined Nick Saban's staff at Michigan State as a graduate assistant in 1997. After two years there, he went to work as a defensive backs coach at Miami (Ohio) for one season in 1999. In 2000, Tucker returned to work with Saban at LSU for one season before going to Ohio State for a four-year stint (2001-04). The Buckeyes went 14-0 in 2002 and won the BCS National Championship. Tucker was elevated to co-defensive coordinator in 2004.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Tucker attended Cleveland Heights High School where he was a football standout and earned a scholarship to Wisconsin. He was a four-year letterman at defensive back for the Badgers and graduated in 1995.

Tucker's wife, Jo-Ellyn, earned her undergraduate degree at Illinois and her law degree from Rutgers. The couple has two sons: Joseph (15) and Christian (13).

Shane Beamer

Assistant Coach — Tight Ends, Special Teams

Shane Beamer was named special teams coordinator and tight ends coach at UGA on January 5, 2016, after serving as associate head coach and running backs coach at Virginia Tech the previous five years.

In Beamer's first year at UGA, two of his charges, tight end Isaac Nauta and kicker Rodrigo Blankenship, earned freshman All-SEC honors. In his second season, Georgia has ranked among the nation's leaders in several special teams categories.

Prior to joining the Hokies staff, Beamer served as an assistant at South Carolina (2007-10), Mississippi State (2004-06), and also as a graduate assistant at Tennessee (2001-03) and Georgia Tech (2000).

At South Carolina, Beamer coordinated the special teams and coached outside linebackers. In his final two years in Columbia, Beamer also served as recruiting coordinator. He was nominated for the 2009 Frank Broyles Assistant Coach of the Year award following the season.

Beamer earned his bachelor's degree from Virginia Tech in 1999 and was the Hokies' starting long snapper for three seasons. He also contributed as a wide receiver. He played on four bowl teams and three Big East Conference championship squads. He concluded his college playing career by helping the 1999 Hokies to a No. 2 final regular-season ranking and a berth in the national championship game played against Florida State in the Sugar Bowl.

Born in Charleston, S.C., Beamer is the son of former longtime Virginia Tech head coach Frank Beamer. He is married to the former Emily Gladney, a Starkville, Miss., native. The couple has two daughters, Sutton and Olivia, and a son, Hunter.

James Coley

Assistant Coach — Wide Receivers

James Coley, former offensive coordinator at Miami and Florida State, was named wide receivers coach at UGA on January 3, 2015.

Coley's first two years of coaching the Bulldog receivers have produced Isaiah McKenzie, fifth-round selection by Denver in the 2017 NFL Draft, and one of the Bulldogs' most improved players this season in senior Javon Wims.

Prior to joining the Miami staff, he was offensive coordinator and tight ends coach at Florida State from 2010-12 and tight ends coach and recruiting coordinator at FSU in 2008 and 2009.

A native of Miami, Coley served as an offensive assistant with the Miami Dolphins in 2005-06. His coaching resume also included a stop at 2003 national champion LSU where he served as a graduate assistant coach.

His experience also includes assistant positions at Miami (Fla.) Norland High School where he was assistant head coach and offensive coordinator (2000-02) and Miami (Fla.) Senior High School serving as quarterbacks coach.

He has coached numerous NFL receivers during his career. At Miami Norland he coached NFL first-round picks Andre Johnson and Dwayne Bowe and second-round pick Roscoe Parrish; at FSU he mentored draft picks Kelvin Benjamin and Rashad Greene; at Miami he coached first-round picks Phillip Dorsett and Allen Hurns; and with the Dolphins he coached Wes Welker.

Coley earned his bachelor's degree from Florida State in 1997 and his master's degree from LSU in 2004. He and his wife Kenia have two children, Madison and Brady.

Dell McGee

Assistant Coach — Running Backs

Dell McGee was named running backs coach in January of 2016. Just 10 days before, he had led Georgia Southern to victory in its first-ever bowl game (GoDaddy Bowl) as interim head coach.

McGee's two star pupils at Georgia, Nick Chubb and Sony Michel, have amassed nearly 8,000 yards rushing between them and will finish as the Nos. 2 & 3 rushers in school history.

He served as running backs coach at GSU the previous two seasons, during both of which the Eagles led the nation in rushing offense—384 yards per game in 2014 and 363 yards per game in 2015. GSU won the Sun Belt Championship in 2014 and McGee was promoted to associate head coach early in the 2015 season.

Prior to joining the Georgia Southern staff, McGee served one season at Auburn, his alma mater, where he worked as an analyst in 2013 when the Tigers reached the BCS Championship Game.

McGee developed Carver-Columbus High School into a perennial powerhouse. The Tigers rattled off seven straight seasons with 10 or more wins, including a perfect 15-0 season en route to the Georgia state title.

McGee was a two-year starter and four-year letterwinner at Auburn from 1992-95, helping preserve the Tigers' undefeated 1993 season with a critical interception against Alabama. McGee lettered in football and track at Kendrick High School in Columbus.

McGee and his wife Linda have a son, Austin.

Sam Pittman

Assistant Coach — Offensive Line

Sam Pittman was named offensive line coach at UGA on Dec. 12, 2015, after serving three years at Arkansas as offensive line coach, associate head coach and recruiting coordinator.

Pittman is widely regarded among the nation's best offensive line coaches and recruiters. In just his second season at UGA, his 2017 charges were named as one of seven semifinalists for the Joe Moore Award, given annually to the nation's top offensive line unit.

From 2012-15, a Pittman-coached offensive line led the SEC in fewest sacks allowed—three years at Arkansas and one at Tennessee. Arkansas allowed only 1.00 sacks per game in 2015, 1.08 in 2014, and 0.67 in 2013. In 2012, Pittman coached the Tennessee offensive line that led the SEC with just 0.67 sacks allowed per game.

Pittman has also served as associate head coach and OL coach at North Carolina (2007-11), and OL coach at Northern Illinois (2003-06).

Of Pittman's eight drafted offensive linemen in the last four years, Ja'Wuan James was selected 19th overall by Miami in 2014 and Travis Swanson became the highest Razorback center draft pick in school history when he was picked 76th overall by Detroit. In 2013, Jonathan Cooper, who was tutored by Pittman for four seasons at UNC, was the seventh overall pick by Arizona, the earliest an offensive guard had been taken since 1986.

Pittman played at Pittsburg State, where he was a first-team NAIA All-American and twice earned all-conference recognition. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in 1986 and was inducted into the PSU Athletics Hall of Fame in 1998. He is married to his wife, Jamie.

Glenn Schumann

Assistant Coach — Inside Linebackers

Glenn Schumann was named inside linebackers coach at Georgia on Dec. 12, 2015, after serving two years as Director of Player Development and Associate Director of Personnel at Alabama.

In his first two seasons at Georgia, Schumann has mentored leading tacklers Roquan Smith -- who won the 2017 Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker -- and Natrez Patrick.

Schumann spent eight years with the Crimson Tide, first as an undergraduate analyst (2008-Dec. 2011) and then as a graduate assistant (Dec. 2011-Feb. 2014). He was named Director of Player Development and Associate Director of Player Personnel in Feb., 2014.

In his role at Alabama, Schumann was responsible for a number of off-the-field activities for Alabama's football student-athletes. He served as an important resource in balancing their demands of academics, athletics and community outreach. He was also involved in all recruiting efforts.

Schumann comes from a long line of coaches. His father Eric spent 20 years in college football as a defensive coordinator. Schumann's grandfather Jack Haskin was a coach on the first football team at Florida State and is a member of the FSU Hall of Fame.

Born in Valdosta, Schumann graduated from McKinney Boyd High School in McKinney, Texas, where he lettered in both football and basketball. He earned his B.A. degree from Alabama in 2011 and his M.S. in sports management UA in December, 2013. He and his wife Lauren were married in the summer of 2015.

Tray Scott

Assistant Coach — Defensive Line

Tray Scott was named defensive line coach at Georgia in February of 2017 after two seasons in a similar capacity at the University of North Carolina.

In his two campaigns in Chapel Hill, Scott helped UNC reach back-to-back bowl games (2015 Russell Athletic Bowl vs. Baylor, 2016 Sun Bowl vs. Stanford) and the 2015 ACC Championship Game. Scott's star pupil during his tenure at UNC was Nazair Jones, an All-ACC tackle who had 70 stops, 9.5 for lost yardage and 2.5 QB sacks as a junior in 2016. Jones was a third-round selection by the Seattle Seahawks in the 2017 NFL Draft.

Prior to moving to North Carolina, Scott served two years (2013-14) as defensive line coach at UT Martin. He also held positions as defensive line graduate assistant at Ole Miss (2012), assistant coach at Arkansas State (2010-11). Scott was also a graduate assistant coach at his alma mater, Arkansas Tech, from the fall of 2008 until the spring of 2010.

As a player at Arkansas Tech, Scott was a four-year letterman from 2003-07. He helped Tech to a 24-8 record from 2004-06, including a 10-2 overall mark and a national playoff appearance in 2004. Scott prepped at Crossett High School in his hometown of Crossett, Ark.

Scott earned his bachelor's degree in sociology from Arkansas Tech in 2008. He also received his Master's degree from Arkansas Tech in 2010. He is married to the former Sarah Fancher and the couple has a son, Julian Thomas Scott, born on May 22, 2017.

Kevin Sherrer

Assistant Coach — Outside Linebackers

Kevin Sherrer was named a defensive assistant at Georgia in January of 2014, and remained on the staff when Kirby Smart became head coach in 2015.

Sherrer's top two pupils -- Lorenzo Carter and Davin Bellamy -- have combined for nearly 200 tackles, 20 sacks and and 50 quarterback pressures in the past two seasons.

Before coming to Athens, Sherrer served one season as defensive coordinator and defensive backs coach at South Alabama. Sherrer served as Director of Player Development at Alabama for three years prior to joining the South Alabama staff. At Alabama, his responsibilities included assisting student-athletes with academics, community outreach and their personal lives.

Prior to joining the staff at Alabama, Sherrer was an assistant at Hoover (Ala.) High (2005-09) including serving as defensive coordinator the final three. He was also the DB coach at Spain Park (Ala.) High School (2001-04), where he helped the Jaguars win 16 games his last two seasons. He began his career as an assistant at Tuscaloosa County (Ala.) High (1996-97).

He was also a grad assistant at Alabama from 1998-2000, helping to coordinate scout teams, video breakdown and on-campus recruiting. The Tide won the 1999 SEC title and played in the Orange Bowl that season.

Sherrer was a tight end for the Crimson Tide from 1993-95, when Alabama recorded a 29-7-1 overall mark and won the SEC West Division title twice.

He is a 1996 graduate of Alabama with a degree in physical education, and he earned his master's degree in higher education administration from the school in 2000. Sherrer and his wife Carrie have twin sons, Kaleb and Kyle.

Scott Sinclair

Director of Strength & Conditioning

Scott Sinclair was named Director of Strength and Conditioning in January of 2016, after serving three years in the same position at Marshall University.

Sinclair joined the Marshall program in January, 2013, working with both football and track and field teams. He came to Marshall after nine years as an associate director of strength and conditioning at Central Florida, where he worked with the football, baseball and track & field programs. He was directly responsible for the football team's speed and agility regimens, in addition to the program's administrative duties.

In May 2012, Sinclair was awarded the highest honor in his field when he was certified as a master strength and conditioning coach (MSCC) at the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association's national conference.

Prior to UCF, he served as an assistant strength and conditioning coach at Georgia Tech from 2001-03. While with the Yellow Jackets, he worked as the assistant director of player development for the Yellow Jackets' football squad. From 1999-2001, he worked in the Wake Forest strength and conditioning department.

A native of Rockingham, N.C., he earned his bachelor's degree in sports medicine from Guilford College in 1999. Sinclair, a member of the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association, received a master's degree in physical education from UCF in 2006. Sinclair and his wife, Farrah, have one son, Creed, and one daughter, Asher.

Sinkwich Leads Bulldogs Past TCU In 1942 Orange Bowl

Georgia All-American quarterback Frankie Sinkwich, playing with an oversized chin mask to protect a broken jaw, put on an offensive display still considered by many as the greatest in any bowl game as he led his Bulldogs to a 40-26 win over Texas Christian before 35,786 fans in the 1942 Orange Bowl game (a record crowd in '42).

Sinkwich passed for touchdowns of 61, 60 and 15 yards and raced 43 yards on a QB draw for another score. He completed nine of 13 passes for 243 yards and rushed for 139 yards for a total offensive gain of 382 yards.

Georgia scored first as Ken Keuper rushed two yards over the goal line to give the Dogs the early 6-0 lead. TCU tied the game less than four minutes later after a Lamar Davis fumble led to a Horned Frog score from the four yard line. TCU kicked the point after and led 7-6. Georgia answered soon after the score on a 60-yard pass play from Sinkwich to Melvin Conger, giving the Bulldogs a 12-7 lead they would never relinquish.

When the Dogs left the field at halftime the score stood 33-7, prompting head coach Wally Butts to proclaim it the greatest offensive performance he ever saw by a UGA team. He also believed the Georgia squad, at the end of the 1941 season, was the most powerful he coached.

The lead was 40-7 in the third quarter before TCU mounted a late three-touchdown effort. Bruce Alford caught two passes for scores from Emory Nix and Frink Kring scored on a 53-yard play from Kyle Gillespie for the 40-26 final.

The 1942 Orange Bowl was played less than a month after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and was a record-setting event. Sinkwich set five individual Orange Bowl records in the win for combined rushing and passing yards (382), touchdown passes (3), points scored (24), yards gained on touchdown pass plays (136) and yards gained on all touchdown plays (179). Georgia's four touchdown passes set a bowl team record, as well as the Dogs' four interceptions. The combined seven touchdowns for Georgia and TCU also set a new Orange Bowl mark.

Trippi Gets Helms Award In 1943 Rose Bowl

With All-American Frankie Sinkwich hobbling on two sprained ankles, his young sophomore understudy — Charley Trippi — paced Georgia to a 9-0 victory over UCLA before 90,000 in the 1943 Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

Trippi rushed 27 times for a net gain of 115 yards and received the Helms Award as the game's outstanding player.

Recently the Rose Bowl named its all-time first team and put Trippi at left halfback.

Tackle Red Boyd blocked a Bob Waterfield punt which rolled out of the end zone for a safety to give Georgia two points in the last quarter. A few minutes later center Clyde Ehrhardt intercepted a Waterfield pass and returned to the UCLA 25. Sinkwich finally scored from the one and Leo Costa converted.

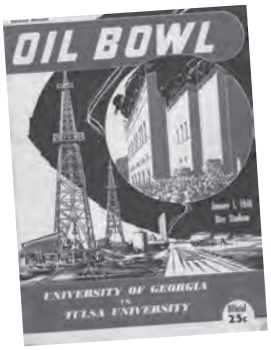
Trippi's Immortal Punt Return Helps Defeat Tulsa In 1945 Oil Bowl



Charley Trippi was at his best as Georgia defeated Tulsa, 20-6, in the Oil Bowl at Houston before 27,000 on Jan. 1, 1946.

He passed 64 yards to John Donaldson for Georgia's second TD and returned a punt 68 yards for the final Bulldog tally in the fourth quarter — a run still considered by many as the greatest punt return of all time. He completely reversed his field and ran over two Tulsa tacklers who had him trapped near a sideline.

Charley Trippi accepts National Pro Football Hall of Fame trophy.

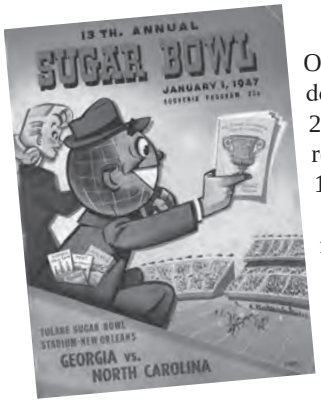
Trippi Closes Great Career In '47 Sugar Bowl Playing Entire 60 Minutes



On a chilly and rainy day in New Orleans, Georgia battled back from two deficits to knock off North Carolina, 20-10, in front of 75,000 in the 13th renewal of the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 1, 1947.

Charley Trippi led the way for the Bulldogs, playing all 60 minutes in his last game wearing the red and black. His 67-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter to Dan Edwards gave the Dogs a 13-10 lead that the club would not relinquish.

The win was Georgia's 16th consecutive victory and gave the Bulldogs a perfect season (11-0) for just the second time in school history.

The scoring started when North Carolina's Walt Pupa ran 25 yards in the second quarter for the first lead of the game. Kicker Bob Cox added the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

Georgia was held scoreless into halftime, but Johnny Rauch plunged into the endzone from one yard out in the third quarter and was followed by George Jernigan's extra point for a 7-7 tie.

Cox gave the Tar Heels the lead later in the third quarter with an 18-yard field goal, but the play of the day, Trippi's 67-yarder to Edwards, answered the Tar Heel score and Georgia never looked back.

Rauch, Geri Shine In 1948 Gator Bowl

Joe Geri

Georgia's All-America quarterback Johnny Rauch had one of the best days of his career in Jacksonville, completing 12 of 17 passes for 183 yards. Captain Dan Edwards caught five passes and Joe Geri averaged 43.5 yards on seven punts.

The game remained scoreless after one quarter of play, but Maryland's Lu Gambino ran 35 yards for the first score of the game. The Terps held that 7-0 lead into halftime.

Georgia took the opening drive of the second half 87 yards, capped by Rauch's 1-yards plunge into the end-zone. Maryland answered with an 80-yard drive of its own and took the lead again on Gambino's second TD of the day. Later in the third, Georgia drove to its own 40 yard line but fumbled away possession. Three plays later the Terps were leading 20-7.

The fourth quarter was all Georgia, as the Bulldogs scored once on a Geri four-yard run and again on a nine-yard pass from Rauch to John Donaldson. The extra point was no good after Geri's TD and time ran out on a tied ball game with Georgia knocking on the door for another score.

A&M Zips Past Georgia In 1950 Presidential Cup Tilt

Georgia lost its seventh visit to a post-season affair, 40-20, to Texas A&M in the first and only Presidential Cup game at College Park, Md., before 12,245 fans on Dec. 9, 1950.

Georgia's Zippy Morocco, who later was to set the all-time SEC basketball scoring record, scored two touchdowns on brilliant runs, the first coming on a 65-yard punt return and the other a 23-yard rush.

A&M jumped out early and never looked back, scoring 40 unanswered points through three quarters of play. Before two minutes had been played in the opening quarter, the score was 13-0 after Bob Smith took the opening kickoff 100 yards and Glenn Lippman scored from five yards out after a Bulldog fumble. Another 81-yard TD rush by Smith in the first quarter buried the Bulldogs.

Morocco scored on a two-yard run in the third and a 65-yard punt return in the fourth to get the Dogs on the board. Lauren Hargrove added the last score of the day on a one-yard rush to make the final 40-20.

Tarkenton's TD Passes Key 1960 Orange Bowl Win

Francis Tarkenton directed two excellent scoring drives of 62 and 71 yards in Georgia's 14-0 victory over Missouri in the 1960 Orange Bowl before 75,280.

Late in the first quarter Tarkenton anticipated a quick kick to set up the first score. He returned it 17 yards to the M 38. On third down and nine he passed to Fred Brown for 12 to the M 25. On third and 14 he fired to Bill McKenny, rookie RHB from Jacksonville, for 29 yards and the TD, Durward Pennington's PAT made it 7-0.

Ridlehuber Rips Raiders In 1964 Sun Bowl

The 7-0 conquest of Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl at El Paso Dec. 26, 1964, before 28,500 may have been the Bulldogs' best game of a glorious ''Cinderella'' season.

The defense held the Red Raiders' vaunted offense, which led the Southwest Conference with almost 300 yards per game, to only 128 yards (32 rushing and 96 passing). And, the offensive troops rolled up 329 yards (245 rushing and 84 passing), their second best performance of the season.

Preston Ridlehuber had by far the most productive day of his Georgia varsity career and clearly deserved the trophy awarded him as the game's outstanding performer. Preston ran 19 times for 87 yards, completed 4x5 passes for 77 yards, giving him a total of 164 yards.

Kent Lawrence Sets Cotton Bowl Record As Bulldogs Win Big over SMU

Kent Lawrence

Georgia magnificently upheld the honor of the SEC with its decisive 24-9 victory over Southern Methodist University, Southwest Conference champ, Dec. 31, 1966, in Dallas' Cotton Bowl before 75,504.

Kent Lawrence established a Bulldog bowl-game rushing record vs. the Mustangs. His 149 yards in 16 carries erased the old Georgia bowl-game mark of 139 yards in 22 rushes by Frank Sinkwich vs. TCU in the 1942 Orange Bowl.

Lawrence's 74-yard TD rush on the game's third play also was the longest scoring play in Bulldog bowl annals. He was voted the game's outstanding player.

Bob Etter's 28-yard FG put Georgia out front 10-3 at the quarter. Steve Neuhaus set up another score with an interception at the SMU 33. Kirby Moore hit Billy Payne on a 20-yard scoring pass and Etter made it 17-3.

There was only one score in the last half. The Bulldogs drove 59 yards to goal early in the fourth quarter with Ronnie Jenkins carrying nine of the 12 rushes. Jenkins scored from the one. Etter made it 24-9.

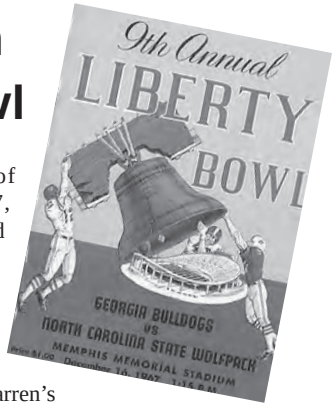
N.C. State Rallies Past Georgia In 1967 Liberty Bowl



A record Liberty Bowl crowd of 35,045 at Memphis Dec. 16, 1967, saw N.C. State, led by former Bulldog head coach Jim Donnan, trim Georgia, 14-7.

The Wolfpack cashed in their scoring opportunities, drawing first blood in the second quarter on a 65-yard drive—aided by a timely 15-yard penalty —that saw Donnan pass 6 yards to Martell for a TD. Warren's PAT made it 7-0.

Georgia retaliated with a fine 68-yard scoring drive, Lawrence starting things off with a 42-yard kickoff return. Kirby Moore hit on four passes, three to Dennis Hughes and one to Billy Payne. Ronnie Jenkins scored from the one and Jim McCullough's PAT knotted the count at 7-7 midway the second quarter.

State went ahead early in the fourth quarter, driving 73 yards with Barchuk scoring from the one. Warren's PAT was good.

Georgia again fought back and mounted a great 98-yard drive that ended with Lawrence failing to score by inches after taking a pitchout from Moore at the N.C. State 3 and sprinting to the 1. Lawrence was voted the game's most valuable offensive back, while Edgar Chandler was the most valuable offensive lineman.

Georgia Upset by Arkansas Razorbacks In 1969 Sugar Bowl

A huge Sugar Bowl crowd of 82,113 saw Arkansas, champion of the Southwest Conference, upset Georgia, champion of the Southeastern Conference, 16-2, on Jan. 1, 1969.

The Bulldogs had the ball six times in the first quarter but lost possession three times on fumbles and once on a pass interception. But the Georgia defense played well and the quarter ended scoreless.

The Razorbacks moved 65 yards for a TD early in the second quarter, scoring on a 27-yard pass, Montgomery-Dicus. White's PAT made it 7-0.

Midway the second quarter David McKnight tossed Burnett for a six-yard loss and a safety to make it 7-2, but a Bulldog fumble a few plays later gave Arkansas position for a 34-yard field goal by White which made it 10-2 at halftime.

Georgia ''blew'' a good chance early in the third quarter after recovering an Arkansas fumble on the kickoff. Brad Johnson fumbled on the goal line on third down, and the ball went out of the end zone.

A fumble and pass interception in the fourth quarter put Arkansas in position for two more field goals by White (24 and 31 yards).

Nebraska Too Much for Dogs In 1969 Sun Bowl

Nebraska turned out to be every bit as good as advertised.

''They were the best team we played all season,'' said Captain Steve Greer following the Cornhuskers' 45-6 victory before a sun-baked Sun Bowl crowd of 31,176 in El Paso Dec. 20.

The Cornhuskers took advantage of a strong wind to kick four field goals in the exceptionally-long first quarter (scoreboard clock broke and officials admitted afterwards that the first quarter was too long).

Trailing 18-0 after the first quarter, Georgia fought back to hold the big and fast Big Eight co-champions scoreless in the second quarter. But the Nebraskans took advantage of six pass interceptions and two fumble recoveries to run up the score, 14 points in the third quarter and 13 in the fourth.

Paul Gilbert directed Georgia's lone TD in the fourth quarter. He completed passes of 16 yards to Charley Whittemore, 11 to Dennis Hughes, then scored himself from the six. Jim McCullough's PAT kick was wide.

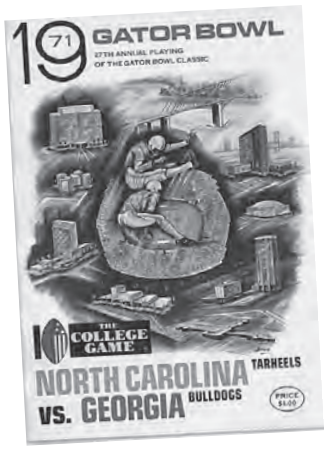
Poulos Superb in 1971 Gator Bowl



Georgia played perhaps its finest defensive game of the season to beat North Carolina 7-3 in the Gator Bowl, Dec. 31, 1971, before 71,208.

The Bulldogs held the Tar Heels to only 181 yards total offense (115 rushing and 66 passing).

Dennis Watson was the defensive hero, making tackles time and time again. He made three straight tackles during one stretch.

Offensively, the Bulldogs gained a lot of ground (322 yards) but were sporadic, particularly in the first half. But, following the Tar Heels' lone scoring drive of the game which resulted in a 35-yard FG by Craven, the Bulldogs finally mounted a beautiful 80-yard march that settled the issue.

The scintillating sophomores, Jimmy Poulos and Andy Johnson, ran the ball from Georgia's 20 to the G 43. Then Johnson hit split end Lynn Hunnicutt on a great 32-yard play to the NC 25. On the next snap, Poulos broke around left end down the sidelines to score, side-stepping the safety. Braswell made it 7-3.

The nation's TV audience once again was thrilled by the exploits of Poulos, the Greek Streak, who set a Georgia bowl rushing record in the Gator Bowl. He netted 161 yards on 20 carries to better the old Bulldog bowl mark of 149 yards on 16 rushes by Kent Lawrence against SMU in the 1966 Cotton Bowl.

Tough Terps Trimmed in 1973 Peach Bowl

Hats off to the Bulldogs for their thrilling 17-16 triumph over the Terrapins in the 1973 Peach Bowl Dec. 28 before 38,017 in Atlanta Fulton County Stadium.

Early in the second quarter, thanks to runs by Horace King and Andy Johnson, Georgia reached the Maryland 17 but was stopped. Johnson hit Jimmy Poulos on a screen and the Greek Streak went 62 yards for a score in one of the finest runs ever made by a Georgia back. Two plays later Maryland's Carter and White hooked up on a 68-yard haymaker and Mick-Mayer's PAT tied it 7-7.

Later Mike-Mayer put Maryland out front 10-7 on a 36-yard FG. Then the Bulldogs roared back with one of their best drives of the season. Captain Bobby Burns ripped up the middle for 21. Johnson hit King for 30, then ran 12 after faking a pass to the UM 9. With the clock running out, the Bulldogs had to settle for a 26-yard FG by Leavitt to make it 10-10 at halftime.

Tremendous defensive play set up Georgia's go-ahead TD late in the third quarter. Following Golden's 43-yard punt to Smith, tackled in his tracks at the UM 11 by Glynn Harrison, Sylvester Boler smashed through and hit QB Kinard as he was pitching out to Jennings. The hit caused a fumble that was recovered by Dick Conn at the Maryland 8 yard line. On third down, Johnson scored from the one and Leavitt made it 17-10.

A nine-yard punt and fumble by Richard Appleby, on an end-round, presented Maryland with two FG opportunities in the fourth quarter. Both were cashed in on by Mike-Mayer (25 and 28 yards) to close the gap to 17-16.

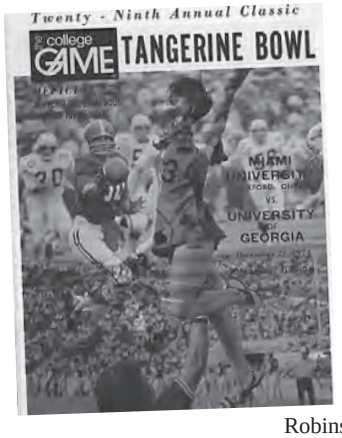
Dogs Fall To Miami 21-10 in 1974 Tangerine Bowl



Miami of Ohio won its 23rd in a row with a 21-10 vicotry over Georgia in the Tangerine Bowl before 20,246 at Orlando, on Dec. 21, 1974.

It might have been a close game had not the Bulldogs given Miami two easy scoring chances with fumbles at their own 25 (first play from scrimmage) and 22. The Redskins cashed both opportunities, and in between, marched 68 yards to goal, QB Smith passing seven yards to E. Taylor for the TD.

After trailing 7-0, Georgia did make a good drive, first down at the UM 9, the big gainer being a 43-yard pass, Robinson to Appleby. But the vaunted Miami defense held and Allan Leavitt kicked at 21-yard FG.

Georgia came back strong in the second half and won it, 7-0. The defense played considerably better.

Midway through, the third quarter Butch Box, covering a Bucky Dilts punt, recovered a fumble at the Miami 41. Glynn Harrison immediately broke loose for 28 yards to the UM 13. Five plays later Ray Goff plunged over from the one and Leavitt made it 21-10.

Georgia outgained Miami in total offense, 274 to 242. Georgia had only 74 yards rushing but 200 passing. Miami had 228 rushing, 14 passing.

Cinderella Dogs Bow to Hogs in 1976 Cotton Bowl

The big clock in the Cotton Bowl showed 1:49 left in the first half with Georgia leading Arkansas, 10-0. Not a soul there or any one of the millions watching CBS-TV had any idea then that the Bulldogs, who had played almost a perfect game for nearly a half, would suffer one tough blow after and finally succumb, 31-10 on Jan. 1, 1976.

Georgia amazed the crowd of 74,500 by taking the opening kickoff and ramming the ball all the way to the A4. But the Razorbacks held and Georgia had to settle for a 35-yard FG by Allan Leavitt.

In the second quarter Matt Robinson connected with Gene Washington on a nifty 21-yard scoring play and Georgia led 10-0.

But two Georgia fumbles in the last two minutes of the first half resulted in an Arkansas FG (Little, 39 yards) and TD (Forte, 1-yd. rush).

It was a scoreless third quarter but the Hogs tallied three times in the final period.

"Glidin' " Glynn Harrison led Georgia to the '76 Cotton Bowl.

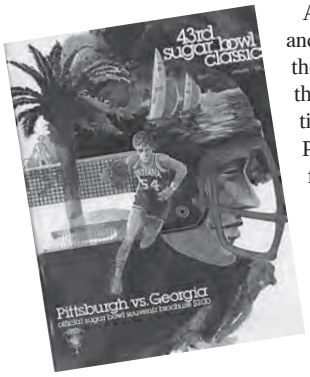
#1 Pittsburgh Tops Dogs In '77 Sugar Bowl



Armed with a number four national ranking and the distinction of being first team to represent the conference in the SEC's ''marriage'' with the Sugar Bowl, Georgia's dreams of a national title were convincingly shattered by top-ranked Pittsburgh, 27-3, in the Sugar Bowl shootout for the national championship.

With a Sugar Bowl record crowd for the Superdome of 76, 117 fans looking on, Pittsburgh made believers of the whole nation in justifying their top national billing.

Junior quarterback Matt Cavanaugh and heralded Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett supplied most of the offensive fireworks for the Panthers in building a 21-0 halftime lead. Cavanaugh directed his team 80 yards in the first quarter for Pitt's initial score, covering the last six yards himself on a keeper. In the second quarter, the Pittsburgh junior unveiled a brilliant passing game to account for another Pittsburgh score by hitting FLK Matt Jones for a 59-yard scoring strike. Dorsett added the Panthers' third TD of the day on an 11-yard burst to make the halftime tally 21-0.

The Bulldog offense, which had been stymied all day by the swarming Pittsburgh defense, finally was able to put something on the scoreboard in the third quarter. On Pitt's first possession of the second half, fullback Elliott Walker was separated from the ball on the Panthers' own 26-yard line, where defensive end Lawrence Craft fell on it for the Bulldogs. But several plays later, Georgia found themselves faced with fourth and goal on the seven and had to settle for Allan Leavitt's 25-yard field goal for their only score of the day.

Pitt's Carson Long added field goals of 42 and 31 yards as the Panthers claimed the 1976 national championship.

Stanford Rallies For Win In 1978 Bluebonnet Bowl

Georgia's Wonderdogs outgained Stanford 525 yards to 31, but lost the game 25-22 before 34,084 fans in the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston on December 31, 1978.

Fumbles and penalties, missed PAT's and FG's and precision passing by All-American QB Steve Dils, enables the Cardinal to overcome a 22-0 deficit in the second half.

The Bulldogs played their best game of the season in running up an early advantage to the 22-0. They scored on their second possession in the first quarter, Rex Robinson kicking a 31-yd FG. On their third possession, Georgia's Buck Belue passed to flanker Carmon Prince 22 yards for a TD, but Robinson missed on the PAT to make Georgia a 9-0 leader.

As the half closed, Jeff Pyburn directed an 80-yard drive in seven plays as he spotted Prince for an eight-yard strike. Robinson was wide again on the PAT and Georgia led 15-0.

Georgia drove 75 yards to goal after the second half kick-off and took only six plays as Pyburn dove in from the one, making the score 22-0.

Two Bulldog fumbles accounted for Stanford's first pair of touchdowns, and their third tally came on a 14-yard pass from Dils to Ken Margerum. The two-point conversion was good, knotting the score at 22. The Cardinal recovered another Georgia fumble to set up their go-ahead field goal of 24 yards. Georgia came back strong, driving to the Stanford 14, but Robinson missed on a 31-yard attempt.

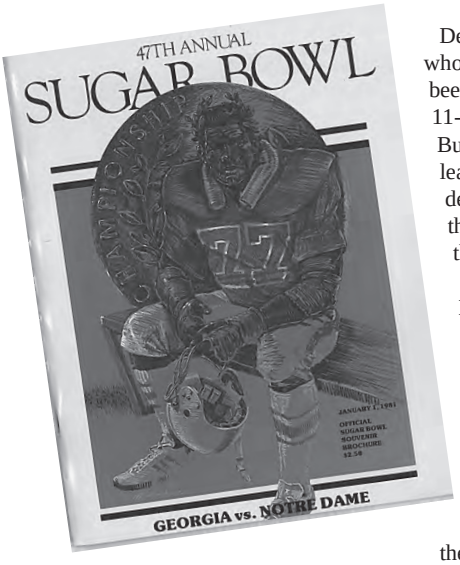
Georgia Whips Irish For 1981 Sugar Bowl Win And The National Championship



Determined to silence the critics who claimed that Georgia had been lucky in streaking to a perfect 11-0 regular season slate, the Bulldogs journeyed to New Orleans, No. 1 ranking in hand, and defeated Notre Dame, 17-10, in the 1981 Sugar Bowl to claim the national championship.

Played before a record Sugar Bowl crowd of 77,895 in the Louisiana Superdome, the game was one where Georgia capitalized on early Irish mistakes to take a 17-3 lead at halftime.

Notre Dame took the ball on the first possession of the contest from its own 20 all the way to the UGA 32 where kicker Harry Oliver booted a 50-yard field goal to give the Irish a 3-0 lead with 10:41 to go in the opening quarter.

Oliver tried another field goal moments later from the 48, but this time Bulldog freshman rover Terry Hoage slipped through the line to step in front and block the attempt, giving Georgia the ball at the ND49. Nine plays netted 20 yards and placekicker Rex Robinson was called on for a 46-yard field goal. The All-American was successful to tie the game at three apiece with less than two minutes remaining in the first period.

On the ensuing kickoff, Georgia capitalized on confusion among two Notre Dame return men, and Bulldog senior Bob Kelly recovered a loose football at the Irish one-yard line. Freshman marvel Herschel Walker, who would go on to gain 150 yards (the first 100-yard performance against the Notre Dame defense all season) and win the Miller-Digby MVP Trophy, dived on the second play for the touchdown. Robinson coverted the PAT and Bulldogs were up, 10-3, still in the first quarter.

Erk Russell's defense, which led the country in takeaways during the season, recovered another Notre Dame fumble early in the second period as Irish fullback John Sweeney was separated from the ball at the ND22 and Bulldog senior roverback Chris Welton pounced on it.

Walker broke an off tackle play for 12 yards to the ND10. Quarterback Buck Belue swept left for seven more to the Irish three-yard line, setting up a second and goal situation. Belue gave it to Walker and the 6-2, 220-pounder stormed into the endzone for his second score of the game. Robinson added the PAT and Georgia enjoyed a 17-3 lead.

Down 14 points, Notre Dame drove the second time it had the ball in the second half from its own 40-yard line to the G13. On a third down play there, Irish QB Blair Kiel dropped back, threw into the endzone to flanker Pete Holohan, only to watch Georgia's All-American cornerback Scott Woerner step in at the last minute to bat the pass away. Notre Dame's Oliver came in to kick a 30-yarder, but the ball sailed wide right.

The Irish finally got a touchdown after Georgia punted on the next possession. The passing of Kiel and running of tailback Phil Carter took Notre Dame 57 yards in 11 plays as the drive was climaxed by a one-yard plunge by Carter for the touchdown. Oliver booted the PAT and the Georgia lead was now 17-10 with :54 seconds of the third quarter showing on the Superdome scoreboard clock.

After Georgia was unable to move the ball, senior Mark Malkiewicz was called in to punt. The boot carried to the Irish 46 and Notre Dame, with momentum mounting, took over. Seven plays later, the Fighting Irish were at the G21 and fourth down staring them in the face. Oliver's 38-yard field goal attempt went wide to the left this time and the Bulldogs clung to their seven-point lead.

After two unsuccessful possessions by each team, Notre Dame got the ball one last time with 5:10 to go in the ballgame at the ND43. Carter ran around the end for seven yards to midfield. On second down, 6-1, 265-pound defensive guard Eddie Weaver caught Kiel behind the line for a four-yard loss, setting up a third and seven play. A Kiel-to-Nick Vehr pass got six yards back, making it fourth down, one yard to go.

A running play looked to be forthcoming, but Kiel surprised everyone when he faded back, looking for Dean Masztak, the big tight end, on the side line. One Bulldog, apparently not surprised by the call, was cornerback Woerner, who stepped up in front of Masztak for the interception (his second of the game) at the G34. Only 2:56 remained.

Runs by Belue and Walker gave the Bulldogs a first down at the G47. Two plays after that, Georgia recorded the biggest first down of the game when Belue hit his very first completion of the day on a seven-yard pass to senior flanker Amp Arnold. Walker got the Bulldogs another first down at the ND 38, where Georgia ran off three plays and watched the clock expire, prompting a sea of UGA fans to engulf the playing field for the national championship celebration.

Pitt Edges Bulldogs 24-20 In 1982 Sugar Bowl

Pittsburgh QB Dan Marino hit tight end John Brown on a fourth-down, 33-yard TD pass with just 35 seconds left to give the Panthers a come-from-behind 24-20 win over Georgia in the 1982 Sugar Bowl, dashing the Bulldogs' hopes for a second straight national championship.

Perhaps the most exciting of the holiday games of '82, the Pitt-Georgia matchup had six lead changes for the 77,224 who were in attendance at the Superdome.

Early in the fourth quarter it was Pittsburgh which capitalized on a Dog fumble at the G23. Four plays later, QB Marino found John Brown open for a six-yard TD play. The conversion put the Panthers, 17-13 with 11:40 to play in the game.

But the Bulldogs, entering the game ranked No. 2 in the country, weren't quite through yet. Taking over on the G20, Georgia drove the distance in 10 plays, climaxing the drive with a Buck Belue-to-Clarence Kay TD pass from six yards out. Kevin Butler's PAT put the lead in Georgia's favor, 20-17, with 8:31 remaining.

Each team failed on a possession and, with 3:46 left, the Panthers got the ball on the P20. Eleven plays later, they were at the G33, fourth down and five. Seconds later, TE Brown was in the endzone on the receiving end of Marino's game-winner.

Penn State Clips Dogs 27-23 In 1983 Sugar Bowl

After staking Penn State to a 20-3 second-quarter lead, the Bulldogs staged a great comeback but came up short, 27-23, to the Nittany Lions before 78,124 in the '83 Sugar Bowl Classic. The outcome foiled Georgia's chances for another national championship and a perfect 12-0 season.

Trailing 20-3 with only :39 remaining in the first half, Georgia took over on its 34-yard line. Lastinger completed four of five pass attempts, the final completion coming on a 10-yard scoring play to Herman Archie. Butler's PAT cut the deficit to 20-10 at intermission.

The Bulldogs took the second half kickoff and drove 69 yards in 11 plays as Herschel Walker, who netted 103 yards on the day, ran in from a yard out. Penn State's lead now was only 20-17.

The Nittany Lions took possession late in the third quarter at their 19. Six plays advanced the football to the G47. From there, Blackledge found his receiver Garrity, who made a diving catch in the endzone for a TD. Gancitano's PAT increased the PSU lead to 27-17.

Georgia didn't roll over, however. With 5:38 left to play, the Dogs took the ball at the P43 after a fumbled punt. Six plays later, Lastinger found TE Clarence Kay for a nine-yard TD pass. Only 3:54 remained. The two-point try failed and Georgia trailed 27-23.

Georgia could not prevent the Nittany Lions from getting two first downs and used up its allotted timeouts as Penn State ran out the clock. The game ended with the ball rolling into the Georgia endzone after a 62-yard punt from Ralph Giacomarro.

Georgia Upsets Texas 10-9 In 1984 Cotton Bowl

John Lastinger stretches for the winning TD in the final minutes.

Georgia senior QB John Lastinger ran 17 yards for a go-ahead TD with just 3:22 left on the clock to lift the Bulldogs to a 10-9 Cotton Bowl Classic triumph over No. 2 Texas before 67,891 in Dallas on Jan. 2, 1984.

The winning TD had been set up when Bulldog sophomore Gary Moss recovered a Craig Curry fumbled punt at the Longhorn 23-yard line. Lastinger called his own number on the third play from scrimmage and darted outside right for the TD.

Texas had one more possession, but the Bulldog defense rose up recording two sacks (Kenny Sims and Ed Moore) to back the Longhorns up from their 28-yard line all the way to their seven. Georgia took control and ran off the final 2:19 on the clock after converting a fourth down play at the Texas 36.

As expected going into the Cotton Bowl, defense was the key for both teams as there were just 13 first downs and three points each achieved in the first half. Texas grabbed an early 3-0 lead with 10:32 to go in the first quarter when freshman Jeff Ward booted a 22-yard FG. The Bulldogs, after Moss returned a punt 29 yards to the Longhorn 43 late in the quarter, used four plays to move to the Texas 26 where Butler came in and kicked a 43-yarder.

Ward added his second three-pointer on the day with 7:10 to play in the third quarter as he connected on a 40-yard field goal. After a Georgia fumble at the G37, the Longhorns moved 26 yards in eight plays to the G11 where Ward came on and extended the Texas advantage to 9-3 with 3:50 to play in the third quarter.

FSU Rallies To Tie Bulldogs In 1984 Citrus Bowl

Georgia placekicker Kevin Butler's attempt of a 70-yard field goal fell just a foot short as time expired in the '84 Florida Citrus Bowl, enabling favored Florida State to hold off the upstart Bulldogs and earn a 17-17 tie before 51,821 in Orlando on Dec. 22, 1984.

The Bulldogs, who had hoped to use the Citrus Bowl as the start of their 1985 season, stormed out to a 14-0 halftime lead. Florida State battled back to tie the score through the efforts of a talented offense and an aggressive punt rush with under four minutes remaining.

After averaging 35.3 points a game, the Seminoles were held to just 10 points through three quarters until noseguard Lenny Chavers blocked a Chip Andrews punt, which was picked up by teammate Joe Wessel for a Seminole touchdown. Darrin Holloman's sweep around the left side gave FSU a two-point conversion and knotted the game at 17 late in the fourth quarter. The Dogs tried to repeat the miracle they had staged earlier in the season against rival Clemson in which they drove up field in the closing seconds enabling All-American Kevin Butler to kick a conference record 60-yard FG and secure a Georgia victory. FSU's defense proved to be a bit stiffer than that of Clemson, and after three incomplete James Jackson passes, Georgia coach Vince Dooley called on Butler once again, but his kick fell just short of the crossbar and the game ended deadlocked at 17.

Although disappointed with a tie, Georgia walked off the field encouraged by the play of their underclassmen. Freshman QB James Jackson saw his first stretch of extensive playing time and responded by earning the game's Most Valuable Player trophy. The game's most valuable offensive player was another Georgia freshman, TB Lars Tate, who scored both of Georgia's TDs. Senior CB Kevin Harris was awarded Defensive Player of the Game, giving the red and black a clean sweep of the awards ceremony.

Dogs, Wildcats Tie 13-13 In 1985 Sun Bowl Game

A Sun Bowl crowd of 52,203 saw the Georgia Bulldogs rally for 10 fourth quarter points to pull even with the Arizona Wildcats, 13-13, then watched as both teams miss potential game-winning field goals in the final two minutes to preserve the tie.

Georgia struck first, marching 72 yards in 13 plays to set up a 37-yard FG by Steve Crumley. Crumley, who had pulled a muscle in his kicking leg before the final game of the regular season, reinjured himself on the kick, however, and was unable to continue.

Arizona responded on the following possession to tie the game, driving to the G1 before an illegal procedure penalty on fourth down forced the Cats to call upon All-American Max Zendejas to tie the score at three from 21 yards.Zendejas added a 52-yarder, and the the Wildcats made it 12-3 when Martin Rudolph picked off QB James Jackson's pass and returned it 35 yards for a TD. Georgia backup kicker Davis Jacobs was true on a 44-yard field to close the gap to 13-6.

With 12:35 to play senior DB Tony Flack recovered RB James Debow's fumble at the A23 to set up what would be the game's last score behind Tate on the ground. With 1:14 left, Jacobs missed a 44-yard field goal.

Georgia held Arizona until the Wildcats gambled on fourth-and-two from their own 36, and David Adams rambled for 25 yards on a draw play with DL Henry Williams executing a game-saving tackle at the G39. The Wildcats drove to the 22, called time out, and Zendejas' 39-yard attempt went wide and Georgia averted a last-second defeat.

B.C. Edges Dogs 27-24 In 1986 Hall of Fame

Boston College scored a five-yard TD pass with 32 seconds remaining to nip Georgia, 27-24, in the first Hall of Fame Bowl held at Tampa on Dec. 22, 1986, in front of 25,368 in Tampa Stadium.

The last second win spoiled a brilliant comeback from a 13-point halftime deficit by Georgia which actually took the lead, 24-20, with a five-yard TD run by QB James Jackson with 11:51 left in the game.

The Bulldogs, after scoring first to lead 7-0, watched Boston College score 20 straight points before halftime.

Georgia came out in the third quarter to score 10 points and added another seven in the final period to take the lead. B.C. got the ball the final time with 2:38 left and drove to the Georgia 27 when an incomplete fourth-and-two pass appeared to have iced the game for the Dogs. But a pass interference penalty gave the Eagles new life and three plays later, they scored on a five-yard TD toss.

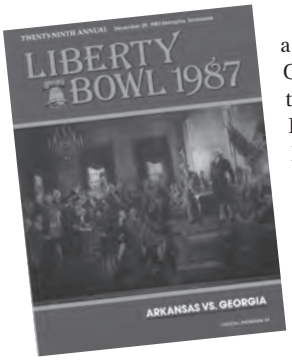
Kasay Kick Defeats Arkansas In 1987 Liberty Bowl



Freshman placekicker John Kasay booted a 39-yard field goal with no time left to give Georgia a 20-17 come-from-behind victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks before 53,249 fans at Liberty Bowl Stadium in Memphis, Tenn., on Dec 29, 1987. The victory provided Georgia with its first nine-win season since 1983 and the first victory over Arkansas after two previous attempts.

Bulldog QB James Jackson was the Georgia most valuable offensive player after rushing for 72 yards and completing 15 of 25 passes for 148 yards. Bulldog LB John Brantley was the Georgia most valuable defensive player.

Kasay's game-winning kick was set up when Georgia cornerback Carver Russaw intercepted an Arkansas pass and ran it back to the Razorback 43-yard line with 46 seconds to play. Arkansas had missed a 35-yard field goal with 1:42 left which would have given them the lead. The Bulldogs ran three plays to set up Kasay's, kick the big one being a Jackson-to -Sadowski pass for 16 yards to put the Dogs in field goal range.

Georgia had trailed at halftime, 10-7, and Arkansas took the second half kickoff and drove for a touchdown to take a 17-7 lead with 11:35 left in the third period. But the fourth quarter belonged to Georgia.

Kasay kicked a 24-yard FG with 14:57 left to cut the lead to 17-10, and James Jackson scored on a five-yard run to tie the score at 17.

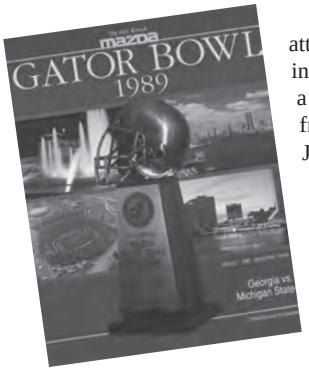
Dogs Use New Tricks To Win 1989 Gator Bowl



Largely discarding their trademark rushing attack, Vince Dooley's Bulldogs took to the air in the 44th Mazda Gator Bowl en route to a 34-27 victory over the Michigan State in front of 76,236 fans in Jacksonville, Fla., on Jan. 1, 1989.

Georgia not only secured its second straight 9-win season but handed Dooley the 201st, and final, win of his illustrious 25-year coaching career. QB Wayne Johnson, who was named Georgia's MVP for the game, had a career-high 227 yards and three touchdowns. Two of Johnson's three TD strikes went to tailback Rodney Hampton, who also carried the ball 10 times for 109 yards and a TD.

Georgia took a 7-0 lead on a 6-yard Johnson-to-Hampton touchdown pass. By halftime, the Dogs led 17-7. Georgia scored again in the third when Johnson capped a 64-yard drive with an 18-yard pass to tight end Kirk Warner.

MSU closed the gap to 27-20 with 14:24 to play, but the Dogs countered on their next possession when Hampton raced 32 yards for his third touchdown. The Spartans scored once more, but Georgia, which finished the season ranked 15th, hung on for a 34-27 win.

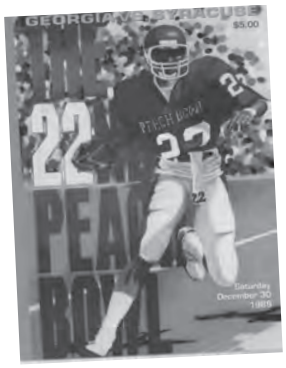
Syracuse Nips Georgia 19-18 To Win '89 Peach



With :25 left in the game, Syracuse PK John Biskup booted a 26-yard field goal to lift the Orangemen over the Bulldogs, 19-18, in Atlanta at the 22nd Peach Bowl on Dec. 30, 1989.

Despite putting together an impressive opening drive and coming up with several big plays, the Dogs couldn't sustain a balanced offensive attack throughout the game. Georgia's leading rusher Rodney Hampton was held to 32 yards on the ground, while Syracuse TB Michael Owens ran for 112 yards on 14 carries. The Georgia passing attack was limited to 88 yards, the first time all season the Dogs were held under 100 yards in the air.

Georgia opened the game with a 66-yard drive, capped off by a 5-yard TD pass from QB Greg Talley to tight end Kirk Warner. Syracuse answered with an 80-yard drive of its own, with Owens scoring from one yard out.

In the second quarter, Syracuse suffered from three miscues, but managed to stay close. The first came when Georgia linebacker Mo Lewis set a new Peach Bowl record with a 77-yard interception return to the Syracuse five. The Bulldogs were unable to get into the end zone, however, and had to settle for a John Kasay field goal. In the second half, the Orangemen gave up a safety, and Georgia added a TD for an 18-10 edge going to the fourth.

Syracuse rallied, first with a 94-yards drive to close to 18--16. Then, Biskup's field goal lifted the Orange over Georgia in the closest Peach Bowl since 1973.

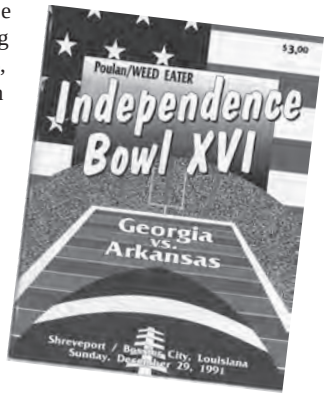
Georgia Beats Arkansas 24-15 In '91 Independence



Georgia completed the 1991 phase of "Operation Turnaround" by beating the Arkansas Razorbacks 24-15 in front of 46, 932 fans and an ABC-TV national television audience in the 1991 Independence Bowl.

The Bulldogs jumped out to a 14-0 lead behind two scoring strikes thrown from Eric Zeier to Arthur Marshall and Andre Hastings stretching their lead to 17-0 on a 39-yard FG by freshman Kanon Parkman.

The Razorbacks battled back and got on the scoreboard with a 7-yard run by the Hogs' leading rusher, E.D. Jackson. The run capped off an eight-play 37-yard drive by the Razorbacks.

The second half continued to be a showcase for the play of Hastings and Zeier and the ball-hawking Georgia defense led by junior linebacker Torrey Evans.

Georgia's defense forced Arkansas quarterback Jason Allen into throwing five interceptions. Evans came off the bench for the injured John Allen and played brilliantly, recording four tackles, an interception and fumble recovery to earn defensive MVP honors.

The game's offensive MVP, Hastings caught four passes for 94 yards and outran all pursuers on a third quarter 53-yard reverse that put the Bulldogs out front 24-7. The Hogs added eight points in the fourth quarter, but it was too late, the Bulldogs had won the Independence Bowl.

Dogs Beat Ohio State In 1993 Florida Citrus Bowl

Georgia secured its best finish in a decade, including a top-10 final ranking and the first 10-win season since 1983, with a 21-14 victory over Ohio State. A New Year's Day crowd of 65,861 attended the 47th annual Florida Citrus Bowl.

Offensively, Georgia found ball control to its liking in the first quarter as it opened the game with its longest touchdown drive of the season. The Bulldogs drove 80 yards in 14 plays, grinding up 6:18 on the game clock, to take a 7-0 lead. Georgia then opened it up in the second quarter, calling for passes on five of its first eight plays. An Eric Zeier fumble just inside OSU territory proved costly as the Buckeyes drove 54 yards to paydirt in 11 plays for a 7-7 halftime tie.

After the break, Andre Hastings ignited the Dogs' offense on the opening kickoff of the second half with a spectacular 49-yard return. Then from the OSU 45, Garrison Hearst gained all 45 yards on four carries en route to a 14-7 Bulldog advantage. But after a short punt by Georgia, which the Buckeyes returned to the UGA 33, Ohio State seized the opportunity and tied the game again, 14-14, on a five-yard run by Robert Smith.

Slowly, the Buckeyes had taken control of the game's momentum and after a 45-yard completion to Smith to the UGA 15, it appeared Ohio State would take its first lead of the game. But quarterback Kirk Herbstreit fumbled, and the Bulldogs drove 80 yards in 11 plays to take the victory. A final Buckeye drive ended with a desperation pass intercepted in the endzone.

Virginia Rallies For 34-27 Win In 1995 Peach Bowl

At the Peach Bowl, two of the nation's most fatestruck teams took to Atlanta's Georgia Dome in search of season-ending consolation. Although the Bulldogs entered the contest as underdogs, Georgia again battled back from adversity, this time a 14-0 deficit with 4:09 left in the first quarter, only to lose in the closing minute. Virginia's Demetrius Allen proved the difference, returning a Kanon Parkman kickoff for an 83-yard TD with :57 remaining.

Sophomore QB Hines Ward engineered the Georgia comeback, lighting up the Cavalier secondary for 413 yards on 31 of 59 passing. Figure in another 56 yards rushing, and Ward had set new Georgia bowl records for pass attempts, completions, yards passing and total offense. However, a pair of first-quarter interceptions and a blocked Dax Langley punt led to an easy 14 points for Virginia and considerable red and black frustration.

Once again, Georgia's defense kept the team's hope alive. Besides limiting Virginia to 256 yards total offense, the UGA "D" even gave the 70,824 audience a temporary charge when defensive tackle Jason Ferguson returned UVA's Walt Derey fumble 10 yards for a TD—Georgia's first tie of the game (27-27) with only 1:09 left.

Bobo, Edwards Lead UGA Past Badgers in '98 Outback Bowl

Mike Bobo

Mike Bobo completed 26 of 28 passes for 235 yards and one touchdown and running back Robert Edwards ran for three more scores as Georgia defeated Wisconsin 33-6 before an Outback Bowl crowd of 56,186 and an ESPN national television audience.

Bobo, who earned MVP honors, set an Outback Bowl record for best completion percentage (92.8). He also set Outback and Georgia records for consecutive completions with 19. Edwards set a Georgia bowl mark and tied an Outback record with three rushing touchdowns. Senior Hines Ward set an Outback Bowl record for receptions and yardage with 12 catches for 122 yards.

Georgia sported a new look for the Outback Bowl, donning black pants instead of the traditional "silver britches" to go along with the Bulldogs' white jerseys and red helmets. "The players came to me a while back and requested we do something special for the bowl game," Georgia head coach Jim Donnan said. "The idea the players liked best was wearing black pants. After discussing it with (athletic director) Coach Dooley we decided to go along with the players' suggestion for this game."

Georgia Rallies Past Virginia In 1998 Peach Bowl

Olandis Gary

No. 19 Georgia rallied from an early second-quarter deficit of 21-0 to post a thrilling 35-33 win over 12th-ranked Virginia. A Peach Bowl record crowd of 72,876 in Atlanta on Dec. 31, 1998 was in attendance for the memorable comeback.

Virginia capitalized on three second quarter interceptions by Georgia freshman Quincy Carter, turning each of them into a touchdown to build a 21-0 lead. Georgia got on the scoreboard when Carter connected with senior Tony Small on an 11-yard score with 1:15 left in the second quarter.

Georgia got its first lead of the night when Olandis Gary capped a 67-yard drive with a 2-yard run on the Dogs' first possession of the fourth quarter. The Bulldogs then built an 8-point lead when Carter called his own number on a quarterback sneak from the one-yard-line with 7:01 remaining.

Georgia staved off the Cavaliers late by stopping a 2-point conversion and then watching as their last-ditch field goal sailed wide left with just 19 seconds remaining.

Record Comeback Highlights '00 Outback Win over Purdue

Georgia kicked off the new year by staging the largest comeback in bowl history, scoring 28 unanswered points to defeat Purdue 28-25 in overtime at Raymond James Stadium in front of 54,059 in a game broadcast by ESPN.

Purdue jumped out to an early lead in the first quarter behind three Drew Brees touchdown passes. In the second quarter Brees threw his fourth touchdown pass to Chris James. Purdue missed three of the four extra point opportunities to lead 25-0 with 10:38 left in the first half.

Georgia got its first points of the game on a Terrence Edwards 74-yard touchdown run off an option reverse to cut the lead to 25-7. Quincy Carter, who had 243 yards on 20 of 33 passing with two touchdowns (one rushing, one passing), helped continue the Georgia surge when he scored on an eight-yard run with 4:22 left in the third quarter. Patrick Pass made the two-point conversion to move the score to 25-18.

The Bulldogs tied the score at 25 with just 1:19 left in regulation, when Randy McMichael caught a Carter pass over two defenders for an eight-yard touchdown. In overtime, Georgia managed to stop Purdue on its first drive when Dorsch missed a 43-yard field goal. After two Pass rushes for 19 yards, Hap Hines nailed a 21-yarder to cap the Bulldogs' come from behind victory.

Georgia Cruises Past Virginia In 2000 O'ahu Bowl

Terrence Edwards

The 24th-ranked Georgia Bulldogs (8-4) defeated Virginia 34-17 in the 2000 Jeep O'ahu Bowl in front of an Aloha Stadium crowd of 24,187 and an ESPN television audience on Christmas Eve.

Georgia jumped out to a 17-0 lead in the first quarter. The Bulldogs got on the board with a 35-yard field goal by freshman kicker Billy Bennett. On the Bulldogs' next series, one play after a successful fake punt, Edwards scampered 40 yards into the end zone on a reverse to give Georgia a 10-0 lead. On Virginia's next possession, freshman safety Kentrell Curry recovered a Cavalier fumble in the end zone for the 17-0 lead.

The Cavaliers pulled within 24-14 in the third quarter as senior linebacker Byron Thweatt returned a Georgia fumble 58 yards, but that was as close as Virginia would get. Georgia added two more touchdowns for the final margin, a 21-yard pass from sophomore quarterback Cory Phillips to freshman receiver Damien Gary and a four-yard fumble return by sophomore safety Cap Burnett after senior linebacker Kendrell Bell knocked the ball loose.

Edwards was named MVP after leading UGA in both receiving and rushing with eight catches for 79 yards and five rushes for 97 yards and one touchdown.

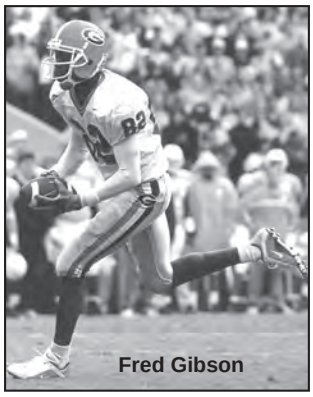
Eagles Edge Dogs In 2001 Music City Bowl



Fred Gibson

Running back William Green scored a 7-yard touchdown with 4:43 remaining to lift Boston College to a 20-16 win over Georgia at the Music City Bowl.

Running back Verron Haynes capped his Georgia career with 132 yards on 27 carries, including a 1-yard scoring run in the third quarter. That touchdown gave the Bulldogs a 16-10 lead.

The Bulldogs began the game with some trickery when Fred Gibson took the opening kickoff and gave a reverse handoff to Decory Bryant, who raced 86 yards to the Boston College 18. On Georgia's second play, Greene found Gibson on a swing pass and he fought his way into the end zone from 15 yards out.

Boston College grabbed the lead in the second quarter when quarterback Brian St. Pierre threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to receiver Dedrick Dewalt. The play was set up by Green's 75-yard run, the longest play allowed by the Bulldogs this season.

Sciortino then converted from 26 yards out to give the Eagles a 13-7 lead. The Bulldogs answered with Bennett's 24-yard field goal as Georgia trailed 13-10 at the break. Haynes' third-quarter touchdown gave the Bulldogs their final lead of the contest.

2003 Dogs Gets Record 13th Win In Nokia Sugar Bowl

Terrence Edwards

Georgia bowl MVP Musa Smith rushed for 145 yards and Billy Bennett kicked four field goals as Georgia defeated Florida State 26-13 before 74,269 fans in the Nokia Sugar Bowl. Georgia completed the season at 13-1, the most wins in school history.

The Bulldogs' defense forced three turnovers by the Seminoles, including cornerback Bruce Thornton's 71-yard interception return for a touchdown. Nose tackle Ken Veal's fumble recovery led to one of Bennett's four field goals.

Bennett staked the Bulldogs to a 3-0 lead in the first quarter . The Seminoles took their only lead of the game in the second quarter as quarterback Fabian Walker found receiver Anquan Boldin on a 5-yard scoring toss. Thornton's second-quarter interception and score gave Georgia the lead for good.

Bennett pushed the advantage to 20-7 by drilling a 42-yard field goal early in the third quarter. On FSU's next possession, Veal's fumble recovery set up a third Bennett field goal, pushing Georgia ahead 23-7.

Georgia Defeats Purdue In OT In 2004 Capital One Bowl

David Greene

After scoring the game's first 24 points, Georgia needed a Kregg Lumpkin overtime touchdown run to hold off Purdue, 34-27, in front of a Capital One Bowl crowd of 64,565 and an ABC national television audience.

The Bulldogs opened the game with a nine-play, 68-yard drive culminating in a six-yard Fred Gibson touchdown pass from quarterback and offensive MVP David Greene (left). The Bulldogs used a Billy Bennett field goal and two more Greene TD passes--one each to Gibson and Reggie Brown--to open a 24-0 lead with 4:47 left in the first half.

Purdue answered with a touchdown and field goal to pull within 14, 24-10, at halftime.

Purdue scored the fourth quarter's first points on a Kyle Orton two-yard run with 9:11 left. Georgia then used up 4:44 on a 12-play, 57-yard drive ending in a 40-yard Bennett field goal. Late in the fourth, Purdue needed just three plays to go 66 yards and pull within three, 27-24, on a Kyle Orton three-yard touchdown pass. Ben Jones kicked a 44-yard field goal with 49 seconds left to tie the game at 27-all.

On the first possession of overtime, Lumpkin pushed his way into the end zone to give the Bulldogs a 34-27 lead. Purdue also drove inside the 10 yard line, but failed to convert.

Bulldogs Beat Badgers In 2005 Outback Bowl

David Pollack

Georgia (10-2) held off a late Wisconsin rally to defeat the Badgers 24-21 in front of 62,414 Outback Bowl fans at Raymond James Stadium and an ESPN national television audience.

It was the last game for several Bulldog seniors, including All-American DE David Pollack (right) whose three-sack performance earned him Outback Bowl MVP.

Overall, Georgia's defense stifled the Badgers' offense, allowing just 13 points while recording seven quarterback sacks and forcing and recovering two fumbles.

Wisconsin (9-3) took an early second-quarter 6-3 lead in a battle of field goals, but Georgia's offense came to life in the middle of the game. Senior QB David Greene connected on a 24-yard touchdown to Fred Gibson and later a 24-yard TD to senior Jeremy Thomas.

Freshman Thomas Brown notched his fourth 100-yard rushing game of the year with 111 yards on 16 carries, including a 29-yard touchdown run to give Georgia a 24-6 lead.

West Virginia Upsets Dogs In 2006 Nokia Sugar Bowl

Georgia was unable to overcome a 28-0 deficit and fell to West Virginia 38-35 in the 2006 Nokia Sugar Bowl in front of 74,458 fans at the Georgia Dome and an ABC national television audience.

Despite three touchdowns and 277 yards passing by quarterback D.J. Shockley, the Bulldogs' late rally fell short after they outscored the Mountaineers 35-10 to finish the game. Tailback Thomas Brown led Georgia with 78 yards rushing, including a 52-yard touchdown.

Kregg Lumpkin

West Virginia started the game's scoring with three touchdowns in the first quarter and went up 28-0 with 14:10 remaining in the second quarter. Georgia got its first points at the 12:58 mark in the second quarter on Kregg Lumpkin's career-long 34-yard touchdown run.

The Bulldogs managed to close the gap to 38-35 after Shockley connected with fellow senior Bryan McClendon for a 43-yard touchdown with 5:13 left in the fourth quarter. But West Virginia converted a fake punt in the game's final drive, enabling the Mountaineers to run the clock out.

Bulldogs Rally Past Va. Tech In 2006 Chick-fil-A Bowl

Georgia stormed back from an 18-point deficit to defeat 14th-ranked Virginia Tech 31-24 in the Chick-fil-A Bowl in the Georgia Dome in front of a bowl-record crowd of 75,406 and a national ESPN television audience.

Tony Taylor

Bulldog linebacker Tony Taylor (two interceptions) and quarterback Matthew Stafford (129 yards, 1 TD) were named the Defensive and Offensive MVPs. In the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs got scoring runs from tailback Kregg Lumpkin and fullback Brannan Southerland along with one of kicker Brandon Coutu's three field goals (including a Georgia bowl record 51-yarder) to complete the comeback.

Georgia led 3-0 after the first quarter, but then the Hokies built a 21-3 halftime edge. Taylor's interception at the start of the fourth quarter set up the game-tying touchdown, a 3-yard Lumpkin run. On the Hokies' next possession, Charles Johnson sacked Sean Glennon and caused him to fumble, which Quentin Moses recovered. It led to the go-ahead field goal by Coutu.

Bulldogs Blast Hawai'i To Win 2008 Sugar Bowl

The Bulldogs trounced previously undefeated Hawai'i 41-10 in the Sugar Bowl on New Years night from the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans, La. This was the most points the Bulldogs have ever scored in a bowl game as well as their largest margin of victory in a bowl game.

Thomas Brown

Georgia struck early against the Warriors, starting with a Knowshon Moreno 17-yard touchdown run with 9:42 in the first quarter. Moreno also had an 11-yard scoring run late in the first period.

Early in the second half, defensive end Marcus Howard sacked Warrior quarterback Colt Brennan on the goal line and recovered Brennan's fumble on the play for a TD, the first of his career. Thomas Brown got in on the scoring action with a one-yard scamper in the third quarter, and QB Matthew Stafford got into the books with an 11-yard TD pass to Sean Bailey midway through the second quarter.

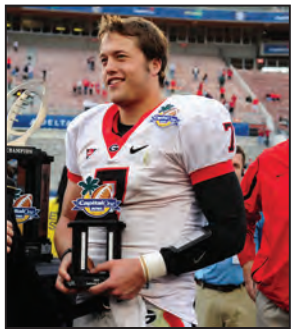
Bulldogs Notch 10th Win At 2009 Capital One Bowl

Matthew Stafford threw three touchdown passes in the final 18 minutes against Michigan State, as the Bulldogs posted a 24-12 Capital One Bowl victory in front of 59,681 fans and an ABC national television audience.



Matthew Stafford

The first half was ugly for Stafford, projected to be an early first-round NFL draft pick, and Georgia. He was just 6-for-14 with an interception in the first half and Michigan State (9-4) led 6-3. In the second half, he looked more like the quarterback NFL teams covet. He completed 14 of his final 17 throws, including three TD passes.

Stafford started the comeback by directing a 10-play, 96-yard drive midway through the third quarter. He went 6-for-6 for 92 yards and capped it with a 35-yard touchdown toss to Michael Moore. Stafford and Aron White hooked up on a 21-yard TD toss with 9 seconds left in the third quarter to put Georgia up 17-6.

Dogs Defeat Texas A&M For Independence Bowl Win

Georgia closed out the 2009 football season in dominant fashion as it defeated Texas A&M 44-20 in the AdvoCare V100 Independence Bowl in front of 49,653 fans in Shreveport, La.

After the Aggies tied the game early in the third quarter, Georgia scored 30 unanswered points to win with relative ease. The 44 points was a Bulldog bowl record.

Neither team scored until the final 2:33 of the second quarter, when Georgia followed an A&M touchdown with two quick scores before halftime, highlighted by Brandon Boykin's kickoff return.

A 49-yard field goal by Blair Walsh with 9:25 left in the third quarter gave Georgia the lead for good and started the string of 30 consecutive points.

Brandon Boykin

Georgia's defense, coached by defensive line coach Rodney Garner and graduate assistants Mitch Doolittle and Todd Hartley, was led by sophomore linebacker Marcus Dowtin, who had nine tackles. Junior linebacker Rennie Curran had eight, and junior safety Reshad Jones had five tackles and an interception.

No. 24 UCF Edges Bulldogs In 2010 Liberty Bowl

Georgia saw its four-game bowl winning streak stopped by dropping a 10-6 decision to #24 Central Florida in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl, marking Georgia's first postseason loss since the 2006 Sugar Bowl.

UCF's Latavius Murray scored on a 10-yard touchdown run with 9:01 left, and the Knights were able to stave off Georgia to post the victory. The Bulldogs had the ball last and converted two fourth downs before Kemal Ishmael knocked down Aaron Murray's final throw into the end zone as time expired.

A.J. Green

The Bulldogs also started both halves driving down field easily before bogging down and settling for field goals of 20 and 41 yards by Blair Walsh. These teams went to halftime tied at 3-3 after a first half in which both Georgia and UCF wasted chances at the end zone.

No. 12 MSU Rallies Past Bulldogs In 2012 Outback Bowl

Tavarres King

Georgia dropped a 33-30 decision to Michigan State in a thrilling three-overtime game in the Outback Bowl in front of 49,429 fans and a nationally televised ABC audience.

Bulldog junior Tavarres King set a school-record with 205 yards receiving on six catches, including a career-long 80-yard TD. Defensive back Brandon Boykin, who was named the MVP of the game, forced a safety, returned a punt 92 yards for a TD and scored on a 13-yard run.

With 2:06 left, MSU quarterback Kirk Cousins led a 10-play 85-yard drive that tied the game at 27-27 to send it into overtime. After an interception by Bacarri Rambo on MSU's first possession, Georgia senior Blair Walsh missed a 42-yard field goal to send it to another overtime. Both teams exchanged field goals in the second OT. The Spartans opened the third OT with a field goal that gave them a 33-30 lead. Georgia had a chance to tie it again, but its 47-yard field goal attempt was blocked, sealing the win for the Spartans.

Bulldogs Defeat Nebraska In 2013 Capital One Bowl

Chris Conley

No. 5 Georgia handed the 21st-ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers a 45-31 loss in front of 59,712 fans and a national TV audience in the Capital One Bowl.

On the second Georgia drive of the game, Aaron Murray capped an 80-yard drive with a 29-yard completion to Arthur Lynch.

Nebraska answered with a pair of TDs to take a 14-9 lead, but the lead didn't last, as Todd Gurley rushed for a 24-yard TD. The Huskers responded with a six-play, 44-yard drive that resulted in a 39-yard field goal that made it a 23-17 game midway through the second quarter. After a Georgia three-and-out, Nebraska took a 24-23 lead on a 16-yard pass to Rex Burkhead.

On the opening drive of the second half, Nebraska scored on a two-yard TD run by Burkhead that extended Nebraska's lead to 31-23. Georgia answered on the following drive with a 49-yard touchdown grab by Chris Conley. Georgia scored TDs on its next two possessions to take a 45-31 lead and seal the bowl victory.

Nebraska Holds On For 2014 TaxSlayer.com Gator Bowl Win

Todd Gurley

No. 23 Georgia Bulldogs sustained a 24-19 loss to Nebraska in the TaxSlayer.com Gator Bowl in front of 60,712 fans in Jacksonville and a national ESPN audience.

After a scoreless first quarter, Hutson Mason led Georgia on an 12-play, 38-yard drive that produced a Marshall Morgan 39-yard field goal. Nebraska, however, took advantage of a fumbled punt return by the Bulldogs to take a 7-3 lead with 9:05 left in the second quarter. The teams traded field goals to complete first-half scoring with the Huskers holding a 10-9 edge.

Nebraska forged ahead 24-12 with touchdowns on its first two possessions of the second half. The latter came on a 99-yard pass from Tommy Armstrong, Jr. to Quincy Enunwa with 4:58 left in the third quarter.

Georgia scored its first touchdown of the game at the start of the fourth quarter when Hutson Mason passed for 25 yards to Todd Gurley. Later in the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs looked to take the lead, twice driving inside the Nebraska 20. Georgia was unable to convert on either fourth down, however, allowing Nebraska to come away with the victory.

Chubb, Bulldogs Power Past Louisville in 2014 Belk Bowl

Nick Chubb
Belk Bowl MVP

Nick Chubb rushed for a UGA-bowl record 266 yards to propel No. 13 Georgia past 20th-ranked Louisville 37-14 in front of a crowd of 45,671 and a national ESPN audience in the Belk Bowl at Bank of America Stadium in Charlotte.

Georgia struck first, taking a 7-0 lead on a nine-play, 60-yard drive in the first quarter. On 2nd-and-14, Hutson Mason connected with Chris Conley for a 45-yard touchdown that gave the Bulldogs a 7-0 lead after the Marshall Morgan PAT.

The Cardinals answered on the next drive, going 84 yards on nine plays to tie the game at 7-7. Gerald Christian scored the TD on an 11-yard pass from Kyle Bolin.

Already leading 20-7 at halftime, Georgia broke the game open late in the third quarter. Chubb's 82-yard run, starting at his own 3-yard line, paved the way for Sony Michel to score from two yards out with 5:41 left. After UL answered with a score, the Bulldogs put the game out of reach in the fourth period with a Morgan field goal and an 8-yard TD run by Chubb.

Godwin, Bulldogs Hold Off Penn State for TaxSlayer Win

Terry Godwin
Taxslayer Bowl MVP

After jumping ahead 24-3 in the third quarter, Georgia was able to hold on and beat Penn State 24-17 in the TaxSlayer Bowl at Jacksonville's EverBank Field.

Freshman Terry Godwin became the first non-quarterback to throw for a score for Georgia since 2005, and the first Bulldog wideout to throw for a score since 1998, when he hit senior Malcolm Mitchell in stride for a 44-yard strike for the first touchdown of the game. Later in the first half, he pulled in a 17-yard touchdown from Greyson Lambert.

After Sony Michel's third-quarter TD run pushed Georgia comfortably ahead, Penn State finally broke through on the first play of the fourth quarter. Backup quarterback Trace McSorley connected with Geno Lewis for a 17-yard score. Two drives later, McSorley hit DaeSean Hamilton for a TD that trimmed the margin to 24-17.

Georgia got the ball back and consumed most of the remaining 6:07 with a solid drive. Bulldog defenders, however, had to preserve the victory by batting down a 43-yard Hail Mary heave by McSorley on the final play.

Ground Attack Pushes Dogs Past TCU in Liberty Bowl Win

Sony Michel

The Georgia Bulldogs grabbed the school's 30th all-time bowl victory in a 31-23 win over the TCU Horned Frogs in the Autozone Liberty Bowl at the Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium in Memphis.

Georgia junior tailbacks Nick Chubb and Sony Michel combined for 268 total yards and three touchdowns. Chubb amassed 142 yards on the ground, including a 13-yard touchdown run that strengthened the Bulldogs' lead to eight points at 31-23 with 2:48 left in the game.

Michel, the Liberty Bowl Offensive MVP, supplied the Bulldogs with one rushing touchdown on 87 yards and another on 39 receiving yards. On the defensive side of the ball, sophomore lineman Trenton Thompson collected three sacks, a Liberty Bowl record, and was named Liberty Bowl Overall MVP and defensive MVP.

Georgia took its first lead of the game at 21-16 on a 4-yard pass from Jacob Eason to Javon Wims midway through the third quarter. The Horned Frogs answered late in the period with a short touchdown pass of their own. Rodrigo Blankenship's 30-yard field goal 90 seconds into the fourth quarter gave Georgia the lead for keeps.

Although the University of Georgia is now known as the home of Uga, the pure white English bulldog, several mascots led the Red and Black before Frank W. Seiler provided the current lineage beginning in 1956.

The Goat -- Feb. 22, 1892

Georgia's mascot for its first football game against Auburn, February 22, 1892 in Atlanta, Ga., was a goat. Old newspaper clippings indicate that the goat wore a black coat with red U.G. letters on each side. He also had on a hat with ribbons all down his high horns, and the Auburn fans yelled throughout the game "shoot the billy-goat."

Trilby, 1894

Trilby with owner Charles H. Black

In 1894, Georgia's mascot was a solid white female bull terrier owned by a student, Charles H. Black, Sr., of Atlanta. Trilby, named after a novel by George Du Maurier, served as the campus pet and mascot for the Chi Phi fraternity.

Disputing stories speculate the origin of the Bulldog nickname, and the story of Trilby provides yet another opinion: "...every day Trilby took herself down to old Herty field with her master for football practice. She ran signals with the best of them and became an accustomed figure on the athletic field...One morning, Trilby failed to appear for her breakfast and after a frantic search she was finally discovered proudly washing the faces of her newborn family, 13 white puppies...Late one dusky fall afternoon, Trilby appeared for a grid workout and scampering after her came her 13 children, darting through players' legs, barking and pace. 'Well,' suggested one of the players, 'Trilby has brought us a name, Bulldogs.' ...Every time a game was played on Herty Field, the boys would floss Trilby and her 13 offerings up with red and black ribbons, and so attired they have gone down in history as perhaps the first 'sponsors' in southern football." —Ruth Stanton Cogill (Atlanta newspaper)

"After the rein of Trilby and her family, chaos developed in the mascot department at the university. Many games had several, depending on which alumnus got his dog to the game first." —AJC, Nov. 18, 1962

Mr. Angel, 1944-46

Mr. Angel

Mr. Angel, a brindle and white colored English Bulldog owned by Eastman,Ga.,-physician, Warren Coleman, filled a void during some of the war years.

There was no mascot roaming the sidelines and Coleman took Mr. Angel to games and stood with him on the sidelines. His picture on the field and with the Georgia cheerleaders appears in the 1945 and '46 UGA annual, the Pandora.

Butch, 1947-50

Butch was a brindled English bulldog owned by Mabry Smith of Warner Robins, Ga. He was spotted by students who were attending the 1946 Georgia-Georgia Tech game in Athens, and the canine appeared to be suited for the mascot position. Smith agreed to loan Butch to the University during the football season along with a female puppy named Tuffy. The female died of a heart attack following the Georgia-Kentucky game in 1948, but Butch continued to serve. Spending the off-season at Smith's home in Warner Robins, Butch was tragically shot in the summer of 1951 by a policeman after the dog escaped from his pen and was found roaming the streets. Butch is buried behind Smith's business along Watson Boulevard.

In 2004 plans for a marker honoring Butch in his hometown were put into motion by longtime Warner Robins resident Guy Fussell.

Bronze statue of Mike

Butch was succeeded by Mike, another brindled English bulldog, owned by C. L. Fain. Mike lived in the field house on campus and died of natural canine causes in 1955. As his master's thesis, Gene Owens of Fort Worth, Texas, cast the bronze statue of Mike which is located at the entrance of Memorial Hall

Uga Takes the Field

In the last 100 years of intercollegiate football, Georgia's Uga has established himself as the nation's most well-known mascot. The line of pure white English bulldogs, which epitomizes everything Georgia, has been owned by the Frank W. "Sonny" Seiler family of Savannah, Ga., since Uga I first graced the campus in 1956.

Through the years, Uga has been defined by his spiked collar, a symbol of the position which he holds. He was given his name, an abbreviation for the university, by William Young of Columbus, a law school classmate of Seiler. Each of the Uga mascots is awarded a varsity letter in the form of a plaque, identical to those presented to all Bulldog athletes who letter in their respective sports.

As determined and published by the Pittsburgh Press, the University of Georgia is the only major college that actually buries its mascots within the confines of the stadium. Ugas I-IX are buried in marble vaults near the main gate in the embankment of the South stands. Epitaphs to the dogs are inscribed in bronze, and before each home game, flowers are placed on their graves. The memorial plot attracts hundreds of fans and visitors each year.

For the past 20 years, Uga's jerseys have been custom-made at the beginning of each season from the same material used for the players' jerseys. Old jerseys are destroyed.

Uga's on-field home is a permanent air conditioned doghouse located next to the cheerleader's platform, providing comfort in the heat of August and September. The custom-made doghouse is a gift from the Bahamian Bulldog Club of Nassau, Bahamas, through the courtesy of Fred Hazlewood.

Uga I, 1956-66
"Hood's Ole Dan"
Record: 53-48-6

Uga I

The current Uga line of solid white English bulldogs began with Uga I, Hood's Ole Dan, born Dec. 2, 1955, in Columbus. Uga I was given to Cecelia Seiler by a friend, Frank Heard of Columbus and appeared in his first game in the 1956 home opener. As recalled by Sonny Seiler, "...his original red jerseys were made by Cecelia. It was necessary to take up children's t-shirts to fit the dog in the right places. There is no telling how many of these jersey's he wore out. During the early games in Athens, especially the hot ones before he had a dog house, the large green hedges that surround Sanford Stadium afford welcomed shade in the heat of battle. Unfortunately, the hedges constantly tore these jerseys and new ones had to be made."

Record: 42-16-3

Uga I was succeeded by his son, Ole Dan's Uga at an impressive pregame ceremony at Homecoming, 1966. With the Georgia Redcoat Band lining the field, Uga II was led to the center of the field by Charles Seiler, son of Sonny and Cecelia. The student body erupted in a cheer that was picked up by the entire stadium, ''Damn Good Dog!''

Uga II had an impressive reign as he watched Georgia participate in five bowl games and win two SEC championships.

Born Oct. 9, 1972, Seiler's Uga III was present for Georgia football's finest moment as Herschel Walker took the Bulldogs to the 1980 national championship. He led Georgia to six bowl games in nine years and closed out his career in ultimate fashion winning the 1980 NCAA championship. Uga III retired on the 100th football game of his career, marking the season-opener of the 1981 season. He died just weeks later.

Uga IV was perhaps the most active of all the Georgia mascots, standing as the only one to attend a bowl game every year of his service (1981-89). He took over for Uga III in the 1981 season opener and over the next nine seasons, led Georgia to a record of 77-27-4. The highlight of his career was his personal appearance at the Heisman Trophy Banquet with Herschel Walker in New York on December 9, 1982. Uga IV was escorted through thebanquet hall by the president of the Downtown Athletic Club, and was earlier photographed with Herschel by photographers from across the country. The proud Bulldog donned his game jersey for the outing and added the formal touch of a collar and black tie. Uga IV was the first mascot invited to the Heisman Banquet.Declared ''Dog of the Decade'' by Vince Dooley in 1991, Uga IV was posthumously awarded the highest honor available to University of Georgia mascots — the Georgia varsity letter.

Otto

Although Otto was not pure white like his father, he was called upon to fill in for his younger brother, Uga IV, who injured ligaments in his left hind knee when jumping off a hotel bed before the Vanderbilt contest. In four games during the 1986 season, Otto led the team to a 3-1 record and also co-mascotted (along with Uga IV), a victory over instate rival Georgia Tech. After winning his first two games, fans cheered, "2-and-0 with Otto!" Dooley, serving as head coach during Otto's brief tenure, favored the substitute the most. "I have always had a great affection for those who came off the bench and performed, and he did that and had a great time," Dooley said. Otto is buried in the Seilers' backyard.

Uga V, 1990-99
"UGA IV's Magillicuddy II"
Record: 65-39-1

In the first game of 1990, Uga V officially began his reign as the Georgia mascot, taking over from his father Uga IV, who passed away at his home in Savannah on Feb. 26, 1990. Uga V was the last pup sired by Uga IV and was born on March 6, 1990.

Named in honor of one of the greatest Bulldogs, Dan Magill, former Assistant Athletic Director for Public Relations and longtime tennis coach and sports information director. Surprisingly, the Seiler family became aware that Uga IV's mate was expecting only 10 days before the litter was due. This notice came a week after Uga IV had passed away at his home in Savannah from kidney failure. There were only three pups in the litter and the last one born on March 6 was the only solid white male.

Uga V had been perhaps the most well known of all the Bulldog mascots, highlighted by his appearance on the cover of the April 28, 1997, Sports Illustrated which declared him the nation's best college mascot. Rocketed to stardom, he also appeared in Clint Eastwood's "Midnight In The Garden Of Good And Evil" — filmed in his hometown of Savannah, Ga. He died on Nov. 22, 1999, just over two months after his retirement.

Uga VI

Uga VI, 1999-2008
"Uga V's Whatchagot Loran"
Record: 87-27

In 2007, Uga VI became the winningest mascot in school history and owned a record of 87-27. The fall of 2008 would have been his 10th season after Uga VI reigned over more games than any other mascot with 114. He died on June 27, 2008. In his last game, the Bulldogs defeated Hawai'i 41-10 in the 2008 Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

The pregame passing of the bone ceremony from Uga V to his heftier and friskier son, Whatchagot Loran, took place at the 1999 Georgia-South Carolina contest. Only a year old at his coronation, Uga VI stood as the biggest of all the Uga mascots weighing in at 65 pounds — 20 pounds heavier than his father.

His first season climaxed in a magnificent come from behind victory over Purdue at the Outback Bowl in Tampa. The 2000 season ended in Hawaii, but due to the distance and a quarantine rule, Uga VI missed the O'ahu Bowl, marking the first time the Georgia mascot had missed the postseason game since the 1969 Sun Bowl.

Alongside first-year head coach Mark Richt, Uga VI saw his third consecutive 8-4 season, which included a 26-24 win at then-No. 6 Tennessee for the Bulldogs' first win in Knoxville since 1980.

Uga VI and Georgia experienced their best run in two decades during the 2002-05 seasons. That stretch included 44 wins, a pair of SEC titles and appearances in the Sugar, Capital One and Outback Bowls.

In 2007, Uga VI passed Uga IV (77-24-4) for the most wins of any bulldog in school history.

"Loran's Best"
Record: 16-7

Uga VII

The seventh in the Uga line of Georgia mascots was introduced to the Georgia people on Aug. 30, 2008, during pre-game ceremonies of the Bulldogs' season opener against Georgia Southern.

"Loran's Best" officially became "Uga VII," when he was introduced for the first time to the Sanford Stadium crowd prior to kickoff of the Georgia vs. Georgia Southern game. He was escorted onto the field by members of the Frank W. "Sonny" Seiler family of Savannah who have owned the continuous line of mascots since Uga I took up the mantle in 1956.

Uga VII passed away unexpectedly on Nov. 19 of heart-related causes. It was the Thursday before the final home game of the 2009 season and the Bulldogs did not have a live mascot at the game. Instead, a wreath was placed on UGA VII's doghouse, and the players wore a special UGA VII decal on their helmets to remember him. "Russ," the five-year-old half brother of Uga VII, served as the Bulldog mascot for the Georgia Tech game in Atlanta and helped his squad to a 30-24 win. He was the first substitute mascot since "Otto" in 1986.

Uga VIII

Born Sept. 12, 2009 in Savannah, Ga., Uga VIII is the grandson of Uga VI. He carried on the tradition of more than 60 years of all-white bulldogs bred by Frank "Sonny" Seiler and family.

Uga VIII was named in honor of Dr. Bruce Hollett from the University's School of Veterinary Medicine. Dr. Hollett has been a longtime caregiver for the famed line of English bulldogs. UGA VIII served six games in the 2010 season before he became ill and missed the AutoZone Liberty Bowl. He passed away with lymphoma on February 4, 2011.

("Russ", 2009-2012: 16-9)

Uga IX

"Uga IX, formerly "Russ," the half-brother of Uga VII, served as interim Bulldog mascot for a total of 25 games. He worked nine games during the 2009 and 2010 seasons after Uga VII and VIII passed away. He roamed the sidelines at all 14 games during the 2011 season. He then served for two wins at the beginning of the 2012 season before being promoted as Uga IX prior to the Florida Atlantic game on Sept. 15, 2012. His time as mascot included the 2011 and 2012 SEC Eastern Division championships, three road wins at Georgia Tech, a victory over Texas A&M in the 2009 Independence Bowl in Shreveport, La., and a win over Nebraska in the 2013 Capital One Bowl. He was the first substitute mascot since "Otto" in 1986.

Epitaph: He endeared himself to the Georgia people. His dedication to duty when called upon was exemplary.

Uga X
"Que"

Uga IX officially retired as the Bulldogs' mascot at the end of the 2014 season. After a three-month "audition" in that role, his grandson "Que" was formally crowned as his successor in a collaring ceremony prior to the Georgia-Georgia Southern game on Nov. 21, 2015. Que assumed the title of Uga X at the age of 2 1/2 years. During his audition, he made appearances at the Countdown to Kickoff event in July 2015, as well as Picture Day in August, before presiding over the entirety of the 2015 football season. Que capped his inaugural season by leading the team to a 24-17 victory over Penn State at the 2016 Taxslayer Bowl.

The Arch

Serving as the official symbol of the University of Georgia, the Arch was built in the 1850s and originally served as part of a larger iron fence securing the campus. Daniel Redfearn (BL 1909, BS 1910) is credited with making the Arch the sacred symbol of UGA. Recognized as one of the school's finest icons, students today hold the Arch in high regard as its three pillars represent the virtues of wisdom, justice, and moderation.

The "G"

In 1963 after becoming the Bulldogs' Head Football Coach, Vince Dooley redesigned the football uniform, choosing a red helmet with a black "G" on a white background as the dominant feature of the new uniform for the 1964 season.

He discussed with his staff that a forward-looking "G" would be an appropriate emblem for the helmet of the Georgia team. Dooley had just hired John Donaldson, former Georgia player from 1945 to 1948, as backfield coach. Donaldson was keen on the idea of a new image and volunteered his wife, Anne, who had a BFA in commercial art from UGA, to design a logo for the new Georgia helmet with the general specifications Dooley had outlined. Dooley accepted Anne's original "G" which fit his vision for a forward look to Georgia's new emblem.

Since the Georgia "G", though different in design and color, was similar to Green Bay's "G", Coach Dooley thought it best to clear the use of Georgia's new emblem with the NFL team. Athletic Director Joel Eaves called for permission, which was granted. However, since its inception in 1961, the Green Bay "G" has been redesigned several times and now looks like Georgia's original 1964 "G." Georgia is proud that the Packers apparently liked the special nuances of the Bulldogs' forward-looking "G".

Georgia's oval "G", eventually replacing Georgia's old block "G" as the official UGA symbol, has stood the test of time. It made its first appearance in the opening game in 1964 and was an immediate hit with the Georgia fans, especially after Dooley's first three teams were so successful—highlighted by the 1966 SEC Championship.

"Silver Britches"

Silver Britches were an innovation of Coach Wally Butts, who took over as head coach in 1939. The handsome pants complemented the bright red jersey and made for a striking uniform. Through the years, fans referred to the Bulldogs' silver britches in their chants and on banners, but the phrase really caught on in the early fifties with a cheer, banners, and colorful vests that proclaimed "Go, You Silver Britches." Coach Vince Dooley re-designed the uniform when he came in 1964 and used white pants; however, he re-instituted the silver britches in 1980 just prior to what turned out to be Georgia's national championship season.

The Chapel Bell

The ringing of the chapel bell after a Georgia victory is a tradition that continues even though freshmen are no longer ordered to do the chore. In the 1890's, the playing field was located only yards from the Chapel and first-year students were compelled to ring the bell until midnight in celebration of a Bulldog victory. Today students, alumni, and townspeople still rush to the Chapel to ring the bell after a gridiron victory.

"Glory, Glory"

Among the University's oldest and most lasting traditions is the school fight song, "Glory, Glory," which is sung to the tune of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." It was sung at games as early as the 1890's, but arranged in its present form by Georgia's immortal musician-composer Hugh Hodgson in 1915. There have been many Bulldog songs through the years and at least two collections dating back to 1909 have been published, but none have enjoyed more acceptance than "Glory, Glory."

"How 'Bout Them Dogs"

This is a slogan of recent vintage, but one that has become a battle cry of Bulldog fans probably because of its obvious grammatical slur. It first surfaced during the mid to late 1970's especially during the 1978 season when the Bulldogs posted several remarkable, come-from-behind victories. It gained national attention and exposure when Georgia won the national championship in 1980. A major wire service used the phrase in its story of Georgia's victory over Notre Dame and many newspapers picked it up in glaring headlines across the country proclaiming "How 'Bout Them Dogs!"

"Bulldogs"

Many oldtimers say Georgia acquired the nickname, "Bulldogs," because of the strong ties with Yale, whose nickname is "Bulldogs." Georgia's first president, Abraham Baldwin, was a Yale man and the early buildings on campus were designed from blueprints of the same buildings at Yale. However, the first references to the nickname "Bulldogs" actually came in the 1910's (1911-20) by Atlanta newspaper writers covering both football and baseball games. Although used occasionally during the previous decade, the nickname began to be consistently used around 1920.

On Nov. 3, 1920, Morgan Blake of the Atlanta Journal wrote about school nicknames and said "The Georgia Bulldogs would sound good because there is a certain dignity about a bulldog, as well as ferocity." After a 0-0 tie with Virginia in Charlottesville on Nov. 6, 1920, Atlanta Constitution writer Cliff Wheatley used the name "Bulldogs" in his story five times. Gene Hinton also used the term "Bulldogs." The nickname seemed to be off and running.

"Between The Hedges"

A reference to Sanford Stadium that dates to the early 1930's. The famous Chinese privet hedges that surround Sanford's playing field were only one foot high when the stadium was dedicated in 1929 and were protected by a wooden fence. It was natural for a clever sports writer, referring to an upcoming home game, to observe "that the Bulldogs will have their opponent 'between the hedges.'" At least one old-timer says the phrase was first coined by the legendary Atlanta sportswriter Grantland Rice.

"Lone Trumpeter"

Seven minutes before kickoff in Sanford Stadium, the Bulldog Nation directs its attention to a lone trumpeter standing in the upper deck of the southwest corner of the stadium. The soloist is recognized and begins to play the first 14 notes of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." The Battle Hymn solo was originally composed in 1987 as a student project by Jeff Simmons and became a part of the pre-game traditions in 2000. Each year, 25-30 members of the Redcoat Band audition for one of the 4-5 soloist positions.

Greg McGarity

J. Reid Parker
Director of Athletics

Athens native and University of Georgia graduate Greg McGarity was named Director of Athletics at UGA on August 13, 2010, after serving 18 years in the athletic department at the University of Florida.

Since that time, McGarity has emphasized exploring new ideas and initiatives designed to move the organization forward in all areas of competition, academics, service, and exceptional experiences for student-athletes and supporters.

McGarity oversees a 21-sport athletics program supported by a budget of $123 million. Since he became Director of Athletics, UGA teams have won national championships in women's swimming and diving (2013, 14, '16) and equestrian (2014) and SEC championships in football (2017), men's tennis (2011, '13, '14, '15, '16), men's tennis SEC Tournament (2012 and 2013), women's tennis (2013), women's tennis SEC Tournament (2014), women's swimming and diving (2011, '12, '13, '14, and '15), equestrian (2015), and three SEC eastern division titles in football (2011, 2012 and 2017). During McGarity's tenure as AD, 18 different Georgia teams have been ranked in the nation's top 20 and 10 in the top ten. Georgia's standing in the Learfield Directors' Cup, which annually measures athletic teams success in NCAA championships, has improved from 20th in 2011 to 10th in 2013 and is consistently in the top 20.

McGarity has also been a standard bearer for academic achievement. Since his arrival, Georgia student-athletes have been the recipients of 14 NCAA Post Graduate Scholarships, 28 CoSIDA Academic All-American awards, three NCAA Top Ten honors, three SEC Boyd McWhorter SEC Scholar-Athletes of the Year, and two SEC Brad Davis Community Service Awards. In the last six years, UGA has three winners of the SEC Boyd McWhorter Scholar-Athlete of the Year Award, two winners of the SEC Brad Davis Community Service Award, and one SEC Sportsmanship Award winner.

In addition, McGarity has been at the forefront of facility expansion and renovation. Among the major projects completed under his watch include the brand-new, $30 million Indoor Athletic Facility, adjacent to the Butts-Mehre Building; a $12 million Foley Field (baseball) renovation; new scoreboards/video boards at baseball, softball soccer; and numerous upgrades to Stegeman Coliseum. Also announced in March of 2017 was the West End Zone project at Sanford Stadium, which will give the Bulldogs a new locker room, provide a massive reception space for recruiting, and a wide-open plaza for fans to enter the stadium on game day.

McGarity was named recipient of the 2013 Tom Osborne Award presented by the Collegiate and Professional Sports Dietitians Association (CPSDA) for special achievement and contributions to advanced-practice sports nutrition. A 1976 graduate of UGA's Grady College of Journalism and Mass Communication, McGarity is a 2012 inductee into the Grady Fellowship, a recognition program to honor those whose influence, achievements and service to the media professions have enhanced the reputation of the Grady College.

He served on the NCAA Division I Football Issues Committee from 2012-14. McGarity is also currently serving on the NCAA National Letter of Intent Football Recruiting Group, SEC Fan Experience Working Group, and the U.S. Tennis Association Athletic Director's Advisory Group.

McGarity was a letterman on the 1973 Bulldog tennis team and after graduation began his professional career at UGA. After serving as a student assistant from 1973-77, he held positions as assistant sports information director and head women's tennis coach (1977-81), administrative assistant (1982-88), and assistant athletic director for facilities and event management (1988-92).

McGarity is married to the former Sheryl Holland, who graduated from UGA in 1976 with a Bachelor of Science degree in education. They have one son, Alex, a graduate of the University of Florida and the University of Georgia.

Jere W. Morehead

President
University of Georgia

Jere W. Morehead became the University of Georgia's 22nd President on July 1, 2013, having previously served as UGA's Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost since 2010.

President Morehead's career covers a wide range of faculty and administrative roles. Prior to 2010, he served UGA in several key administrative assignments, including Vice President for Instruction, Vice Provost for Academic Affairs, Associate Provost and Director of the Honors Program, and acting Executive Director of Legal Affairs. From 2003 to 2010, he served as the University's Faculty Athletics Representative. As UGA President, he also serves as Chair of the Georgia Athletic Association Board of Directors, Chair of the UGA Research Foundation, a UGA Foundation Trustee, and a UGA Real Estate Foundation Trustee.

President Morehead is a member of the Committee of Research Intensive Public Universities convened by the Association of Public and Land-grant Universities. He also chairs the Southeastern Conference Working Group on Compliance, Enforcement, and Governance, and he serves as a member of the NCAA Division I Presidential Forum.

President Morehead is the Meigs Professor of Legal Studies in the Terry College of Business, where he has held a faculty appointment since 1986. He is a co-author of several books and book chapters, including The Legal and Regulatory Environment of Business, and he has published scholarly articles on legal topics ranging from export controls to jury selection. He has served as editor-in-chief of the American Business Law Journal and previously held several other editorial board positions with the ABLJ.

He directed the UGA Law School's Advocacy Program from 1986 to 1995 at a time when the moot court teams he coached won international, national, regional and state championships. In 1995, he served as a visiting professor of business law at the University of Michigan.

President Morehead has received several University-wide teaching awards, including the Josiah Meigs Award—UGA's highest honor for teaching excellence, the Richard B. Russell Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching, the Teacher of the Year Award in the Terry College of Business, and the Lothar Tresp Outstanding Honors Professor Award. He also received the Distinguished Service Scroll Award, the Law School Alumni Association's highest honor, and has been included in Georgia Trend's list of Most Influential Georgians for four consecutive years.

Morehead is a native of Lakeland, Fla. He moved with his family to Atlanta as a teenager and enrolled at Georgia State University after graduating from high school at the age of 16. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in 1977. He entered the UGA School of Law in 1977, where he graduated with a juris doctor degree at the age of 23 in 1980. After graduation, he served as an Assistant U.S. Attorney with the Department of Justice from 1980 to 1986. He is the first alumnus of UGA to serve as President since 1986.

Jere W. Morehead was named UGA's 22nd President on July 1, 2013.

Don't ask Kirby Smart if Georgia is ahead of schedule. (But it is)

The Atlanta Journal-Constitution
By Mark Bradley
November 27, 2017

ATHENS — This time a year ago, even those who believed Georgia had needed a new coach wondered if the Bulldogs had bought in haste. To replace Mark Richt, they hired the only guy they interviewed. They hired a Georgia alum who hadn't been a head coach – and he'd gone 8-5.

A year later, Georgia is readying for the SEC championship game and a place in the College Football Playoff. A year later, nobody asks why Greg McGarity didn't grab Tom Herman, who in November 2015 was coming off a banner first season with Houston, or Jimbo Fisher, 23 months from leading Florida State to a national title, or Dan Mullen, who'd taken Mississippi State to the 2014 Orange Bowl. A year later, Kirby Smart seems not just the right choice but the only choice.

This isn't to suggest that Smart, after 25 games, is a fully minted Great Coach. With Tennessee and Florida falling to pieces, it would have been nigh-impossible for Georgia not to win the East. As good as the Bulldogs have been, they've really had only two chances to lose. (And lost one.) Smart is not yet Nick Saban. He probably won't ever be Nick Saban. If he is, he'll be one of the three best coaches in collegiate history and every Bulldog will have a decade of Merry Christmases.

But enough with the disclaimer. McGarity has gotten from Smart exactly what the athletic director wanted – a coach who would put Georgia in position to win championships. McGarity had decided Richt was no longer that man. That the Bulldogs are prepping to play in Atlanta on the first Saturday in December tells us that Smart was and is that man.

Beyond that, Smart has established a Bulldog baseline: If you're not here to win everything worth winning, you should be elsewhere. The transition from Richt to Smart – two men who bear little in common beyond five-letter surnames – was more difficult than anyone would have guessed. Such turbulence was, however, necessary. Georgia had to re-educate itself in the ways of championship football, which is the Saban Way, uprooted and replanted as the Smart Way.

After taking the Georgia job, Smart returned to Alabama for the playoff. Before the championship game against Clemson in January 2016, he was asked when he would have his next team playing for championships. He bristled at the question – he does that sometimes – and offered no real answer. On Monday, the same nettlesome reporter (blush) asked if the Bulldogs being positioned to win a championship means his program is on schedule.

"I've repeatedly said the same thing," he said, again looking irked. "There is no schedule for winning championships. ... The objective is to get the most out of every game. At the end of the season, we look back and ask if we did that."

Then: "Everybody wants to say, 'This is the schedule.' There is no schedule. The only thing there is, is what you have. Did you do the best with what you have?"

Georgia is 11-1. Most preseason forecasts had them going 9-3 or 10-2. That would seem to put them, ahem, ahead of schedule. But the reason Saban is Saban is because his teams never hit a dip. (OK, Alabama did go a wretched 10-3 in 2010.) That's surely the intent here. That's the reason for recruiting with the hunger of a program starved for talent. That's the reason Smart persists in his continuing-education forays.

After Ohio State stacked 537 yards on Smart's Alabama defense in the 2014 playoff semifinal, Smart called Herman – then the Buckeyes' offensive coordinator – to ask how they'd done it. Last year he commissioned Brian VanGorder, defensive-coordinator-to-the-world, to help prepare for Georgia Tech's stylized offense. (Didn't help.) This year he had his Bulldogs work on Tech in increments as the season went along. (Helped.) Smart is the kind of guy you'd hate to have as a teacher but, 10 years later, you're glad you took his class.

We saw it Saturday at Bobby Dodd Stadium. With Georgia rushing downfield at the end of the half, Isaac Nauta caught a pass and, rather than make for the sideline to stop the clock, sought to make a move and wound up getting tackled inbounds short of a first down. This forced Smart to burn a timeout. Nauta was met at the sideline by his head coach. If you think Smart hates questions about schedules, try depriving him a timeout.

The Georgia program isn't the warm and fuzzy place it was under Richt, which was kind of the idea. Richt's Bulldogs never played for a national title; Smart's bunch could do it in Year 2. Everything here is buttoned down. Player interview availibities are timed to the second. Everything runs on time.

Wait. Not quite everything. Smart was nine minutes late for Monday's media briefing. He offered an apology and an explanation. "Claude," he said, speaking of Claude Felton, Georgia's Hall of Fame publicist, "made me shave."

In Year 2, Kirby Smart shows how he deals with success, duress

By Steve Hummer
November 21, 2017

ATHENS — The second season of Kirby Smart at Georgia has bathed in the brightest kind of light that college coaching can attract. The second season – the one that has served as the ah-ha moment for some of the best in the profession – has likewise foretold a momentous future for Smart.

Those who were paying attention saw it coming, the Bulldogs' sudden rise from 8-5 in 2016 to championship contender in Smart's sophomore season.

"I really did," said CBS' point man on SEC coverage, Brad Nessler. "I thought the makings were there last year. He didn't have his system in yet. I don't know that the kids bought in yet. Then to have guys like Nick Chubb and Sony Michel and Lorenzo Carter come back (rather than enter the NFL draft), that's telling you they got the team, the coach who knows what he's doing and the seniors who want to come back and play for him."

As this pivotal Year 2 has played out, then, what more have we learned of Smart and his methods?

Here is something new: We got to see him at the top of the heap. After winning the first nine games of 2017 and sampling a largely symbolic No. 1 ranking, Smart demonstrated he could play the role of deflator-in-chief with the best of them, sticking hatpins into the premature notion that a team unranked just months ago had suddenly and fully arrived.

All those who have beaten Florida stand up, he challenged the team meeting room before playing the overmatched Gators last month. To his point, everyone remained seated, providing a powerful visual image.

As the season grew in importance, Smart also realized that his voice alone wasn't enough to sustain the theme. The wealth of senior leadership he had inherited was useful off the field as well.

So, he and his assistants planted their thoughts in the ears of the team leaders and let them filter down through the ranks. Smart had shown himself a believer in trickle-down motivation. With that, he gave some extra-credit homework.

"We had (the leaders) write some things down, and we passed that out and let the players see it.," Smart said. "It's easier to write it down sometimes rather than to say it, for a kid who is not used to getting up in front of the team. We've tried different tactics just to stay focused."

The oldest Bulldog, defensive lineman John Atkins, nailed the assignment.

"He called a couple guys in and told us to write out three things that stood out about the team and three things that could get in the way," Atkins said. "I wrote that I liked the physicality we play with, the grit we play with, the bond we play with. We don't give up. The bad, I talked about complacency, that's the worst thing you can get is complacent now."

These mini-essays, Smart read to the team.

And the Bulldogs kept winning, Smart sticking with the strategy of running the football, relying on defense and gently bringing along the freshman quarterback.

They settled accounts with Tennessee, Vandy and the Gators, those teams that had made Smart's first season so uncomfortable. There is one more to check off the list – Georgia Tech on Saturday.

And, all the while, Smart was like the slave of ancient days who stood behind a returning victorious Roman general, given the task of constantly whispering into the conqueror's ear, "All fame is fleeting."

Only Smart's chorus went like this: "Humility is just a week away."

Then, sure enough, humility arrived, delivered by a runaway truck with "Auburn" painted on the side instead of FedEx.

Following the jarring 40-17 loss to the Tigers, and the expected tumble down the playoff ranking, the Bulldogs then looked to Smart for a different kind of message.

Just as he had instructed all those in the program to resist becoming too giddy, now Smart was charged with making sure they didn't become too glum.

Demeanor became almost as important as blocking schemes.

"A lot of that demeanor is created through the body language of the coaching staff and training staff, the players, the leaders," Smart said. "How do they approach (the week)?"

Maintaining a constant, predictable disposition began with the head coach.

"The thing that shows up time and time again is his consistency," Bulldogs tight end Jeb Blazevich said of his coach. "He has a plan, and he sticks to it. Regardless of a heartbreaking loss or a tremendous win, we're going to stay with the plan. Things are not swayed by emotions, positive or negative. As a player, it sets expectations.

"If it's a great win, we can't say, 'Oh, man, we're going to get pats on the back, we're chilling today.' And if it's a loss, it's not, 'Oh, he's going to kill us today.' We're going to stay with the plan."

"We treat (every week) like dogs in a race when they have those things (blinkers) on," Atkins said. "Tunnel vision. Tune it out."

All the while, the face Smart turned to the purveyors of distraction hasn't changed a bit. In his second season, Smart has been as guarded and as no-nonsense with the media as he was at Day 1. It just may be a permanent state. And that has been pretty much the same for the local newspaper guy to the network TV personality. The coach remained consistent up and down the ranks of the media.

Followers of a certain program in Tuscaloosa may have noticed some parallels. Smart does not care to be cast as a clone of his previous employer, Alabama's Nick Saban. But Year 2 has done nothing to distance Smart from the obvious similarities.

Not that it's a bad thing.

"If the approach works, whoever your mentor might be, there's no reason not to follow it," Nessler said. "(Smart) maybe gets sick of hearing that, but you couldn't have had a better guy to show you how to do it. He does it very similarly. The practices are the same. The noise in the practices are the same. It's a mirror image. And I don't blame him for going that route."

Of most concern to the fan base is the second-year bump, that period of expected improvement after a new coach has had time to fully transfuse the program with his approach.

Saban is the poster coach for the second-year spike (from 8-4 first season at LSU to 10-3 his second; from 7-6 at Alabama to 12-2). Other cases are well-chronicled: Urban Meyer at both Utah (10-2 to 12-0) and Florida (9-3 to 13-1 BCS champion); Bob Stoops at Oklahoma (7-5 to 13-0 national champion) and, yes, Mark Richt at Georgia (8-4 to 13-1 SEC champion).

And, here, in 2017, we find two of the leading coach-of-the-year candidates to be guys enjoying great second acts – Smart and, oddly enough, Richt, the supplanted one at UGA now in Year 2 at his undefeated alma mater, Miami.

"I'd put them both on the very short list of coach-of-the-year contenders – those two, Lincoln Riley (Oklahoma), Scott Frost (Central Florida) and Jeff Tedford (Fresno State)," said Pat Forde, of Yahoo Sports, also a Bobby Dodd Coach of the Year voter. "And I'd probably put Richt and Smart at the top (in that order)."

"We'll wait until the end of the year and see – they're both doing a great job," said Nessler, another Dodd voter who has Richt and Smart at the top of his list.

Nessler then expresses the fondest hope of everyone committed to particularly savory storylines: "How good would it be if they both made a semifinal and played each other? That would be awesome."

To get that far and to be thrust into such intrigue would be the most telling experience yet for both men still learning their way in their current surroundings.

Georgia Bulldogs served urgent reminder on Senior Day

The Atlanta Journal-Constitution
By Steve Hummer
November 17, 2017

ATHENS — Senior Day at Georgia is a time to honor all those who have survived the full dosage of offseason mat drills, study halls, temptations to do the kind of stupid things that necessitate a transfer to Auburn and, in some cases, the gravitational pull of a NFL payday.

This particular Senior Day – Saturday afternoon, 3:30, the final home game of 2017, against Kentucky – is also a poignant reminder that the Bulldogs really, really need to wring the absolute most out of this next month-and-a-half.

This is the kind of mix that may not come along again in a generation. And the kind that has the bone fides of experience and talent upon which championships may be built.

You've got:

*The strong group on offense and defense made up of those who chose to return for a senior season rather than throw themselves to the fates of the NFL draft – running backs Nick Chubb and Sony Michel; Wolfpack linebackers Lorezoo Carter and Davin Bellamy.

*Grown men in important places playing against relative babes – John Atkins, who will be 25 before this year is done, in the middle of the defensive line and Aaron Davis, 23, on the back end of the D.

*Good, true hands in leading receiver Javon Wims and Jeb Blazevich (even if the tight end seems somewhat endangered in the current scheme).

*And, if you want to include the talented junior who just may move on after this season – leading tackler, by several miles, Roquan Smith – then the urgency of a coming SEC Championship game only deepens.

Taken together, "It's a special group. It's a special group because they have really good leadership," coach Kirby Smart said.

"These guys have meant a lot to this program. Meant a lot to me personally. Meant a lot to the staff. Meant a lot to this university," the coach said.

It is a uniquely seasoned collection that is largely responsible for positioning Georgia in the playoff mix, one whose football worldliness comes in very handy when a program is trying to make the leap from winning eight games one season to vying for titles the next.

Sure, Smart is a tireless, accomplished recruiter. He can be counted upon to remake the Bulldogs in the Alabama image, importing a heightened heft and physicality. As Brad Nessler, CBS' voice of SEC football, said the other day, "At Alabama, even the little guys are big. Georgia's getting that way now."

But do not assume that Georgia is fully in reload-and-replace mode. When you look at the current roster and all that will go away at season's end, there is the potential of a slight step backward, a momentary break in momentum. Taking anything else for granted would be just unearned hubris.

Yes, Senior Day is a celebration.

Chubb, Michel Leaving Mark on UGA, Record Books

Athens Banner-Herald
By Marc Weiszer
November 24, 2017

ATHENS — Nick Chubb, fresh off securing his third 1,000-yard rushing season at Georgia, is ready for his good friend Sony Michel to join him in a different club.

Michel needs 182 yards to give the Bulldogs a pair of 1,000-yard rushers in the same season for the first time in program history.

Georgia has at least three games remaining – Saturday against Georgia Tech, the SEC championship game against Alabama or Auburn and at least one postseason game.

"It would be very special," Chubb said. "I think he can do it. Sooner or later, he'll definitely break it."

Only three SEC teams have produced a running back duo of 1,000-yard rushers in the same season since Arkansas' Darren McFadden and Felix Jones did it in back-to-back years in 2006 and 2007.

Eddie Lacy and T.J. Yeldon became the first tandem in Alabama history to do it in 2012, Arkansas' Jonathan Williams and Alex Collins accomplished the feat in 2014, and Kentucky's Benny Snell and Boom Williams did it in 2016.

Seventh-ranked Georgia and second-year coach Kirby Smart have ridden the running game behind what soon should be the program's second and third leading career rushers.

Chubb is already No. 2 with 4,469 yards and Michel, with 3,229 yards, needs 57 more to move into the No. 3 spot passing Garrison Hearst and Todd Gurley.

"It gives you a confident coaching staff," Smart said. "Certainly you feel good about either guy being in. They don't have egos, that's what the beauty of those two guys is. Sony probably could have gone anywhere in the country, just like Nick probably could have. They chose to come together and what started as a really good rivalry has become one of the best friendships in college football."

That friendship has strengthened through ups and, yes, downs, including Chubb's season-ending knee injury in 2015.

Then there was their freshmen preseason camp when Gurley and Keith Marshall were ahead of them.

"At one point, we didn't like it, we both wanted to stop playing football," Michel said. "We kind of both were going through it at the same time while grinding through it, pushing through it. … Before we were able to have any kind of success on the field, we kind of went through the tough times together."

Michel said he and Chubb "feed off each other" and think very much alike. They are roommates, but the seniors don't compete much off the field.

"Just chill out, hang out at the house," Chubb said. Chubb likes to play video games, but they don't go head-to-head much in Madden football.

"I win, so he doesn't really like to play," Chubb said.

On the field, Chubb said, "We like to challenge each other, keep each other going. Knowing when he could play a little harder or I could play a little harder."

Michel sure sounded competitive when talking about the top speeds each recorded on Georgia's GPS tracking system during Saturday's 42-13 win against Kentucky when they combined for five rushing touchdowns. He said Chubb was recorded running 22.3 miles per hour during his 55-yard touchdown run, still behind Michel's season-best speed this season of 22.5, but ahead of his top on Saturday of 22.0.

"He's faster than me this week," Michel said. "He says he gets more opportunities than me when I'm running down on punt (coverage). ..We're in a speed battle right now."

Herschel Walker noticed Chubb's speed on his longest run of the season. The Georgia legend, and SEC and Bulldog career-rushing leader stumped for Chubb, the conference's No. 4 all-time leading rusher.

"The guy's got 1,000 yards, Georgia's winning, so why don't we put him up for the Heisman Trophy as well?" Walker asked on the Paul Finebaum show on the SEC Network Tuesday. "The guy's doing some amazing things."

Walker is scheduled to present the Doak Walker Award for nation's top running back.

Chubb and Michel didn't make the list of 11 semifinalists.

"Me and Sony, we don't care, we're having fun, we're winning games," said Chubb, who fittingly is tied for the team lead in touchdowns with Michel with 12. "That's pretty much all that matters."

Georgia Tech coach Paul Johnson was asked about Chubb this week and brought up Michel, who leads the SEC in yards per carry at 7.37.

"I think Sony Michel is one of the best players in the country," he said. "He's a guy that has great speed. He's a good receiver out of the back field. He's kind of a jack of all trades guy."

Chubb and Michel, he said, are "really good. I'm not sure that we've played anybody that has two backs like that. They're both really good in their own right.

Michel, as a five-star recruit out of Plantation, Fla., wouldn't have been thrilled with the idea of sharing the load at running back in a deep group that also includes freshman D'Ande Swift. But he's seen from experience during his four seasons the benefits.

"It helps on the body, it helps to last longer in the season," Michel said. "It keeps everybody fresh and keeps everybody happy at the same time."

Georgia is more than happy it has had Chubb and Michel.

"Those two guys deserve every accolade they get, if not more, and they are what college football's all about," Smart said. "They're unselfish, they're program guys, they represent the university the right way. I mean, when you start talking about ambassadors for this program, they will be ambassadors for a long time."

Mecole Hardman Boosting Georgia's Return Game

Athens Banner-Herald
By Marc Weiszer
November 15, 2017

ATHENS — Mecole Hardman showed up on ESPN's College Football Playoff rankings show Tuesday night but not with a video clip he would want to save.

Look beyond that muffed punt at Auburn and Hardman has boosted Georgia's return games this season.

He's one of only four players nationally that ranks in the top 25 in both kick and punt returns.

Hardman is 16th in kickoff returns with a 26.7 average and 22nd in punt returns at 10.2.

"He's doing a tremendous job and the units around him are really doing well," Georgia coach Kirby Smart said. "I think if you ask the other coaches in the league, they're saying 'good grief, they have all these people blocked', so there's some space there and he's had a good opportunity to make some plays. He has taken advantage of that."

Hardman accounted for 203 all-purpose yards in the 40-17 loss at Auburn Saturday—142 on kickoff returns, 43 on punt returns, 7 rushing and 11 receiving.

"It's something that I can do," Hardman said. "They gave me a couple of times to return the ball, and I just tried to make a play for my team and tried to get us good field position."

Auburn kicked short and away from Hardman after he had first half kickoff returns of 22, 47 and 23 yards.

"He's going to be a real threat," said Kentucky coach Mark Stoops, whose team plays at Georgia Saturday at 3:30 p.m. "They're very dangerous. We've already been working exceptionally hard here this week on our cover teams and have to be very smart with what we do with the football."

Hardman leads the SEC in kickoff returns and is third in punt returns.

His muff punt aganst Auburn in the third quarter gave the Tigers a short field at the Georgia 23 that the Tigers turned into a touchdown.

"I'm not disappointed in anything he's done." Smart said. "I think he's gaining more confidence and he's making some plays in the kicking game. That was no more evident than Saturday. "

Wide receiver Terry Godwin consoled Hardman on the sidelines. "All of us from the strength and conditioning staff to our coaches during summer they help us build a mental toughensss, a mental edge," wide receiver Javon Wims said. "We try to play with that edge as well. He's a very mentally tough kid. We understand football is not perfect. Things are going to happen. He'll bounce back."

Smart said he hated the muff for Hardman "because he works really hard. I'm in my office ready to watch tape and he's still out there catching kicks and catching punts after practice. It's important to him that he does it. We have to do a good job of simulating some of those kicks and making him catch the hard ones."

Hardman has seemed close to busting a return loose for a score this year.

"It's out there," tight end Jeb Blazevich said. "The challenge is out there. We haven't been able to house one yet. We need to. That's what we're looking forward to doing."

Georgia has returned at least one punt or kickoff for touchdown every year since 2008 except for in 2013.

Hardman and the Bulldogs are still trying to get that this year.

Georgia has boasted some of the best big-play returners the SEC has seen in recent years.

Isaiah McKenzie (2014-16) is tied for third all-time in the SEC with six return touchdowns and Brandon Boykin (2008-11) is tied for fourth with five.

Hardman, a sophomore wide receiver, has three touchdown catches and one rushing touchdown but is still looking for his first on a return.

"I really think he's going to get one before this season is over with," safety J.R. Reed said.

"A lot of return game to me is instincts," said Smart, who returned kicks as a Georgia player. "The best way you improve your instincts is with time and reps. Mecole continues to improve at that. He's really explosive. He's not afraid and that's about half the battle."

Smart missed on Smith at Alabama. He's happy, and fortunate, to coach him at Georgia

Macon Telegraph
By Jason Butt
Dec. 4, 2017

CHARLOTTE ---- When Roquan Smith initially announced his commitment on national signing day in 2015, a premier football institution's placard was left off the table.

Smith was down to Georgia, UCLA, Michigan and Texas A&M. At the ceremony, he chose UCLA, putting on a pair of powder blue and gold gloves on his hands for a nationally televised audience to see. He soon had a change of heart and pledged to Georgia on a later date.

But the marquee team not in consideration that day? Alabama. The defensive coordinator of that program then? Kirby Smart.

Smart admitted he didn't recruit Smith too hard, which is why Alabama wasn't in the race. Since Smith wasn't the prototypical thumping linebacker Alabama usually covets, Smart wasn't sure Smith was a fit for head coach Nick Saban, even after camping with the Crimson Tide. Smart smiled when reflecting on how his, and Smith's, fortunes turned out for the best when it was all said and done.

"Sometimes you thank God for unanswered prayers, right?" Smart said, referencing a well-known Garth Brooks tune. "That's the case in this situation where he's become a really good player. He's developed a leadership pattern that really represents our university really well."

Smith was one of five finalists for the Bronko Nagurski Trophy, which was handed out at the Charlotte Convention Center. The Nagurski Trophy went to N.C. State defensive lineman Bradley Chubb.

At the Georgia football program's annual gala Sunday, Smith was surprised with a video from Dick Butkus, who revealed Smith was the recipient of this year's Butkus Award. The Butkus Award goes to the nation's top linebacker.

Smith admitted his surprise when it came to the Butkus Award, which was then presented to him by Butkus' son, Matt Butkus.

"I had no idea," Smith said. "I was up on the stage and I didn't have any idea. I was in awe. I didn't expect it at all."

Smith, dressed in a black tuxedo and bow tie for Monday's event, has enjoyed a tremendous season for the No. 3 Bulldogs, who will face No. 2 Oklahoma in the Rose Bowl. Smith leads Georgia with 113 tackles, 10.5 tackles and 5.5 sacks.

During Georgia's 28-7 win over Auburn in the SEC Championship, Smith finished with 13 tackles (10 for loss), two fumble recoveries and a sack. Seven of Smith's solo tackles came in the first half.

Both Smith and Smart were asked if the Montezuma native, who was also named the AP SEC defensive player of the year Monday, should have received Heisman Trophy consideration.

While the Heisman's intention is to award the best overall player in the nation, it normally goes to a quarterback or running back. This year's finalists are Oklahoma quarterback Baker Mayfield, Louisville quarterback Lamar Jackson and Stanford running back Bryce Love.

"I think it's an offensive award. It's been like that," Smith said. "I don't really have any say in that. It is what it is."

Smart typically doesn't stump for individual awards but noted Smith's intangibles fit the bill for them.

"I think that Roquan is a phenomenal player," Smart said. "I think if you polled the SEC coaches, they would say he was probably that way. I haven't had to game-plan against him or scheme against him, but he is certainly worthy when it comes to attitude, effort, leadership, all those qualities."

It's been quite the journey for Smith, who nearly didn't come to Georgia. With his commitment to UCLA not lasting long, Smith ultimately decided to play in-state for former Georgia head coach Mark Richt, who was fired after his freshman season.

But in came Smart, who plugged Smith into a starting role during his sophomore season in 2016. As a junior, Smith, the centerpiece of Georgia's defense, has helped lead the Bulldogs to their first-ever appearance in the College Football Playoff.

Over three years, Smith has become one of the nation's best players, evidenced by his nomination for some of the nation's most prestigious awards.

"It's just a tremendous honor to even be a finalist for such an award like this," Smith said. "The Butkus Award is pretty nice. It's set up in my room right now. Just being a finalist for these types of awards is surreal. I'm grateful and thankful for the opportunity to be in here."

Davis ends Sanford Stadium days how he started it – with a pick

Macon Telegraph
By Jason Butt
November 19, 2017

ATHENS ---- In his first-ever game at Sanford Stadium, Aaron Davis picked off a pass against Clemson. It seemed fitting for the former walk-on to then snag another interception in his final game at Georgia's home field.

The pick came with 2:50 to go in the third quarter of Georgia's 42-13 victory over Kentucky Saturday. The Wildcats opted to go with a trick play and had receiver Lynn Bowden Jr. throw a deep ball down the field. The pass hung high in the air and allowed Davis, in good coverage, to gain position, high-point the ball and snag it on the way down.

For Davis, it was his first interception of the 2017 season and the fifth of his career at Georgia. He was able to bookend his playing days at Sanford Stadium with picks, which held a lot of meaning for the Georgia graduate from Locust Grove.

While Davis was able to conclude his time at Sanford Stadium with an interception, he said the first pick against Clemson in 2014 is probably still the best moment, just because it was his first time on the field playing for Georgia.

Davis got his first chance to play for Georgia amidst a change at defensive coordinator from 2013 to 2014. Redshirting under Todd Grantham in his first year, Jeremy Pruitt hopped on former head coach Mark Richt's staff a season later. Pruitt saw potential in Davis and elevated the walk-on to a starting role.

Davis earned a scholarship in 2015 and has kept one since.

Throughout his Georgia career, Davis has bounced around the secondary. He's been a cornerback, nickel back and safety. He's played those first two positions primarily this season, with head coach Kirby Smart saying Davis saw some practice time at safety during the past week.

Smart has enjoyed seeing Davis develop and grow as a player in the two years he has been Georgia's head coach and believes big things are ahead for the SEC academic honor roll student.

"He's a great leader, a great kid," Smart said. "He's really smart. I think he'll be a CEO of some company one day. He's a business major. He's incredibly bright. He's talented mentally and I'm really proud of the play he made. He went up and high-pointed the ball. I'm proud he decided to return and continue to play. He is one of those seniors who impacted the younger players. We want the younger players to understand the standard that's been set by the older players. That's got to be ingrained by how they practice."

As for the interception itself, Davis said Bowden "kind of threw one up" for grabs. Having to high-point passes like that in practice, Davis made sure to put himself in the correct position to make the play.

"I've always said that's why I love playing defensive back," Davis said. "You get to play defense – you get to be the hammer and not the nail. But then when they throw the ball in the air, I get to become the receiver. So I'm really playing offense and defense."

Blue Collar Bulldogs Do One Thing Very Well - They Win

UGASports.com
By Anthony Dasher
Dec. 3, 2017

You do a lot of thinking on drives back from football games.

That was certainly true last night turning off I-20 for the hour-long stretch back to my home in Athens, processing what we all witnessed Saturday at Mercedes-Benz Stadium and the challenges that now await.

Workmanlike.

There's no better way to describe the 2017 Bulldogs. Yes, there are some good players … some very good players.

Roquan Smith is a star. The case can be made that he's one of the better middle linebackers in Georgia history. He's so much fun to watch.

Nick Chubb? Sony Michel? They're the Nos. 2 and No. 3 rushers in Bulldog history. Their statistics speak for themselves.

Others are going to pocket a ton of money making a living in the NFL, but individual talent isn't what's enabled the 2017 Georgia Bulldogs to have the season they've had so far.

This is a team that doesn't mind getting their collective hands dirty, put in the necessary work and one where individual glory doesn't matter; it's a team that doesn't give up.

Workmanlike. Dare we say Junkyard Dawg-like?

This is why you sometimes don't see the Bulldogs get the national acclaim as some of the programs they'll potentially meet in the College Football Playoffs.

This isn't a team that sizzles. We'll leave that description for programs like Oklahoma, perhaps defending national champ Clemson.

Georgia is blue collar. Nothing fancy. But that's okay. It's proven to be a winning formula for head coach Kirby Smart.

I'm going to say a quick word about quarterback Jake Fromm, whose attitude and work ethic epitomizes the blue-collar persona we now associate with this team.

Fromm – we're not calling him a freshman anymore – has achieved something which very few true freshmen quarterbacks have done – have his team in position to win a national crown.

People ask me all the time about the former Houston County star, what makes him special. My answer? He's not scared. Big stages don't bother this young man, and that confidence has been absorbed by the rest of the offense. Combine that with an incredible work ethic, an ever-present enthusiasm for his job have helped make Fromm the perfect quarterback for the 2017 Bulldogs.

He's not the only player we need to mention.

Another word used to describe this team is unselfish, and wide receiver Javon Wims is arguably one of the most unselfish athletes on this squad, as evidenced by the block that helped spring D'Andre Swift on his 64-yard touchdown run. Ditto for Terry Godwin. The offensive line deserves a ton of respect.

Defensively, Davin Bellamy, Lorenzo Carter, too. The pair has been underappreciated by some, but there are no two harder workers on the defense than these two, and their efforts should not be overlooked.

John Atkins, J.R. Reed … there's two more you can put on the list of Dawgs who wear that blue collar proudly.

There are others, of course, and there has to be for a team to be in the position the Bulldogs now find themselves in – playoff bound as the SEC Champs.

This Moment is Why Kirby Smart Waited and Waited Until Georgia Came Calling

Smart has his alma mater back in national title contention for the first time in decades

CBSSports.com
By Dennis Dodd
Dec. 3, 2017

ATLANTA -- It is almost an insult to put the words "Nick Saban" anywhere near the top of this column. Comparisons can and will be made, especially after Georgia's 28-7 SEC and College Football Playoff-clinching win over Auburn was so clinical the Alabama coach could have claimed plagiarism.

But Nick was sitting at home somewhere else Saturday night … hoping for a College Football Playoff berth. Kirby Smart -- his former defensive coordinator -- was on top of the world.

Or at least the SEC version of it -- in newly built Mercedes-Benz Stadium as a newly crowned SEC champion in his second year as a head coach.

So, step aside, Nick. This is Kirby's time, Kirby's doing, Kirby's team, Kirby's alma mater.

It's true Smart emerged from Saban's shadow just two years ago despite turning down many job offers over the years. He could have filled a scrapbook with a printout of his cell phone calls.

This is why athletic directors all over the country are falling over themselves trying to hire someone like Kirby Smart.

The turnaround has to be … yesterday.

This is why Kirby came home, and this is why Mark Richt isn't here. You come to compare the feeling of winning four national championships as an assistant at Bama feels to his first SEC ring coaching his alma mater.

"All of those I won at Alabama … they felt awesome, too," Smart said, "because it's hard to do. This one feels the same way."

And the feeling isn't over. The Dawgs can sleep in tomorrow secure that they're only the eighth different team in the CFP's four-year history.

It's an exclusive club, title contenders, one that Georgia hasn't been able to break into for decades.

Saturday marked 12 years between SEC championships for Georgia. The end of a longing that was reflected by Smart himself. The usually stoic coach -- another Saban reflection -- ran a truncated lap near a corner of the stadium where Dawg fans had congregated.

"Bulldog Nation," Smart said, "is certainly starved."

That was the colorful Kirby we never saw at Alabama because Saban doesn't let his assistants speak.

Winning an SEC title will bring that out, though. Bo Jackson sidled up to Smart before the game.

"He's my childhood idol. I worshipped Bo Jackson," Smart said. "He comes up to me before the game and said, 'A lot of pressure in this job, isnt' it?' I said, 'Hell yeah, it is.'

"But that's why we do it -- for moments like this."

Decades ago, this was the same man who ran a different kind of lap in the hot Georgia sun, same as his players today.

Smart played as a defensive back for Ray Goff and Jim Donnan from 1995-98. That helps credibility. That helped Saturday.

"He shows one side," linebacker Davin Bellamy said.

What's that?

"Rippin' your butt."

Yet another similarity to Saban, who hired Smart as a defensive backs coach at LSU in 2004. Smart returned at Alabama in 2007 and stayed nine seasons while becoming Saban's top coaching lieutenant.

"He gets it. He understands," tight end Isaac Nauta said. "You're going to rally behind a guy like that. He knows what it's like to not make it."

Not making it would be defined as going 8-5 in Smart's first Georgia season. Not making it would be losing his starting quarterback (Jacob Eason) in the season opener. But for only the second time (in seven tries) in the game's 26-year history, a championship rematch didn't end up in a sweep.

That made the 40-17 pasting at Auburn on Nov. 11 merely a hiccup. Georgia combined equal parts revenge, quarterback Jake Fromm and linebacker Roquan Smith into a 44-point turnaround that could be heard all the way from here to Athens.

The Dawgs adjusted. The Auburn defensive line that harassed Fromm three weeks ago was kept off him. This was the Fromm who was so efficient as a true freshman after Eason went down -- 16 of 22, 183 yards, two touchdowns, no turnovers.

Smith was the "tackling machine" that Smart calls him -- 13 tackles, tying a career high with two fumble recoveries, a sack and two tackles for loss. championship.

Yes, the first Auburn meeting was a hiccup.

"Walking off the field that day was a terrible feeling," Nuata said. "It doesn't matter now."

"We knew we would see them again," Bellamy said. "That was the plan in our head. The weight room had TVs with [replays of] them dancing. It got us fired up."

So did Gus Malzahn's "We beat the dog crap out of them," comment coming off the field Nov. 11. Revenge in football is the most common motivator.

In a league that has had a problem recently finding the right leader -- five new ones at least for 2018 -- Smart was the perfect match at the perfect time.

"He always wanted Georgia," said a member of Smart's inner circle standing outside the locker room. "He never knew if he was going to get it."

That changed after Alabama's national championship in 2015. The planets aligned. Richt was fired, and the search extended all the way to one guy.

"The first day he came and spoke to us, he was busy with Alabama winning the championship," tailback Nick Chubb said. "He just looked exhausted. We're like, 'Man, what's this man been up to?'"

Like we told you, there are similarities. Smart believes in the tenets of SEC football. Run the ball, stop the run and don't get too fancy.

This game turned when Auburn quarterback Jarrett Stidham was stripped and fumbled early in the second quarter. Georgia ended the half scoring 10 unanswered points and outgaining the Tigers 139-17. Momentum had been seized.

With 10:34 left in the game, the Mercedes-Benz scoreboard declared, "The SEC would like to congratulate the Georgia Bulldogs."

It's hard to remember now, but Richt actually won an SEC title in his second year as a coach at Georgia in 2001.

That didn't seem to matter Saturday night.

"God put it on everybody's heart to get Coach Richt out," Georgia tight end Jeb Blazevich said. "Then put it on Coach Smart's heart to accept the job here."

SEC pretenders for years, Georgia was a program with plenty of history but little follow-through since that 1980 national championship with Herschel Walker. Few teams in the country are covered more intensely. Saturday made that coverage deserved. The Dawgs will now chase their third national championship beginning New Year's Day.

But first, they and their coach have to sleep in.

"What time's that [selection] show on tomorrow?" the gutty former Bulldog defensive back said. "12:30 or something? A little over 12 hours. I tell you what, you'd better enjoy it. It's well earned."

Lorenzo Carter's long road to Athens

The Red & Black
By Alex Soderstrom
November 1, 2017

ATHENS ---- On the evening of Oct. 24, a set of elevator doors open to the second floor of Butts-Mehre Heritage Hall, which houses Georgia's athletic association, and out steps the 6-foot-6 frame of Georgia linebacker Lorenzo Carter.

Eight games into his senior season, Carter is third on the team with 30 tackles and first in sacks with four. Carter is second in the country in fumble recoveries, and he is one of 15 national semifinalists for the Butkus Award, given to the best linebacker in college football.

And today, as he steps off the elevator, Carter is wearing a Rugrats t-shirt.

"I love Rugrats," Carter said. "That was my show."

A shirt displaying the logo of the classic Nickelodeon T.V. show may seem like a strange fashion choice for a hard-hitting defensive player such as Carter, but it's actually rather fitting for the senior, who is described by a former coach as a "great, big teddy bear with a smile on his face."

An integral part of the nation's third-ranked defense and No. 1 team, Carter has lived up to the lofty five-star accolades he received as a recruit coming out of high school. But Carter didn't simply fall into his role at Georgia.

Lorenzo the baby

It might be nearly impossible to imagine Carter, who towers well over six feet and weighs more than 240 pounds, as the baby in any situation, but that's what he was growing up, Carter's mother, Lisa, said.

Carter grew up the youngest of three children, with two older sisters to look up to. The Carter family has always been a tight knit group, Carter's mom said, becoming even more so when the family moved away from its extended family in Memphis to settle in Georgia about the time Carter was in first grade.

Growing up, Carter was surrounded by sports, Carter's mom said. She played volleyball in college. Carter's father played basketball. His sisters played volleyball and basketball themselves, each eventually playing in college.

From a young age, Carter played both basketball and football, but always held basketball in the highest regard. Carter also had musical interests, playing tuba in band and cello in orchestra up until high school, an activity his mother said Carter misses today.

"He said when he's finished [with football] he's going to pick cello back up," Carter's mom said.

In high school, Carter started out at Whitefield Academy in Smyrna, Georgia, a Christian prep school with an athletic program much smaller than most public schools. By the time he was halfway through his high school career, Carter decided to make the move to public school.

Mr. Norcross

When Carter first came to Norcross High School in 2012, after transferring in to start his junior year, Norcross head basketball coach Jesse McMillan said it was obvious where Carter's heart was. McMillan said he remembers Carter making the effort to find him and express interest in joining the school's basketball team.

"Basketball was his first love," McMillan said.

Likewise, Carter's position coach, Norcross defensive line coach Marcus Jackson, said he remembers when Carter first joined the football team, immediately taking note of Carter's size.

"I thought, 'We got us one here,'" Jackson said.

Carter played on both teams throughout high school, starring as a defensive end for the football team and making a difference as a power forward on the basketball court, but no matter which sport he was playing, Carter had an effect on those around him.

According to McMillan, who said Carter was often known as "Mr. Norcross" by his peers, Carter looked for a way to make an impact at his school almost from day one, volunteering to be part of a school program where students can mentor local at-risk youth, within his first two weeks starting there.

His mother said it was Carter's nature which compels him to feel concern for others. It's also the reason, Carter's mother said, Carter majored in psychology when he arrived on campus at Georgia.

To his coaches, it was just an off-the-field extension of the player they saw constantly trying to encourage and lift up his teammates in practice and games.

"A Lorenzo, you kind of get one of those once in a blue moon," Jackson said.

Staying home

In the words of McMillan, Carter's time at Norcross opened his eyes to the possible future he had in football. Looking back, Carter said by the time he was a senior, he knew football was where he wanted to place his focus in college, saying he reached his ceiling in basketball.

"I'm dime a dozen in basketball," Carter said. "I'm a 6-6 power forward."

But Carter did generate interest from multiple Division I basketball programs, including Georgia. If Carter wanted to play college basketball, he "100 percent could have," McMillan said.

Lorenzo Carter's long road to Athens (Cont'd.)

While he continued to play basketball his senior year, eventually winning a state championship, Carter was committed to football, where he was already making an impression on his coaches.

Along with the size Jackson initially noticed when Carter arrived at Norcross, Carter also displayed a series of other skills from his defensive end position. Coaching Carter, Jackson said, was like coaching a defensive back in a defensive end's body, since Carter could pull of a rare combination of size, speed and intelligence.

As a senior, Carter helped lead Norcross to a second consecutive state title, picking up significant interest from top colleges in the process. Scout.com ranked Carter as the best player in his class in the state of Georgia.

"He could have played anywhere he wanted," Norcross head coach Keith Maloof said.

When it came time for Carter to pick where he would play football for the next four years, Jackson, himself a former player for Georgia in the early 2000's, said he told Carter the right choice would make itself obvious.

"There's a feeling you get inside like, 'That's where I need to go,'" Jackson said.

In the end, Carter signed with Georgia, despite heavy interest by other top Southeastern Conference programs, such as Alabama and LSU. For Carter, Georgia was an obvious choice.

"I felt like this was home," Carter said. "I didn't have to go anywhere else to compete for championships, so I decided to stay here."

'Too nice to be a savage'

At Georgia, Carter eventually made the switch from defensive end to outside linebacker. While the position change was necessary since Georgia runs a schematically different defense than Norcross, Carter is still asked to do many of the same things as a defensive end, namely use his speed to run down opposing running backs and quarterbacks.

Carter has seemed to have more than embraced the ferocity which comes with playing in the front seven of an SEC defense. In September, Carter said he wanted to play like a savage.

But at least one person has a hard time seeing Carter, oozing smiles and positivity, as a savage.

"Lorenzo's not a savage, he's a nice young man," Georgia head coach Kirby Smart said at a later press conference. "He may want to be a savage, but he's not fooling anybody."

When he heard the playful comments made by Smart, Jackson said he couldn't help but agree. Except, Jackson said, Carter has the ability to "switch it on" when he's on the field.

"The fun is in the winning, and to win you got to be aggressive," Carter said.

Carter's teammates, who often refer to him as Zo, acknowledge while Carter may seem to always be smiling, he doesn't take games or practice lightly.

"He's serious with everything," defensive back Tyrique McGhee said. "He doesn't take a play off. Even when he's off the field, he doesn't take anything off. He doesn't halfway do it."

Going forward

Back in Norcross, Carter is far from forgotten. Jackson said he still watches every Georgia game he can and feels a rush of excitement every time he sees his former player make a play. At Norcross High School, McMillan said Carter is still asked about on a regular basis.

Despite the path Carter took to get where he is, a road Jackson calls "long and bumpy," Carter has managed to play like the athlete he was predicted to be, a difficult feat in the world of constant buildup many players and recruits often find themselves in.

"Some people get all that hype and fall to the wayside," Jackson said.

When asked how he has kept from falling victim to not realizing his potential, Carter's answer is a simple one.

"Just keep playing, man," Carter said. "Keep the outside world outside where they belong. I know my brothers love me, and I'm going to do whatever it takes for them, and whatever happens, happens."

Growing up tough: Terry Godwin was Faced with Difficult Life Choices Before Coming to Georgia

The Red and Black
By Layne Saliba
November 30, 2017

ATHENS — There's a house on Valley Street in LaGrange, Georgia. It's where Terry Godwin spent his early years. And just near that short, dead-end street is a field where Godwin used to go to play all sorts of games, but mostly football, with the older kids in his neighborhood. It's sort of where it all started for him.

It didn't have to be that way, though. It could have happened on an actual field with kids his age, but Godwin never really liked the altered rules of little league sports.

He could hit a baseball to the outfield when he was young. He was just five years old, and his parents, Olivia and Terry Sr., signed him up to play T-ball since he'd grown up around the sport. His uncles, Aundra Trammell and Jerry Godwin, played baseball, so Godwin naturally wanted to get in on the action to follow in their footsteps.

"He went to run the bases and they told him he only could go to one base," Godwin's mom said. "He said 'I don't want to play this anymore' because he thought it was going to actually be like real baseball."

The same thing happened with football. Godwin only wanted to tackle. So when he was told he had to pull a flag from his opponent's waist, he didn't want to play that either. He simply had to wait until the rules caught up.

Growing up on Valley Street, Godwin was always the tough kid. He had to be.

He didn't have any brothers. It was just him and his two older sisters, Keyatta and Terryuana, until his younger sister, Tyterria, came along.

"I mean, he wanted motorcycles and we had given him all that," Goodwin's mother said. "And he was just rough with it."

Since then, Godwin's life has been all about proving he's tough and making tough decisions.

Lil' T goes to Callaway

Growing up in LaGrange was fun for Godwin and his family. His mom and dad went to and graduated from LaGrange High School. That's where his older sisters went too.

He played for the Monarchs, a travel baseball team in LaGrange.

The team was specifically started for him and his friends by Broderick Stargell, who was like Godwin's second father. He saw something special in Godwin and his group of friends.

"I just wanted to be a part of what they had going," said Stargell, who still stays in touch with Godwin to this day. "So in order for me to keep my hands on them, I had to kind of dangle baseball out in front of them to kind of grab their attention."

Travel baseball isn't cheap, though. But Stargell was so serious about keeping this group on the right track and making sure it had a bright future that he started a trucking company just to fund the baseball team.

That trucking company, Allstar Transport, was around for about five years, which was just enough time to get that group of kids through travel baseball.

"He would come by in his little Honda, away from his family, and pick Terry up every day while I was working or his father was working and take him to baseball practice," Godwin's mom said. "And Terry loved it."

All of that was good, but eventually, the Godwins needed a bigger home, something nicer to live in because their home in LaGrange just wasn't working anymore. So, they found a house in Hogansville, Georgia, just a little over 10 miles from LaGrange.

Also, just out of the LaGrange High School district.

"I really didn't want to leave my friends or anything like that and transfer schools and try to get to know people," Godwin said. "Because, I mean, as a young kid, that's kind of hard."

Hogansville is a much smaller town than LaGrange, and the transition was difficult for Godwin. He couldn't just walk to his friends' houses anymore or walk out his own front door and meet up with other kids to play football across the street. But the change was necessary.

Their house in LaGrange was built in the 1920s. It was old and needed work. So after looking around for homes, the Godwins found one the right size in Hogansville for a good price.

Even though Godwin struggled at first, he grew to like Hogansville and eventually Callaway High School, so much so that when his mother offered to move him back to LaGrange, he said no.

"I made a brotherhood with some of the guys that were in middle school," Godwin said "We went in high school together and, I mean, just being able to connect with people like that, it will take you a long way."

And it did take him a long way. The relationships carried him through three sports at Callaway. He played football, baseball and basketball, all of which he excelled at. But the two that were at the forefront were football and baseball.

"He always brought a positive attitude on the field," said Pete Wiggins, Godwin's high school football coach. "At practice he was a leader, in good times and bad. He is a positive guy that works his butt off and that's why he is where he is."

Godwin was being recruited by top football programs like Alabama and Auburn, on top of Georgia, while being recruited by Major League

Baseball teams as well. He actually took part in some workouts with the Atlanta Braves and Texas Rangers.

As he made his way through high school, especially throughout his senior year, there was a lot of pressure on the thought of what his future would look like.

And the truth is, he didn't know what it would look like. That was one of the tough decisions he had to make. And it was only made tougher around the time he was set to commit to play football at Georgia.

Father and son

Godwin and his father had a unique relationship from the very beginning.

Godwin's father did not have the closest relationship with his own father, so he decided he wasn't going to be that way when he had kids.

"I just had my mother," Godwin's father said. "And I always had in my head that I wasn't going to leave my kids. I was going to make them have everything they wanted."

That's what he did. The only downside to that was it took him away from his children quite a bit, especially after Godwin's mother became a stay-at-home mom when she injured her back at work and couldn't work anymore. Godwin's father had to work even more hours, and eventually ended up working two jobs.

Godwin quickly became a momma's boy since he spent so much time with her and his sisters, but that didn't mean he and his father weren't still connected.

Terry Godwin dressed up as No. 5 for Halloween when he was about 5 years old.

"Him and his dad have a bond that's really, really close," Godwin's mother said. "Because when he's there, it's about them two only, because he's trying to catch up and build that father and son relationship."

Godwin's father only wanted to see his son succeed. So when his son was doing so well in baseball and football, Godwin's father couldn't have been more thrilled.

But on Jan. 5, 2014, the thrill was suddenly subdued when Godwin's father got a strange feeling while at work. He wasn't feeling well, so he went to the hospital. After running some tests, doctors found that he had colon cancer.

This was just weeks before Godwin was set to make his college commitment to Georgia, and it caused a lot of confusion in the family's life.

"Football and all that was really out of the picture in my mind," Godwin said. "I was so focused on him, making sure he was good. And he told me to keep doing what I was doing, making him proud and I told him as long as I was making him proud I was going to do what he wanted me to do."

The main thing Godwin's father wanted his son to do was to not choose something simply based off the fact that he was sick. And that was hard for Godwin.

During the early part of his father's colon cancer, Godwin was faced with two options.

He could stay committed to Georgia and play football or he could sign with a MLB team, which would come with an immediate signing bonus. It's something he seriously considered and struggled with while he was going through the recruiting process.

In reality, Georgia almost missed out on one of its best wide receiver recruits because Godwin wanted to provide for his family while prioritizing his father's health.

He eventually decided to stay with Georgia, though, and enroll in summer classes once he graduated from Callaway.

But that didn't stop the Atlanta Braves from calling.

"I came up to Georgia on June 1 and I was in my dorm and my mom called me and said they drafted me," Godwin said. "And to this day, I still never gave the Braves an answer. I didn't call them back or give them a yes or no or anything."

It wasn't a decision Godwin took lightly. He said he sat in his room and had to think about it and pray about it a lot. In the end, he had to be reminded that even though the money from a MLB team could have helped the family financially with the things his father needed, he had to make the decision that was best for him.

"I just had to let him know that we were going to be OK," Godwin's mother said.

Godwin's wideout coach and mentor at Callaway, Kareem Douhne, understood what his player was going through. His wife, Amanda, was the oncology pharmacist at WellStar of LaGrange, formerly West Georgia Healthcare, where Godwin's father was treated.

"I'm sure he broke down a couple of times, but I didn't really see that," he said. "I could see it in his eyes that he was hurting a little bit and worried about his dad, but it was almost like playing a sport. He wasn't going to let that defeat him and he was going to push and push and be positive for his family and his dad. And I think his dad fed off that."

"That's just him being him"

Godwin is a junior at Georgia now and has become a big part of the Bulldogs' receiving game.

He's second on the team with 24 receptions for 492 yards and five touchdowns, just one touchdown behind the team leader, Javon Wims.

And he's stood out quite a few times this season, too. Against Mississippi State, Godwin caught a flea-flicker pass from Jake Fromm for a touchdown. Against Notre Dame, Godwin caught a pass, one-handed, near the sideline of the end zone that was SportCenter's top play for the night.

"I don't even get excited anymore because that's just him being him," said Tez Parks, Godwin's former teammate at Callaway and current running back at Southern Miss. "I've been watching him do stuff like this for years and years."

While Godwin's freshman season went by without any problems, he struggled during his sophomore year.

"That second year, I think it kind of hit," Godwin's mother said. "We had to really pray a lot because I think it took a toll on him."

She didn't know what it was that bothered him. It might have been the coaching change, it might have been the stress of playing a bigger role in games or even just the adjustment of college.

He made it through that, though, just like he made it through transferring schools at a young age, dealing with his father's cancer diagnosis and the choice of whether or not to pursue professional baseball or not.

Godwin has made it through all of those tough situations and he has his family, especially his father, to thank.

"Even though I didn't get to see him a lot as a little kid, I still knew that he was there," Godwin said of his father. "I knew that he cared and stuff like that. He made me the man I am today and I'm trying to follow in his footsteps."

Where He's Fromm

No. 3 Georgia is gaining recognition nationwide, and its freshman quarterback is a pretty big deal back in Houston County.

Atlanta Journal-Constitution
By Steve Hummer
October 22, 2017

Once you've had your name in lights in the butcher's display, right between the chuck shoulder roast and the jalapeno cheddar burgers, what is left for a young man to accomplish? The Fromm — as in Jake Fromm, the freshman quarterback for the No. 3-ranked Georgia Bulldogs — is a premade hamburger with bacon, swiss and mushrooms. Just the way he prefers his burgers, his folks told Amy Dean when she launched this savory tribute.

"We wanted to honor him," said Dean, who with her husband, David, runs the Butcher Shop here in Fromm's hometown. "He's just a great kid who has done a lot for all of Houston County." And when you're in their business, there can be no higher praise than to say it with meat.

Only 19, with all of six-and-three-quarters games of college experience behind him, Fromm already is becoming something more than just another hometown-kid-made-good in this football-mad slice of Middle Georgia. He is becoming an entrée, a tailgate specialty.

Home fans say he was ready

As the Bulldogs creep up the rankings — their profile and their ambitions going national — the quarterback who stepped in when Jacob Eason hurt his knee in the first quarter of the first game and Wally-Pipped the poor incumbent is attracting notice and praise in bulk. As quarterbacks tend to do.

Don't confine the excitement to his understandably geeked hometown, said Phillip Johnson. "I know they are excited here, but I think it's bigger than Warner Robins. I think it's all over," said the coach of Warner Robins' 2011 Little League team that Fromm led to the World Series in Williamsport, Pa.

'With Jake, it's faith, family, football and hunting.'

It has come as no surprise hereabouts that Fromm stepped in so ably for Eason that he now appears impossible to dislodge.

Until further notice, it is Fromm Here to Eternity for the Bulldogs.

As they have gone unbeaten and Fromm was eased into this team's rush-happy offense, the quarterback has grown into the job at a breakneck pace. Teammates rave about his football intellect and leadership. His father, Emerson, and other people here not related to him, will bite their tongues and quietly resist the thought that this teenager is but a "game manager" or is to be held suspect until he actually rescues the Bulldogs with his arm. He had his first 300-yard passing game last week against Missouri. He'll make every throw that must be made, they say.

"He only throws it hard enough to get the job done," he father says.

You'll hear the sentiment wherever you go in the Warner Robins area: Fromm was ready. Ready from the first instant Eason sprained his knee and the freshman hustled into his helmet to finish off Appalachian State.

If not born ready, certainly made ready by an upbringing that emphasized the keenest kind of competition one can find at an early age.

He had it in front of tens of thousands in Williamsport, and in front of only slightly more intimate gatherings here, where high school football is bound genetically to the community. Never had the stage seemed too large. Grasping the intricacies of any offense was never going to be an issue, his former offensive coordinator at Houston County High knew. Mike Chastain, now the head coach at Warner Robins High, doesn't know that Fromm has a photographic memory, but "when he sees something once, he's got it."

There is no talking to Fromm now, as Bulldogs coach Kirby Smart keeps him and all the freshmen sequestered from the media. Which is a shame. Because he's ready. (He and dad went over interview techniques when he was only 12, since he was the hitter of multiple home runs and of great interest at the Little League World Series.) They all knew this was coming, they just didn't know exactly when.

When on TV he saw Fromm enter the App State game, Jason Brett, his baseball coach at Houston County, had one initial thought: "I told my wife, I feel bad for that kid (Eason) because he's probably never going to get in again. You give (Fromm) an opportunity, he's going to fight you tooth and nail to keep it."

Before the season had begun, as Zulema Toms cut his hair, Fromm went into the usual litany about just trying to do his best when he got to Georgia. "Baby," said Toms, whose son also played on that 2011 Little League World Series team, "if you do your best, you'll be the starting quarterback before you know it."

And, for the record, Fromm of course has wonderful hair. "It spikes up real good," said Toms, as she worked on another customer at the Serenity Salon and Spa.

Johnson, his Little League coach, had predicted Fromm would be starting at Georgia by the fifth game of the season. He had known him from the time he was just a gangly 7-year-old and a relatively high-round draft pick on the coach-pitch Little League team. "By the time he was 8, he started turning into a beast," he laughed. He was quite familiar with the kind of accelerated schedule the kid kept.

As Emerson Fromm spent half a day last week introducing a visitor to some of the places and people around Warner Robins that shaped his boy, an almost stereotypical portrait of growing up in Middle Georgia emerged.

It can't be this simple. It can't be this pure, right? This must be the work of some hack script writer who trades in the trite.

But Emerson sets a very convincing scene. "With Jake, it's faith, family, football and hunting," he said, somewhat dismayed that he couldn't make the complete thought alliterative.

One obvious conflict at Sunday service

First stop was the church, where the pastor's office tilts toward the secular given all the Alabama Crimson Tide artwork on the walls. There's even a photo of Jake with Nick Saban, shortly after he had committed early to Alabama in October 2015. By the next spring, Fromm had switched to Georgia. With his pastor's blessings.

Football is a regular part of the Sunday service here, a way to connect with the congregation. After each Georgia victory, Jerry Walls finds himself preaching to the converted. "How 'bout them Jake Fromms?" he'll ask from the pulpit. The response is always loud applause.

"I just can't quite say 'How 'bout them Dogs?'" he said. The pastor does worry about what the future holds. "Last Sunday, I told (the flock) I'm in a real dilemma. I'm pulling for Jake, and I'm pulling for Alabama. And it looks like there's a real good possibility the SEC championship is going to be between those two. You got to understand I'm confused."

Lunch afterward was at Martin's BBQ, just across from the air base. It's the same place that catered Georgia's in-home visit with Jake and his family. Yes, that was catered.

It's a place where you line up for the brisket, and everyone in line seems to want to ask Emerson about Georgia football and one player in particular. It doesn't hurt that the owner is a fan. "There was a comment on Facebook, like, 'Yay, yay, Jake make it to Georgia.' About how lucky Jake was. I went on there and said Georgia is more lucky they got Jake," Richard Martin said.

Hunting is also always a hot topic during fall

This time of year, with the air turning crisp, the conversation between Emerson and Martin alternated between football and hunting. Off this week as it prepares for Florida, Georgia gave players a free weekend. That meant Jake was planning on coming home for some concentrated bowhunting, three days' worth if he could manage.

Those who follow the Bulldogs want him up there in that deer stand before facing all the demons that come with playing the Gators. "He won't think about football at all, that's his release," said his father.

Fromm, whose father runs a successful pool construction firm and whose mother, Lee, is a nurse, came to Athens from Warner Robins with certain blue-collar attributes. Georgia knew well what it was getting. The first time Bulldogs offensive coordinator Jim Chaney met Fromm, the kid was still wearing his camo from a morning dove shoot.

Did you know, Emerson said, that last week when the Georgia offensive linemen were doing extra running in penance for some false-start penalties the previous Saturday, their quarterback ran with them?

And did you know that even as he dresses up in a suit and tie every pregame, Fromm wears his father's old work shoes, the ones dad wore when it was time to pour cement? "In his mind, he's saying, 'I'm going to work,'" Emerson said.

Two younger brothers, twins, are playing football now at a different place than Jake, at Warner Robins High. Growing up, they always wondered why they were catching all the spankings and older brother never did.

Welcome, kids, to just another chapter of the Jake Fromm fable, set so perfectly, like a diamond in a ring — or a burger in a bun — here in the heart of Georgia.

Wims 'go-to guy' for UGA

Wide Receiver makes impressive plays

Athens Banner-Herald
By Marc Weiszer
November 7, 2017

ATHENS ---- Terry Godwin gave some advice to fellow Georgia wide receiver Javon Wims before this season.

"Whenever a ball's up, just go up for it like it's a rebound, like you do in basketball," Godwin said. "He's been showing that lately and I've been very impressed."

Godwin still has the catch of the year for Georgia – a one-handed acrobatic touchdown grab at Notre Dame – but Wims is making his share of impressive plays, too.

Like his toe-touching touchdown in the win against South Carolina Saturday. Or his leaping snag in the front corner of the end zone a week earlier against Florida over Marco Wilson for a 17-yard touchdown that may have come close to rivaling Godwin's grab.

"I think they both were very good catches; of course I'm going to say mine," Wims joked. "Nah, Terry had a very good catch. It was a one-handed catch, so the degree of difficulty was a lot more than mine."

Wims has become the top target for freshman quarterback Jake Fromm.

"That's my guy on and off the field," Wims said. "He's a very good kid. He's a very good quarterback. We have a very strong relationship."

After finishing fifth on the team last season with 17 catches for 190 yards and a touchdown, Wims leads the Bulldogs with 24 catches for 375 yards and four touchdowns entering Saturday's 3:30 p.m. game at No. 10 Auburn. The senior had five catches for 46 yards in the 24-10 win against South Carolina and five for 95 against Missouri.

"Ultimately, he has given Jake a comfort zone that he has a go-to guy," coach Kirby Smart said. "Terry has done a good job with that as well. The wideouts – we talked earlier in the year – they have to catch the ball that is thrown to them. They have to take advantage of the opportunities these backs give them. At the end of the day, some of the looks they get are based on the backs and they have to catch the ball. Those two guys have done that."

Whether its Wims or Godwin, Georgia will have a sixth different player lead the team in receptions in as many years following Isaiah McKenzie, Malcolm Mitchell, Michael Bennett, Chris Conley and Tavarres King.

"My role is to be a downfield threat and be a consistent blocker, and just be a consistent leader in that receiver group," Wims said.

In his two seasons in Athens, Georgia is squeezing plenty out of a player with the nickname "Juice," given to him by his mother and high school friends.

"She said you've got to go out there and play like you've got the juice," he said.

He played football growing up in Miami, but gave up the sport until his senior year at Ed White High in Jacksonville, Fla. "My dad kind of forced me to go back," Wims said. "I wasn't going to play. … He kind of gave me some encouragement; you don't want to leave no stones unturned."

Wims' father told him 6-4 point guards with his type of game are pretty common.

"There are not a lot of 6-4 receivers that can do what you do," Wims said his father told him.

After a stint at Belhaven University in Jackson, Miss., Wims receiver skills developed at Hinds Community College in Raymond, Miss. – "the middle of nowhere," he called it where he met "great people" and valued the experience.

He got an offer from Georgia and committed in November 2015. After he was hired, Smart closed the deal and inked him that signing day. At 6-foot-4 and 215 pounds, Wims is a threat on 50-50 balls.

"I treat the ball like I treated a box-out and a rebound," he said. "I treat it the same way, attacking."

"Javon's a big target," Smart said. "He's a tough matchup." Wims said his practice habits have coaches believing in him more.

"You earn trust, and he has earned the ability to catch the ball, protect the ball and go up and get the ball," Smart said. "He has worked really hard to improve. He continues to improve with his blocking, his physicality. He has to continue to improve on every part of his game, but he has done a nice job. "

Punter Makes Smart Choice

Ivy League transfer a booming success after picking Bulldogs

Athens Banner-Herald
By Marc Weiszer
October 11, 2017

ATHENS ---- Cameron Nizialek, who holds a degree in economics from Columba University, made what he called a "calculated decision," in relocating from New York City to Athens.

His pursuit was landing the Georgia punting job and further building his resume for a steady paycheck after college.

"I've got one year and I want to play at the next level so I had to weigh those things," Nizialek said.

It was a virtually no risk move for Georgia to have Nizialek join the program last winter as a graduate transfer since he came as a walk-on.

"There was no loss of value for us," coach Kirby Smart said. "Look what we got out of it."

That's easy to see on Saturdays when Nizialek's booming punts and Georgia's smothering coverage team have turned around that area of special teams.

The Bulldogs are seventh in the nation in net punting at 42.88, a vast improvement from finishing 112th last season at 34.90.

"It's important to flip the field," said Nizialek, who averages 43.2 yards per punt, good for 37th nationally and seventh in the SEC. "It gives our offense and defense confidence when we can do that."

Nizialek mapped out going from an Ivy League school to a big-time football program way back in his first season at Columbia when he redshirted.

"I knew I wanted to graduate in three and a half years so I could come in the spring and win the job in the spring potentially," he said.

He researched the punting situations at the schools he was also considering including Clemson, Virginia Tech and South Carolina.

He visited Georgia for the Georgia Tech game on Thanksgiving weekend last year. That trip came a week after his final Columbia season ended with a win at Brown, which snapped a three-game losing streak to Yale, Harvard and Cornell.

The Ivy League's leading punter last season (44.8) saw a chance to step right in at Georgia because sophomore Marshall Long was still coming back from a knee cap injury that cut short his freshman season and kept him out of spring practices. The Georgia combination of Long and Brice Ramsey last year averaged 37.5 yards a punt.

"He saw an opportunity and he seized it," Smart said.

There was a connection between Georgia special teams coach Shane Beamer and Dan Orner, a kicking coach out of North Carolina, who worked with Nizialek, Long and David Marvin, the kicker who came to Georgia this season from Wofford as a graduate transfer on scholarship.

Smart also credited James Vollono, the program's special teams analyst last season for helping get Nizialek to Georgia.

Nizialek, from Chantilly, Va., wasn't highly recruited out of high school. His parents, Jason and Tanya, are Duke graduates and he said he wanted to get "the best degree possible."

After playing before crowds ranging from 1,973 to 11,233 last season, Nizialek is now kicking at home before a crowd of nearly 93,000 and at Tennessee before 102,455.

"I didn't even know Columbia had enough room to practice punting that much," CBS college football analyst Gary Danielson said during the broadcast of Georgia's win at Tennessee. " Aren't there a lot of buildings around there?"

Nizialek, who has six punts of 50 or more yards, said his focus has been to kick the ball high for optimal hang time and to limit returns.

Georgia is 16th in the nation and second in the SEC in punt return defense at 1.80 yards.

"He hits bombs," inside linebacker Roquan Smith said. "It's fun covering those type of kicks for a guy who enjoys doing what he does."

Georgia has given up nine punt return yards all season. The longest return had been 1 yard at Notre Dame before Vanderbilt had a 13-yard return off a 59-yard punt Saturday.

"I outkicked the coverage a little bit," he said.

"I would love for him to be a little more consistent with yardage and hang," Smart said. "We always talk to him about that. That's a hard job to measure because every punter wants to bang it as far as he can and we want him to hit it as far as he can. He just has to balance that with the hang time and the distance. He hit that one a little firm. He went 90-degree driver instead of the 12-degree, but he drove it and we gotta cover whatever he kicks. I'm proud of the way he's kicking, but that's one that he's got to improve on."

He didn't have guys like Smith, Lorenzo Carter, Jayson Stanley and Mecole Hardman covering punts at Columbia.

"We had a really good punt team but not the same kind of athletes," he said.

Nizialek is on the watch list for the Ray Guy Award for nation's top punter and jokes he wants to win the award for nation's top holder (something that actually now exists) since he has that gig, too.

"He's a firecracker," kicker Rodrigo Blankenship said. "He comes into practice with a smile on his face and every day has a lot of energy, trying to pump guys up. Then he gets out on the field and hits 50-yard punts so that really helps, too."

Nizialek brought out his Columbia class ring to wear for a career fair players attended during preseason camp, Blankenship said, but he's blended in like one of the guys.

"I'm living the dream," Nizialek said. "I love Athens and I love this town. I'm excited because every week is a new opportunity to show what I got and I think I'm doing a good job. I'm having a great time."

Andrew Thomas Watched and Learned, Then Helped UGA Win SEC

Atlanta Journal-Constitution
By Seth Emerson
December 4, 2017

ATHENS ---- Andrew Thomas watched the horror show. Every part of it. He sat with his Georgia teammates and watched film of Auburn players bull-rushing them, beating them one-on-one and pushing them around.

Then he stayed in the film room by himself and watched it all again.

"It just hurt," Thomas said of seeing Auburn star linebacker Jeff Holland run around him early in that game on Nov. 11 for a sack of Jake Fromm,. There were multiple other plays when Thomas, for basically the first time this season, looked like a freshman who was overmatched.

"I didn't really focus on the part of me getting beat. I focused on why I got beat," Thomas said. "In that game a lot of it was my technique."

Thomas recalled this as he stood outside a corner locker in an exultant Georgia postgame locker room, following the 28-7 win over Auburn in the SEC Championship Game.

UGA had hit the latest stop on its revenge tour, and so had Thomas. The rookie had lived, learned and quickly atoned. It was the latest sign that the Bulldogs have something special in him.

Thomas has started every game at right tackle as a freshman, the first freshman offensive lineman to do so in five years since John Theus. He was a key member of a Georgia offensive line that has turned around this season.

All, incidentally, while taking a full course load of five classes, notching four A's and one B.

"African Studies," Thomas said, when asked his hardest class.

And taking five classes while also starting as a freshman – who didn't enroll early – for an SEC championship team? "It's not that hard," Thomas said with a shrug. "Coming from Pace Academy, being a freshman at Georgia, it'll probably get harder once I get into my major classes."

Pace Academy, the high-end school in Atlanta, did indeed prepare Thomas well, on and off the field. He credited his coaches and the trainer at the private school for his ability to come in and make a quick impression this summer.

There was buzz about Thomas emanating from Georgia's camp early on. Even before camp. Kirby Smart told a meeting of Atlanta boosters in July that Thomas was doing well and was likely to be on the two-deep. He was underselling it, as it turns out.

Defensive lineman Julian Rochester, speaking in August, called Thomas "amazing" and marveled at his long arms. Offensive lineman Pat Allen, a third-year player, said Thomas reminded him of senior offensive tackle Isaiah Wynn "a lot." Nick Chubb, in almost a self-description, said Thomas was "quiet and very mature," and "always focused and locked in."

It was Wynn who took Thomas as a protegé. The two room together before games, giving Wynn a chance to pass along insight and pointers that enabled him to be a three-year starter. Georgia is 18-1 with Wynn at left tackle, the position Thomas may inherit next season.

"Isaiah, he's such a beast. He's a great player. He's going to do well on the next level. But he's such a leader," Thomas said. "In practice he's like the bell cow. Whatever's going on, we follow him and that's how it works."

It didn't work the first time Georgia played Auburn. Four sacks, including an ugly one early by Holland on Thomas, and an all-around inability to run the ball. Self-corrections were needed anyway, but the team believed a rematch with Auburn could be in store, so that hastened the film work. Thomas said it made him practice harder.

The first game Auburn had Holland, the All-America candidate, line up on Thomas' side as much as possible. What happened in the second game?

"It was the same thing," Thomas said. "I just feel like I played better."

But first the Bulldogs have the College Football Playoffs, where Thomas, only the fourth freshman offensive lineman to start Georgia's opener since 1973, hopes to achieve something else: Being the first freshman offensive tackle to start 15 games.

On the Beat: The Other Side of Kirby Smart

Atlanta Journal-Constitution
By Seth Emerson
June 21, 2017

RUTLEDGE ---- Kirby Smart looked to his left hand, where he was holding several sheets of old white paper. And Georgia's head coach began reading from a letter his mother had written 27 years ago.

"Let me introduce myself: My name is Sharon Smart. I'm mother of a 16-year-old son who was diagnosed with leukemia last Oct. 11. Our lives have changed radically in the last year."

As Kirby Smart spoke, about 50 of the young men who call him Coach stood and watched. As did other kids assembled in the gym, some with heads shaved for chemotherapy, others with only one of their legs.

"Some of the changes have been very, very negative," Smart said, reading on. "But some of the changes have been very, very positive. And one of the most positive changes that has taken place in our lives has been the positive acquaintance we have had with Camp Sunshine, and all the people that work in the camp, and through the camp, all the programs."

For the next three minutes Smart, who likes to have his day in a regimented schedule, lost himself in time, reading his mother's letter about Karl Smart's battle with leukemia, and how Camp Sunshine – where 27 years later Smart had brought his team – had such an impact on their lives.

The story of Kirby Smart's older brother, who went on to win his battle with leukemia, has been told before. Smart himself told it last year when he brought his team here, continuing a decades-old Georgia football summer tradition.

But some of Smart's players hadn't heard it before. And those who did know it had never heard the letter. Sharon Smart, when she heard her son was taking his team to Camp Sunshine on Wednesday, asked Kirby to take it and perhaps pass it along.

"I always knew coach Smart was involved heavily here. But I didn't know he was that heavily involved here," senior offensive tackle Isaiah Wynn said. "Just hearing that today, and hearing him read the letter from his mother, it was heartwarming."

NOT DODGING 'WHO HE IS'

The easy angle now would be that Smart's players were overwhelmed and surprised to see this from their hard-bitten coach, who's prone to screaming at them at practices and games.

But players said they've seen this side before.

"One thing that coach Smart doesn't do is shy away from who he is," senior tailback Sony Michel said. "He shows us who he is every day. I'm not sure how he is in the media, but as a player, coach, he has that connection with us. That letter is a true correlation of what his family is about."

Kirby Smart got to know Camp Sunshine well through his brother. (The camp also includes family members of cancer patients.) Smart is on a first name-and-hug basis with "Mo", the man who runs the camp, and others there.

The highlight of the trip, for all of the Smart family sentimentality, has become the dodgeball game. Bulldogs and campers alike go to each side and hoist balls at each other. Last year Kirby himself participated. This year he sat it out, as his players engaged in some serious shenanigans.

Senior tight end Jeb Blazevich got the idea to use a trash can as a shield, shuffling it around as he threw balls at teammates and then ducked behind it. Soon the trash can was commandeered by the other side, and eventually Riley Ridley and one of Kirby Smart's sons were using it.

Senior linebacker Reggie Carter also used a media member – this media member – as a human shield.

"You take one for the team," Carter said. "I took somebody out by hiding behind you. I mean you didn't get hit though!"

One also couldn't help but notice that players didn't tend to leave the game when they were hit.

"Nick (Chubb) got hit two times, and stayed in," Wynn said, laughing, who said he abided the rules. "I can't speak for them. I get hit and I move to the side."

Chubb took the game very seriously, lurking in the background with a ball, jumping out and making a throw and then sprinting away.

Former pro baseball player Jake Skole, now a walk-on football player, was a valuable teammate.

"Jake Skole was out there throwing 90 miles per hour," Wynn said.

'THAT'S WHY THAT LETTER IS SO IMPORTANT'

This year they brought around 50-60 players, coming in two busses. In years past they've brought a couple dozen players on each trip, only needing a couple vans.

While Smart said it was still voluntary, he enticed players by saying that those who came only needed to run in the morning, and could take the afternoon off to go to Camp Sunshine.

"It was a big priority for me when I got the job to invigorate the process," Smart said. "We brought more today than we've ever brought before, which excites me. I'm hoping to make it bigger and bigger."

Smart also brought his family on Wednesday's trip: Mary Beth escorted their children around, and one of them became heavily involved in the dodgeball game. Kirby and Mary Beth are starting a family foundation, in which they plan to give back financially, and Camp Sunshine was one of the obvious choices. Being back there reminded Smart of what his brother went through, and how he beat cancer.

"And that's why that letter was so important," Smart said. "Because in 1990 I didn't know what that letter meant. I know a lot more about it now that I have my own kids."

In that letter, Sharon Smart wrote that she asked Karl what the camp had meant to him. This is what she wrote, and what Kirby Smart told his players in the gym:

"Well, it's like they gave me a reason to live, a reason to keep going. It's so encouraging to be with people who understand what you're going through. It's great to be there with someone who's older than you are, and they've licked what you've got, and you can look at them and see they did it, so I know I can do it too. So it gives younger children a chance to see the older ones, and give the people the opportunity to come together. More than anything, it gives all of us a chance to do some things we might not ordinary get to do. It's encouraging to everyone. It's such a community of love there, either the person is going through cancer themselves, or they know somebody who is, and they're there because they love children who have cancer."

J.R. Reed Building His Own Reputation, Growing Out of Father's Shadow

Macon Telegraph
By Wilson Alexander
August 18, 2017

ATHENS ---- For Georgia safety J.R. Reed's entire life, evidence of his father's NFL career has surrounded him. The younger Reed has the jerseys of Hall of Fame wide receivers Randy Moss and Cris Carter. Game balls and helmets are numerous in the house he grew up in. Reed's bedroom at home could be considered a small museum dedicated to the 1990s Vikings.

"I got everything you could think of," Reed said.

Reed's father, Jake Reed, played wide receiver in the NFL for 12 years, including 10 with the Vikings. When Reed was about 3 years old, Jake Reed would bring him to watch game film at the Vikings' facility. Reed's parents didn't push their son to play football, but that he would want to try was almost inevitable.

For a long time, J.R. wanted to play wide receiver like his father. But when Georgia plays its season opener, J.R., a sophomore, has a good chance of starting at safety. It would be his first collegiate start. J.R. wasn't recruited to Georgia out of high school. He transferred from Tulsa last summer. When he did, all linebacker Roquan Smith knew about him was J.R.'s cousin is Deangelo Gibbs, a five-star defensive back the Bulldogs were recruiting at the time.

"I didn't know what we were getting," Georgia head coach Kirby Smart said. "He has turned out to be probably the best decision we've made from a standpoint of transfers."

Jake eventually told his son he didn't have to play receiver. He didn't have to wear his dad's number, 86. J.R.'s father had to tell him to "be his own man." When he did, the younger Reed's goal shifted away from being a carbon copy of his father.

His sophomore year at Prestonwood Christian Academy in Plano, Texas, J.R. realized he was better in the secondary. He likes contact, he said, and playing defense increased the likelihood he would be involved on every play. It also wasn't the position his father built a life on.

"For him to finally see he was as good or better on that other side, he used that as a path to make a name for himself on the other side of the ball opposite of his dad," Prestonwood secondary coach Verone McKinley said.

During his final high school game, J.R. tore his ACL returning a punt. He wasn't heavily recruited anyway, and any chance at signing with a program in a major conference evaporated. He accepted an offer from June Jones at SMU to gray shirt. When Jones resigned, the Mustangs hired Chad Morris in November 2014. Morris didn't honor the gray shirt, Jake said, so Reed went to Tulsa.

J.R. made 13 appearances during his one season at Tulsa. He recorded five tackles and a pass breakup. After spring practice concluded in 2016, J.R. decided he wanted to transfer. One day near the end of final exams, J.R. called his father.

"I'm going to transfer," Jake's dad remembers his son saying.

"Where are you going?" Jake said.

"I don't know. I'll go walk-on somewhere. I don't want to be in Tulsa no more," J.R. said.

"Hey, they said you're doing well. You're probably going to be the starter," Jake replied

"I don't want to be the starter here," J.R. said

J.R. had decided he wanted to play at a bigger school. He believed he had the talent. After his final exam, he and his father went to tell head coach Philip Montgomery of Reed's intentions to transfer.

"I think he wanted to be in a place where he was going to be pushed," Prestonwood athletic director and football coach Chris Cunningham said. "That was everything about him. He wanted to be pushed everyday."

As Reed looked for a school to transfer to, the family realized the possibility he and Gibbs could play together.

Gibbs' mother, Karen, is Jake's sister. The families vacation together. Every summer from eighth to 12th grade, Gibbs spent time in Texas training with Jake. Growing up, the cousins often imagined playing together one day.

"They're like brothers," Jake said.

As J.R. pondered a decision, his family "kind of knew" where Gibbs was going, Jake said.

On June 23, 2016, the day Georgia dismissed freshman defensive back Chad Clay after his second arrest, news broke that J.R. had transferred to Georgia. He sat out the 2016 season because of NCAA transfer rules. While he did, he pitched the school to Gibbs.

"Hey man, you come here, we do good things, we work hard, we could have our own 30-for-30 one day," J.R. said he would tell Gibbs. "Come on. Come on to Georgia, man. I'm here. You got what you need. Coach Smart's a great coach. You could really help us out."

On Jan. 1, Gibbs committed to Georgia.

On the high school level, J.R. was known for delivering violent hits, Cunningham said. He hasn't established that reputation at Georgia yet, but Smart said J.R. is fast, intelligent and physical. His presence also provides Georgia with depth in the secondary, a position group Smart has criticized this preseason.

"I think he's stepping everyone's play (up)," defensive lineman John Atkins said.

As J.R. establishes himself at Georgia, he moves further away from his father's long shadow. In his room in Athens, J.R. has a Vikings team photo, game balls and a picture from when his father was honored as a former team captain, he said, but the mementos are a way to think of home — not provide an example to copy.

"You have to build your own reputation because it always will be 'former NFL player Jake Reed's son,' " J.R. said. "Now, I'm ready to start building my own reputation."

Charley Trippi Paved Way for DawgNation

Editor's Note: Charley Trippi was named MVP of the 1943 Rose Bowl in Georgia's only previous appearance in Pasadena

Atlanta Journal-Constitution
By Chip Towers
August, 2017

ATHENS - It was a hot and steamy day in August when I called Charley Trippi's house. I was concerned. My objective was to reach out to the man many believe to be the greatest athlete to have ever worn a Georgia football uniform – bar none — and ask him for an interview. But Charley Trippi is 95 years old.

Not many people live to be 95 years old. Only about 1.5 percent of the male population in the U.S., according to the latest Federal study, in fact. So I wasn't sure how I might find Mr. Trippi when I set out to provide an update to his fascinating story.

Trippi's lovely wife, Peggy, answered the phone. They live on Riverhill Court in the Beechwood section of Athens in the same house that Trippi built with his NFL money in 1960. Peggy Trippi informed me that her husband couldn't come to the phone at the moment.

He was outside raking the yard.

"He still does most of the yard work," Peggy said. "He does whatever he can."

So, yes, Charley Trippi is special. Then again, everybody in the Bulldog Nation already knew that. Those who have been around long enough to have seen him in action or to have heard about him insist he's the greatest athlete ever to wear the Red and Black. That includes a certain Heisman Trophy winner who wore the number 34 in the 1980s.

Of course, times were different when Trippi played for the Bulldogs. Very different.

For instance, though he played halfback and quarterback at UGA, he wore the number 62 for the Bulldogs.

"I had no option," Trippi explained. "They just threw a jersey at me and it happened to be number 62. I don't know what they thought but I was just glad to get anything."

Coca-Cola to Canton

Trippi came from humble beginnings. He hails from Pittston, Penn., where his father was a miner, like everybody else who lived in that region.

They also played some great football up in that area, and Trippi distinguished himself as an exceptional player early on in high school. But he weighed only 160 pounds and wasn't greatly pursued by the Northeast powers of the day in recruiting.

But there was one man in particular who took great interest in Trippi and would change his life forever. He was "a Coca-Cola man" and a UGA alumnus by the name of Harold "War Eagle" Ketron.

"Mr. Ketron took an interest in me and kind of edged me toward Georgia," Trippi said. "He got me a job delivering Coca-Cola. Had my own truck and route and everything. He made life quite comfortable for me."

That relationship – perfectly legal in those days — led to Trippi sign with the Georgia Bulldogs. He spent a fall playing prep ball at Lasalle, then left for UGA having never met the man who would be his coach, Wally Butts.

"It was a great opportunity," Trippi said. "I told my dad when I left I wouldn't come back. It took me two days on a bus to get down there. I came here to play ball, but I liked it so much I never left."

From 1941 until now, Athens has been Trippi's home. And for that, the Georgia Bulldogs are very grateful.

At Georgia, he would join forces with the great Frank Sinkwich, who won the Heisman Trophy and led the Bulldogs to their first national championship in 1942. Sinkwich played fullback and Trippi halfback on that team, which went 11-1 and defeated UCLA in the Rose Bowl.

Trippi calls that trip to California and that bowl experience his fondest memory of his time at UGA.

UGA 1942 national champions

"That was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity," Trippi said. "It took us three days on a train to get there. When we came back the train station was loaded with people waiting for us to arrive. They appreciated what we did."

Like most of his day, Trippi's college career was interrupted by World War II. He returned to Georgia in the middle of the 1945 season, then piloted Butts' new-fangled T formation offense to an undefeated 1946 season and win over North Carolina in Sugar Bowl.

The Bulldogs trailed the Tar Heels and star player Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice 10-0 at halftime of that game. That's when Trippi asked the coaches to leave the locker room and delivered a fiery speech in which he told his teammates, "anybody who doesn't think we're going to win just take off your damned uniform and leave."

Trippi was actually drafted by the NFL in 1945 when he was still at Georgia as his age made him eligible. He went No. 1 to the Chicago Cardinals, but before joining them in 1947, he agreed to play pro baseball for Atlanta Crackers. He hit .343 while playing 106 games before packed houses. That led to multiple contract offers from Major League Baseball teams, including the Red Sox and Yankees.

But Trippi chose to stick with football, and the Cardinals made it worth his while. He signed an unprecedented four-year contract worth $100,000 with a $25,000 signing bonus. He became part of the Cardinals "Million Dollar Backfield" and led his team to the 1947 NFL championship.

After a stellar but physically punishing NFL career, Trippi retired in 1955. His 6,053 career yards of total offense was the most in NFL history at the time. He'd go on to work for a while as an assistant coach for the Cardinals and would enter the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1968.

All the while, Trippi never left Athens. It always remained his home base, and that's where he met Peggy. She is his second wife. Virginia, his first wife and mother of his three children, died in 1971 after a long illness. Trippi dated Peggy six years before getting married in 1978. They'll celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary in February.

"I lived on the other side of town from where I worked at my parents' five-and-dime store, and he owned a liquor store in Beechwood that was right in between," Peggy says with a laugh. "That's how we met. He was just a regular guy. He'd been through a lot with his wife's illness and all and he just wanted to have some fun."

Charley Trippi signing memorabilia at a fundraising event for the UGA baseball program in 2016.

They've made quite a life for themselves there in Beechwood, which at the time was considered the outskirts of Athens.

"As the years went by, people kept building out here," Trippi said, sitting in his favorite chair in his brightly-lit living room. "They got closer and closer. But I was one of the few for a while."

First and foremost a Bulldog

Trippi flourished as an Athens businessman, with numerous successful retail and real estate ventures. He and Peggy raised six children, three each from their previous marriages.

And they stay very busy. Trippi is also a member of the College Football Halls of Fame, and he makes a point to attend whatever events he can. He also still takes in Georgia games regularly. When the Bulldogs played Samford at Sanford Stadium in Week 1 of this season, UGA proclaimed it "Charley Trippi Day." A video feature was shown on the jumbotron and Trippi received a standing ovation when he and Peggy were introduced as they stood on the field.

Through it all, Trippi says he has been first and foremost a Bulldog. And he'd like to see his team win another national championship. There's only been one other since Trippi's team tracked that one down way out in California in '42.

Is he surprised by that?

"Yes," Trippi said without hesitation. "Back then they didn't emphasize football as much as they do nowadays. It's gotten to be big time money-wise. It costs a lot of money to have a football program nowadays."

But, Trippi emphasized, you still have to have the best players. And that's where he believes Kirby Smart is doing his best work as Georgia's latest football coach.

"Kirby's a good coach, but whatever Kirby does it all relates back to the personnel," Trippi said. "You can be the best coach in the world but if you don't have the personnel to execute, you're ordinary."

There certainly was nothing ordinary about Charles Louis Trippi, the only man in the Pro Football Hall of Fame to have at least 1,000 yards rushing, passing and receiving.

Few will argue that he and Walker are the best two players to have ever played for the Bulldogs.

Trippi saw Walker play. What's he think?

"Ah, that's a matter of opinion," he said. "Herschel was a great football player. It's fortunate for Georgia we both came here."

No argument there.

SANFORD STADIUM

PROJECT

The University of Georgia Athletic Association is pleased to present details on a major enhancement to the west end zone of Sanford Stadium. The project covers 120,000 total square feet of new and improved space. These enhancements include a new home locker room for the Bulldogs, a space to host and entertain prospects on game day, improvements to restroom and concession areas below the bridge, and a new scoreboard and upper plaza. The project is expected to take approximately 17 months to complete and is estimated to cost $63 million. When completed prior to the 2018 season, the west end zone expansion will have a transformational impact on Sanford Stadium.
